A MERRY, MERRY CHRISTMAS!

THOUSANDS HAIL BIRTH OF KING IN BETHLEHEM

Sing His Praises in Great Cathedral.

An Old, Old Story

4 And Jo'seph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Năz'ă-reth, into Jū-dæ'ă, unto *the city of Dā'vid, which is called Bĕth'lē-hĕm; (because he was of the house and lineage of Dā'vid:)

7 And *she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.

8 And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping *watch over their flock by night.

13 And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying, 14 Glory to God in the highest, and on earth *peace, *good will toward men.

BETHLEHEM, Palestine, Dec. 25.—[Christmas morning.]—(AP)—This little city of David which is called Bethlehem rang again today with sounds of swelling joy in adoration of the newborn King.

In the Church of the Nativity which, according to tradition, stands on the site of Christ's humble birthplace, midnight mass was celebrated with solemn pomp and splendor. Hundreds filled the great edifice which covers the little shed where Mary and Joseph sought shelter after they had been turned away from the inn. Crowds overflowed in the surrounding fields where shepherds still abide tending their flocks by night.

Time has passed lightly over Bethlehem and in the dusk before this Christmas morning it was easy to imagine it still the little city of Judea it was in the days of Herod the king when Joseph and Mary came out of Galilee to pay the tax that Cæsar Augustus levied on all the world.

Sing Carols in Fields.

As the service continued the choir from the cathedral in nearby Jerusalem sang carols in the field of the shepherds outside. The dimly seen and faintly heard singers seemed, in the magic of the moment, to be that multitude of the heavenly host who reassured the simple shepherds long ago when they were sore afraid as the glory of the Lord shone about them. And like that heavenly host, the choristers lifted their voices in praise, singing "Glory to God in the Highest, and on Earth Peace, Good Will to Men."

The pontifical high mass began just at 11:30 in the church whose spires are believed to point upward to the very spot where the star of Bethlehem hovered over the young child and led the Wise Men trudging from the east with the mighty vision and gifts of gold, frankincense and Pilgrims from Afar.

Long before that hour the pews were crammed and the aisles crowded with pilgrims from afar and hundreds who live constantly in the atmosphere of the sacred birthplace. It was a friendly throng, whispering back and forth and watching everything with eager interest, munching sandwiches brought in paper bundles. When the service began a hush fell upon the congregation; all was reverent as the colorful ritual unfolded to the accompaniment of a choir of Franciscan monks.

Just before midnight a warning bell rang softly and the solemn words of consecration ended as the tower bells began to toll the hour. The patriarch pulled the silken cords withdrawing the curtain from the tabernacle, revealing a doll representing the Babe of Bethlehem.

The organ thundered and the voices of the choir rang out in sonorous chant, "Blessed be He who comes in the name of the Lord; Hosanna in the highest"; it was Christmas day.

Lift Babe from Manger.

His Beatitude, Msgr. Louis Barlassina, Latin patriarch of Jerusalem, reverently lifted the bambino, and, as Mary did with the Christ child 1930 years ago, wrapped it in swaddling clothes and placed it in the manger believed to be the very spot where the Christ child was laid.

The crowd filed out of the church, the hearts of the worshipers lighted by the beauty and symbolism of the things they had seen. They called to each other in hushed greetings and wandered into the night. The dark-

OUR YULETIDE CHEER HAS ROOT IN OLDEN DAYS

Trace Development of Happy Time.

This is the day which the Lord hath made: let us rejoice and be glad in it
For the beloved and most holy Child has been given to us and born for us by the wayside,
And laid in a manger because He had no room in the inn.
Glory to God in the highest: and on earth peace to men of good will.
ST. FRANCIS.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

If time, as science tells us, is something circular, then on Christmas day we touch again at the port of childhood, open the book of old wonders and knock once more at the gate of eternal splendors.

The Christmas celebration, as it has evolved today, has its springs in the mists of pre-Aryan civilization, in the first instinctive worship of the trees and of the sun god. As it has come down the stream of life it has gathered to itself the figure of the Christ Child, so tenderly addressed in the carols of the middle ages, and the good, ruddy figure of St. Nicholas, patron saint of little children. The mistletoe, "tree of pure gold," which has healing in its leaves, is now a place to kiss girls under. The bearing of branches of the sacred tree in gift has now become the Christmas box and the stocking.

Feast of Happy Childhood.

Rome, the Teutonic people, and finally the English, put their mark upon it, until today it is a strange mingling of ecclesiastical mythicism and the family feast day around the Yule log. Our age has made it the feast of happy childhood, yet the radiant figure of the Christ Child remains, not only as gift bringer, but as an Immortal One, bringing to weary, stained humanity a new hope and a new promise. It is a sunlit peak down the dark valley of the year.

O little town, O little town,
Upon the hills so far,
We see you, like a thing sublime,
Across the great gray wastes of time,
And men go up and men go down,
But follow still the star.
CLINTON SCOLLARD.

The first Nativity feast was held in Rome about the year 340. It spread to Constantinople and was celebrated there as the rising of the Son of Righteousness, with healing in his wings.

St. Augustine brought it to England as a day of baptism. It had an ascetic, austere note then, but when the Teutonic people took it up it embraced something of their sentiment, became merry and warm and homely, and was expressed in great carols, cradle songs and mystery plays.

Those who are impatient with the outlook for modern civilization may look back and reflect that for one thousand years Christianity hardly furnished a leaven to pagan thought and customs. During this dark millennium the Christmas celebration was part of this leavening, such as it was. Then St. Francis touched the new chord of love, and for 700 or 800 years great music and painting and drama were devoted to this subject. It cuts through all the walls of artificial life and strikes the clear rustic note, the ox in the manger and St. Luke's story of the shepherds keeping watch over their flocks by night. Christmas is a clear, frosty night with the bells of St. Nicholas chiming in harmony with the carols of adoration.

Germany Furnishes Tree.

Germany furnished the Christmas tree. The first historical mention of the tree is found in the notes of a citizen of Strasbourg in 1605, as follows:

"At Christmas, they set up fir trees in the parlors at Strasbourg and hang thereon roses cut out of many-coloured paper, apples, wafers, gold-foil, sweets, etc."

The preachers at the cathedral did not like this, for one remonstrated:

"It is child-like. Far better were it to point the children to the spiritual cedar-tree, Jesus Christ."

The giving of presents is a comparatively new custom, for it is first written of by Karl Gottfried Kessling of the University of Wittenberg, in 1737. He says that a certain lady of his acquaintance set up a little tree for each of her sons and daughters, lit candles on or around the trees, laid out presents beneath them, and then called the children one by one into the room to take the tree and the gifts intended for them.

And so it came down to Dickens'

EVEN THE ESKIMOS PUT ON CELEBRATION FOR CHRISTMAS DAY

OTTAWA, Dec. 24.—(AP)—A 1930 Eskimo Christmas will be observed throughout the isolated settlements of the arctic tomorrow.

From all over the far north region natives flocked today to settlements and posts of the Hudson's Bay company and the Canadian Northwest police.

Delicacies from the stores of white settlers will be issued and the day will be spent in feasting and dancing. Instead of music by crude native instruments fashioned from whalebone and walrus tusks, the music this year will be modern jazz shot through the ether from Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg.

WEATHER MAN PREDICTS SNOW OR RAIN TODAY

Santa Claus and his reindeer found rather poor sledding in the vicinity of Chicago this morning because of the scarcity of snow, but the Chicago weather bureau indicated the possibility of better going on the return journey to the north pole when it predicted slightly warmer weather for today with a likelihood of snow or rain by night.

The snow, if any, is not expected to last long, however, because the forecast for tomorrow is for cloudy and still warmer weather.

The weather over the continent yesterday was "freakish" with Juneau, Alaska, reporting the mercury at 44 degrees, which was two degrees warmer than it was in New Orleans and 15 degrees above the maximum of 29 in Chicago. Most of New England was under heavy snow. Scranton, Pa., reported nine inches of snow, while the central and western plains regions were almost entirely bare.

MAIL MEN GET CHANCE TO GO WALKING TODAY

Chicago's letter carriers last night wound up the busiest Christmas season on record and are enjoying a full holiday today.

Postmaster Arthur C. Lueder last night announced that the main postoffice and all branches will be closed all day and that only special delivery letters will be sent out. There will be one collection from boxes throughout the city, timed so that the trucks will arrive at the main postoffice at 10:30 p. m. The retail stamp window in the loop will be open until 6 p. m. and letters dropped there will be dispatched promptly.

An all time record was established Monday, when 15,000,000 pieces of first class mail went through the cancelling machines. The previous record was established in 1928, when 12,000,000 pieces were handled.

Hoover Lights Yule Tree and Greets Nation

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—With solemn ceremony the President of the United States walked up to an electrical device on a platform in the park tonight and turned on the little switch that lighted up the big community Christmas tree, near the White House. Then, stepping back into the shadow, with a shy quietness, Herbert Hoover wished the people of the United States a merry Christmas and a happy New Year. Wished it to them in exactly nine words.

At his left stood Mrs. Hoover, whose every glance was treasured by the band of Girl Scouts, who forgot how cold they were as they watched her. At his right was his son, Allan, home from college, and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Herbert Hoover Jr., enroute to a sick husband in Asheville, N. C. Maybe that was the reason the President's voice dropped when it came to "merry Christmas."

It Was Cold.

It was cold up on the official platform, where Secretary of the Navy Adams found his fur coat inadequate and sent out for his automobile rug; and where Secretary of War Hurley tried, surreptitiously, to warm his ears that pinkened under his shiny top hat. It was cold up on the platform where the Marine band shivered and played "Silent Night, Holy Night." And it was cold down in the park where hundreds of men and women, and especially little children, smuggled against each other in an effort to get nearer the front row.

But it was Christmas eve, and everybody was gracious and loaned a bit of his rug to a neighbor, and said "thank you," and gallant colonels took off their overcoats and let women twist them around silken ankles. And nobody minded when the wind swept about, except the woman in charge of seating the celebrities. She was dismayed when a sudden gust whisked the programs off the chairs waiting for Chief Justice Hughes and Secretary of the Interior Wilbur.

"O, Boy Scout," she called to the young lad helping her, "the wind's starting to blow. What're you going to do about it?"

The President Arrives.

He was trying to think up an answer when the band began to play "Hail to the Chief" and everybody stood up and the next thing a large man in a great big coat came under the lights and took off his hat.

Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant III., welcomed the public to the ceremony, reminding them that the glowing tree in front of them was "a living memorial to the desirability of limiting the wholesale cutting down of trees for even so good a thing as Christmas." Then, turning to the President and his wife, he said:

"And because of the kind and gracious acts which you both have always done, it gives me great pleasure to wish you both a very merry Christmas and a happy New Year."

Homer Lights Tree.

It was five minutes past six. The President took a step forward, pressed the gadget that Lieut. Col. Grant indicated, and the dark green silhouette that had been standing by rather obscurely quivered with veins of red and blue and green lights. There was a community "Ah" and lots of little individual squeals: A rocket went off nearby; close by a bugle blew.

Then young Henry H. Bowles, a Boy Scout, came briskly forward and saluted. He made his speech, looking straight into the President's eyes. The President said something back, but so softly that it was indeed, a personal message.

Betty Jane Oswald, a Girl Scout, carried her bouquet up to Mrs. Hoover and made her speech. Mrs. Hoover thanked her.

Greetings to Nation.

Once again the President stepped forward. This time to say:

"Fellow citizens of Washington and my countrymen everywhere:

"It is a great privilege to join in this community effort and it is a greater privilege even to wish you a merry Christmas and a happy New Year."

SANTA CLAUS VISITS VESSELS FAR AT SEA AND GIVES PRESENTS

S. S. PRESIDENT HARDING, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Santa Claus winged down out of the starry Atlantic skies tonight and gave one of the finest Christmas parties ever held on this homing liner.

It was a great night for the children on board. They marveled at Santa's ability to find the ship amid seas and select just the things they wanted for the big tree. There were speeches and operatic and dance music. The President Harding will dock on Friday.

Celebrate on Albert Ballin.

S. S. ALBERT BALLIN, Dec. 24.—(AP)—It's a merry Christmas aboard the Albert Ballin, one day out of New York for Cherbourg, Southampton and Hamburg. The weather is fine and the sea is calm: there are Christmas trees and music for all the passengers and crew; there are gifts for children and there is divine service for everyone.

She Also Celebrates Her 100th Birthday Today

Torrington, Conn., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Mrs. Jane Douglas Weeks will celebrate two events tomorrow—Christmas and the one hundredth anniversary of her birth.

Strange Story of Scrooge: By Our Reporter

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, Dec. 25, 1850.—As the church bells were chiming and the lord mayor and fellow dignitaries preparing to sit down to the annual feast served by his worship's fifty cooks and butlers today a series of singular occurrences diverted attention elsewhere.

The first was reported from Camden Town, a suburb, in the household of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cratchit, a poor but honest couple; the second at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Topper. Others were reported at intervals from other environs, but the two cited are outstanding and typical.

Your correspondent learns, from unimpeachable documentary evidence, that the Cratchits received a turkey—as fine and plump a bird as money could buy—and the Toppers a personal visit and a cheery greeting from one Ebenezer Scrooge. Significantly enough, this man is involved in all today's occurrences, the probable causes of which have excited much comment.

Explaining Our Characters.

Cratchit, a counting house clerk, at a salary of 15 shillings a week, is the father of six children—Belinda, Martha, Peter, Tiny Tim, who walks with crutches, and two babies. Scrooge is his employer and Topper's uncle.

"A Merry Christmas! God save you!" Topper had shouted at him the day before. [Your correspondent quotes from the documentary evidence.]

"Bah!" said Scrooge. "Humbug!"

"Christmas a humbug, uncle!" exclaimed Topper. "You don't mean that, I'm sure."

"I do. Merry Christmas! Out upon Merry Christmas. What's Christmas time but a time for paying bills; a time for finding yourself a year older?"

The old gentleman had even hinted to Cratchit that he should be docked for taking the day off; and to a delegation seeking gifts for the poor he had retorted, "Are there no prisons; no workhouses? They had better die."

And This Is Scrooge.

As is common knowledge, Scrooge, partner of the late Jacob Marley in the counting house, was notorious as a misanthropist, usurer and miser, being described as "a tightfisted hand at the grindstone: a wheezing, wrenching, grasping old sinner; hard and sharp as flint, from which no steel had ever struck out generous fire. The cold within him froze his features, nipped his pointed nose, shriveled his cheeks."

Knowing Scrooge so well the Cratchits and the Toppers were too amazed today to attempt an explanation of his actions. The best minds of Scotland Yard were baffled. Certain facts, however, are in the possession of your correspondent. It may be stated that Scrooge yesterday returned to his lodgings at the usual hour. He put his key in the door. He observed the knocker had undergone a change. It resembled Marley's face—Marley, that other precious skinflint, who had been dead seven years. "Pooh, pooh," said Scrooge, and banged the door. A few minutes later, as he sat in slippers, dressing gown, and night cap, an apparition appeared. Marley's ghost. No mistaking those features. Marley's ghost, and in fetters.

Ghost of Marley Speaks.

"I wear the chain forged in life," Marley's ghost told the cowering Scrooge. "I made it link by link. . . . The weight and length of the

GOOD FELLOWS BRING CHEER TO 44,000 NEEDY

No Race or Creed Slighted.

Merry Christmas, Good Fellows! You have done your duty well, just as you have for the last 21 years, and the full happiness of the holiday is yours.

Toys, candy, fruit, and holiday groceries are being enjoyed today by 44,289 children in homes too poor to provide their own Santa Claus. Old St. Nick, if he heard about the business depression, didn't let down on the job, but was spurred to further activity.

Baskets went into the homes of Negroes and whites, Jews and gentiles, Catholics and Protestants—Germans, Swedes, Italians, Poles, Mexicans, Bohemians, Scots, Norwegians, and Chicago born. Poverty does not exempt any race, religion, or nationality. Good Fellow charity is just as impartial.

New Experience for Some.

The baskets were received with restrained emotions in some of the families, recently self-supporting, where even the children seemed a little embarrassed in accepting gifts from strangers. However, in most of the homes, adults were childlike in expressions of gratitude, while little boys and girls grinned and dug into the packages for dolls and picture books.

Out on 28th place, in the neighborhood sometimes referred to as the black belt, a bearer of gifts encountered a Negress, a widow with two children, who can appropriately be listed as a Good Fellow of highest honors. Her name had been issued by the Chicago Council of Social Agencies as deserving of help. A TRIBUNE truck driver climbed a flight of rickety stairs to deliver groceries and toys. She came to the door in a patched but clean house dress.

"I sure appreciate your offering this to me," she said, glancing into the basket where the legs of a dressed goose stuck from under a large bunch of celery. "But I found a job a few days ago and hate to accept anything when there are so many without anything for Christmas.

"For Others More Needy."

"I don't want the basket if you can get it to some of the parents who are worrying about how to tell their children that it's useless to hang up stockings tonight."

The truck driver started back down the stairs with his basket. Then he turned.

"Anyway, the Good Fellows wish you a merry Christmas," he called.

"And a merry Christmas to whoever gets that goose," she responded.

Other personal experiences of Good Fellows yesterday are told further along in this story by young women reporters who helped distribute Christmas presents to the thirty-four families that are being supported this winter by a voluntary subscription of $3,770 a month from employés of THE TRIBUNE.

The Good Fellows' Work.

In addition to the distribution of baskets, an annual custom dating back to 1909, the Good Fellows this year, due to the temporary employment slack, are caring for needy families through the winter, furnishing them with food, shelter, clothing, and heat until they can become self-supporting again. This fund is approaching $100,000, every penny of which will reach some family whose needs and worthiness have been carefully investigated. THE TRIBUNE pays the expenses of administrating the fund.

There are still many families in dire need who have not been provided for. It's now too late to give Christmas baskets, but if you want to help in this family rehabilitation work, a contribution of $1 or thousands of dollars can be mailed to the Good Fellow, THE TRIBUNE, Chicago.

"CHRISTMAS FOR ALL"

BY VIRGINIA SCHMITZ.

Christmas cheer was brought to the R. family on South Troy street by the Good Fellows yesterday. That no sect or creed has a monopoly on the Christmas spirit was shown in the reception given by this family, with a father who is too ill to work except occasionally, and three young boys. The family is Jewish.

"But," said Mrs. R. in a tired but happy voice, "this is a holiday for all. In the days when things went better with us we had presents for the children and a special dinner for Christmas. And now, thanks to the Good Fellows, we can join in this holiday this year. There is only one God for all of us whatever we call him."

The furniture was old and the rooms bare but a fire was burning in the stove and the children had warm clothes. Good Fellows are supplying them with the necessities until Mr. R. can work again.

Little Sol was immediately engrossed in the book Good Fellows had sent him, and Barney, who is 9, started playing with a mechanical toy. The older boy, 14 years old, was away, trying to make a little money for presents for mother and dad.

SIX CHILDREN HERE

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

Pancho hobbled to the door on crutches in answer to the "Merry Christmas" which rang out in his basement home yesterday as the Good Fellows delivered a holiday bundle overflowing with toys, candy, and provisions. Close under the grim shadows of the steel mills where he had once worked and met misfortune, he was making a valiant effort to care for his pretty wife, Rosa, and six curly headed, brown eyed children.

Their eyes sparkled gratitude and Jimmie, Michael, and Marie, Daniel, Agnes, and Johnnie shouted for joy as they found toy trains, games, and books tucked away in the basket. Rosa's offer of Italian wine spoke a touching "Thank you" as the Good Fellows departed.

Mother's Prayer Answered.

A small, unpainted cottage, neat, clean, and simply furnished, indicated moderate prosperity in the Lomardos' home before Giuseppe had become involved in crime and been sentenced to prison. Here was his wife, thin, worn, but determined to maintain their modest surroundings for the sake of her five small children. She had prayed that some one might provide a Christmas dinner and a few toys for these children, who still looked for Santa Claus to slide down the chimney. The Good Fellows had answered her prayer.

SCRAMBLE FOR TOYS

BY FLORA MARTIN.

A Merry Christmas will be celebrated today by a family with seven little children who live in West 46th place. No sooner had we entered the frame house with our basket of food and toys than every one of the seven children, from Bill, the oldest, who is 12, to Mary, the 2 year old baby, plunged into the basket and excitedly grasped the toys. The mother, a bit flustered, said: "They do enjoy Christmas."

After seeing that each of the children had a gift we left the happy household, where all of them were sitting contentedly on the floor playing with their presents and the mother was busily gathering up her turkey and supply of food.

Our second stop took us down on West 16th place, where we were welcomed by a little Bohemian mother and her five children, ranging in age from 7 to 14 years. The youngsters crowded around us as we gave them the presents.

SANTA UNEXPECTED HERE

BY BETTY BROWNING.

'Twas the night before Christmas and two Good Fellows set out to play Santa Claus to a family living in basement quarters in 22d street. They found the family—mother, grandmother, and eight children in two rooms.

Santa Claus hadn't been expected. The only sign of Christmas was the tree, untrimmed, which stood in one room. Mrs. H. and Margaret, the oldest girl, 14 years old, were in the midst of the pre-holiday scrubbing, and two other children were still waiting their turn.

St. Nick himself could not have been received with more awe than were the Good Fellows. Finally little Tommy and Joe ventured to make furtive investigations of mysterious parcels while the little tree was being decorated. By the time the Good Fellows were ready to depart a merry confusion prevailed.

NEGRO FAMILY GLAD

BY ROBERTA NANGLE.

"Open de doah, Huston! Heah comes de Christmas people."

The door was opened and six shy, dusky hued youngsters emerged from the shadows of a sunless back parlor and clustered around their father, a tall, kindly eyed Negro. The F. family lives in a dingy four room flat in a dreary block of warehouses and junk shops under the Lake street elevated line. The father, who has been unable to find work since he was injured five years ago, had just hung out the family washing when the Good Fellows arrived.

The little darkies were a bit subdued and quiet about the prospect of Christmas because the mother is away in the hospital with a new 3 day old baby sister. Mr. F. and the oldest girl, Theola, 14 years old, were making a valiant effort to carry on the business of cooking and caring for the younger children. Two tattered Christmas wreaths were insecurely pinned to the clean, shabby curtains in the front windows that face the elevated track.

The children lost some of their shyness when they saw the contents of the Good Fellow basket. Little pigtailed Mary smiled a Topsy smile and rolled her shining black eyes when she found just the doll she wanted.

When they found the turkey and all the trimmings at the bottom of the big basket there was more rejoicing. Theola and her father were sure they'd manage to save a slice for mother when she gets home Sunday.

"Ah would like to shake youh hand and thank yo all foh mah family," said Mr. F., as the Good Fellows were departing. "They are all good boys and girls and mah wife and mahself ah proud of them."

Our next call was in Franklin street, not far from the "death corner." As soon as we entered through the dim hallway the youngsters tumbled into the basket of food and toys. They ranged in age from 5 years down to 16 months and were all clad alike in denim overalls. The girls' woolly hair was braided into pigtails and the boys' heads were closely shaven.

The father of this family left them three months ago.

Thief Gets Her Christmas Savings for Family of Six

Washington, D. C., Dec. 24.—(AP)—A sad Christmas is in prospect for the six children of Mrs. Mabelle Heller of Washington Grove, Md. She came to the capital today with $100—all the money she had—to purchase Christmas presents. While in a department store her pocketbook was snatched by a thief, who escaped.

BETTER TIMES COMING SOON, SAYS KELLOGG

World wide business conditions are on the way to recovery by peaceful means and the new year holds prospects of a revival, according to Frank B. Kellogg, former secretary of state. He passed through Chicago yesterday on his way home to St. Paul from Oslo, Norway, where he received the Nobel peace award.

"Talk of another great war in Europe in 1931 or 1932 is just irresponsible talk," said Mr. Kellogg. "I do not think the present unrest in Europe and other continents indicates impending war. The responsible government heads whom I talked with in Europe do not want war. They are in my opinion intent on working out their problems by peaceful means.

"Many of the ills today are incident to the last war. It is doubtful whether western civilization would survive another such calamity.

"Unemployment is a natural incident to these periods of industrial depression, but we have absolute confidence that the industry and genius of the peoples of the world will work out these problems.

"In my belief the greatest hope for the new year is for the revival of business from the depression now existing over all the world."

OUR CHRISTMAS HAS ROOT IN IN OLDEN DAYS

day, where it took on a color that pervades the western world today. And the thought behind that Christmas is not so much Mr. Pickwick and his feasts, but Scrooge and Tiny Tim. And how the great heart of humanity has gone out practically to the Tiny Tims of today no one will ever know until the golden book of deeds is opened. Probably never in the history of Chicago has there been such a Christmas, with the spirit of unselfishness abroad, with giving to unknown others a part of nearly every budget.

A glance through the files of newspaper history shows the evolution of the Christmas spirit in Chicago, spreading from homes of comfort to the homes of poverty. Here are a few incidents of other Christmas days:

Announcement: A Christmas dinner to children of parents who are not able to provide a dinner at home will be given from 1 o'clock to 4 in the basement of St. James church, Cass and Huron streets.

The poor children were waited upon by "ladies and gentlemen," who gave up part of their own day at home.

The Overland Mail arrived from San Francisco at St. Louis after four day. A horse and buggy were stolen.

Six below zero in Chicago.

The Franco-Prussian war the big news of the first page.

From Michigan: Employés of the Detroit Free Press have substantial reason to remember Christmas. The proprietors gave each assistant editor, compositor, and pressman a fine turkey. Newsboys and carriers were provided for.

From an editorial: Long may old St. Nicholas hold his ground. His reindeer troop, his pipe, his twinkling eye, and his round little belly mean much to the world.

Tens of thousands turned away yesterday. At the earnest solicitation of our customers our store will remain open until noon today. A Merry Christmas season.—From an advertisement of the Fair.

From an editorial: Never, perhaps, in the history of this country, has there been such universal evidence of substantial prosperity. Never in the memory of the present generation have an entire people had such occasion to thank the Great Ruler of the universe for so many blessings as presents itself this year. Food is abundant and cheap, wages are liberal and constant.

A few minor crimes are reported. The local poets were given columns of space in THE TRIBUNE to tell about Christmas.

President Harrison signed the proclamation calling on the nations to come to the World's Columbia exposition in 1893.

A small Good Fellow movement is noted in THE TRIBUNE. A little girl wrote to the paper, which raised a fund for her family.

Few were overlooked in the Christmas bounty that year. Evanston people raised $400 for the poor.

From an editorial: No financial legislation can interfere with Christmas. Not even the McKinley bill can leave its taint on the holiday purchases. If money is scarce, then it is evident that people have been saving their money for this day.

A great Christmas celebration was held at the county hospital, and all the institutions for the poor and unfortunate were visited generously.

Christmas becomes Page 1 news. The weather report, the report of the Chicago Bureau of Charities and of the Salvation Army are featured. Five hundred families are cared for by the charities bureau and the Salvation Army feeds 10,000 in Tattersall's. Ald. John Powers distributes 3,000 turkeys.

From an editorial: It is Chicago's most prosperous Christmas. It is pleasing to feel that the business side of Christmas is so successful. It will not only enliven the homes of those who have, but the homes of those who have little or nothing.

5,000 YEAR SEQUOIA WILL BE CHRISTMAS TREE FOR ALL NATION

Gen. Grant National Park, Cal., Dec. 24.—(AP)—A giant sequoia which was 3,000 years old when the first Christmas carol was sung will serve again this year as the nation's Christmas tree.

The Gen. Grant sequoia, dedicated here in 1925 as the nation's Christmas tree, will be the scene of an outdoor yuletide ceremony at noon tomorrow. Messages from President Hoover and from state officials will be read and a musical program will be presented.

In a forest of its fellows, the Gen. Grant sequoia is 264 feet high and stands at an elevation of about 6,000 feet. Its diameter at the base is more than 40 feet and it measures 106 feet in circumference.

The ceremonies will be under the auspices of the National Christmas Tree association.

GIRLS' DORM. BURNS.

JOE SALTIS SIGNS A BOND TO FREE HIS BODYGUARD

Within a few hours after the arrest yesterday of Patrick Sullivan, 38 years old, 5432 South Spaulding avenue, described by the police as a Joe Saltis bodyguard, he was released on a bond signed by Saltis and his wife, Anna. Sullivan was arrested on a vagrancy warrant issued by Judge John H. Lyle.

Saltis, a public enemy, did not appear at the detective bureau, but at the home of Judge Matthew D. Hartigan, 8046 Langley avenue. He and Mrs. Saltis scheduled property at 5654 South Albany avenue for the $10,000 bond.

Asked how much he was worth, Joe said $50,000. He gave his occupation as that of farmer. Sullivan is a former policeman.

Emil Saltis, Joe's young son, was taken to his home for Christmas from Holy Cross hospital where he has been a patient since an auto accident. The boy is still in a comatose condition.

Meteor Falls in Idaho; Dozen Towns Are Shaken

Lewiston, Idaho, Dec. 24.—(AP)—A meteor, preceded by a brilliant flash that lighted up the countryside over an area of 50 or 60 miles, was reported to have fallen at 9:57 p. m. [mountain standard time] tonight. Buildings in a dozen towns were rocked by the explosion that came when it struck the earth.

Bomb Showers Plaster on Baby Asleep in Crib

A 9 months old boy, asleep in his crib, was showered with fragments of plastering yesterday when a small black powder bomb was exploded in the doorway of the soft drink parlor at 2880 Elston avenue. The boy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Werdebaugh, who live on the second floor above the place. He was not hurt.

RIDES 6 MILES ON STREET CAR WITH ICE PICK IN BACK

A conductor of a Chicago avenue street car at 1 o'clock this morning rushed into the East Chicago avenue police station and asked for aid in removing "a man with an ice pick in his back" from the car.

Police who responded found John Stromes, 3222 Sheffield avenue, barely conscious with only the handle of the ice pick visible outside his coat. He said that he had been to visit his estranged wife at 5148 West Chicago avenue, near where he got on the car, and that as he was leaving he had been struck in the back by his stepson, David Jenkins, 13 years old.

He was taken to Henrotin hospital, where it was said his condition was critical. In intervals of consciousness he explained that his back had pained him while on the street car and that he realized he was growing faint, but did not know he had been stabbed.

9 G. O. P. JUDICIAL CANDIDATES JOIN IN VOTE CONTEST

Nine Republican candidates for judge of the Municipal court who were defeated at the election last Nov. 4, yesterday joined with Harry Olson, former chief justice, and also a Republican, in contesting the election of the Democratic judges. They are Charles F. McKinley, Harry Hamlin, Herbert Immenhausen, George Curran, Max Luster, Eugene D. Sullivan, Albert George, Joseph L. McCarthy and William W. Wilson.

McKinley, who had filed a contest petition in the Circuit court, withdrew his petition and refiled it in the County court. The other eight candidates filed cross petitions alleging that approximately 140,000 votes had been illegally counted for the Democratic judges. All of the petitions will be heard by County Judge Jarecki on Dec. 30. McKinley led the defeated candidates in total votes cast.

DEMOCRATS PICK CERMAK TO RUN FOR MAYORALTY

G. O. P. Still Undecided on Candidate.

BY PARKE BROWN.

While the Republican alliance was still struggling with its mayoralty problem yesterday the Democratic organization brought out into the open the harmony that for several days had been steadily built up in their camp. The unified forces placed themselves unanimously behind A. J. Cermak for mayor.

As his running mate on Feb. 24 they selected Ald. Edward J. Kaindl of the Thirty-fourth ward for city treasurer, and Maj. Peter J. Brady, committeeman for the Nineteenth ward, for city clerk. They also slated Municipal Judge Francis B. Allegretti for the Superior court, and Alexander Smietanka for the Burke vacancy on the Municipal bench.

Cermak Not at Meeting.

Cermak did not attend the meeting of the managing committee where this program was put through, but a notification luncheon has been arranged for Saturday when he will accept the honor. It is considered certain there will be no important opposition to him in the primary.

The Democrats performed with such facility and felicity that commentators remarked that it seemed as if they were trying to show their election opponents just how easily it could be done.

G. O. P. Still Undecided.

The Snow-Deneen-Brundage-Robertson conference dissolved for the holiday still undecided about a candidate to run against Mayor Thompson and Charles V. Barrett in the February primary. They were disinclined to believe reports that Congressman Fred A. Britten during the day sent word that he would not permit his name to be considered. When they resume operations tomorrow they may determine to get a statement directly from the north side congressman.

As they quit business over Christmas it was reported that, while they were not near a unanimous agreement, the conferees were of the opinion that Municipal Judge Lyle ranked up near the top as a possible primary vote getter.

Smith Presides for Democrats.

The Democratic meeting at the Hotel Sherman was presided over by Clayton F. Smith, chairman of the managing commitee, who was a candidate for the organization's indorsement that went to Cermak. Ald. John S. Clark, another pre-harmony candidate, was absent because of a misunderstanding, and did not read the report of the executive committee, of which he is chairman.

It was upon the report of this committee that the action of the organization was predicated. It was read to the assembly of ward committeemen by Ald. James B. Bowler. It read in part:

"The Democratic party of the city of Chicago interprets and accepts the result of the November election as a mandate to correct political and economic conditions which have grown to be intolerable.

"As a party it accepts responsibility for the acts of the men it named for office and whom the citizens elected last fall. In the same spirit of responsibility it now approaches its next task.

Attack City Government.

"It is universally recognized that our local government has so completely broken down that only a man of unbounded personal force, devotion, and ability can restore the city's affairs to a normal and orderly state.

"The story of bankruptcy, waste, extravagance, neglect, and gang rule is too well known to all to need recitation at this time. While delinquencies are notorious, still our aim must be to win upon the strength of our own candidate.

"After weeks of consideration, this committee determined upon a man who by his public service has written a record of constructive achievements in the annals of our city and county. By sheer strength of will power, character, and intelligence, he arose to a commanding place in the life of this great metropolis. His knowledge of men and affairs has carved out for him a career of success in his private affairs and in public service.

Praise Cermak's Work.

"As a lawmaker for the state and the city his influence still endures. As president of the county board for more than eight years, he reorganized the county institutions and offices so that in efficiency, economy, and humanitarian effort this county occupies a foremost position.

"He inscribed indelibly upon the records of this community a story of work on behalf of the poverty-stricken, the infirm, the tubercular, and the sick.

"While other taxing bodies were on the verge of bankruptcy, he managed the affairs of the county so remarkably that—even though the legislature added obligations amounting to $4,000,000 to the county's budget without making provisions for proportionate increase of its revenue—it met its old and new obligations without affecting the efficiency of its service in a single department."

Tell of Tax Rate Cut.

The report recited further that Cermak is "the only public official who voluntarily reduced the tax rates," that one of his hopes is to effect the consolidation of local governments, that another is to reduce taxation, and that he hopes to aid in terminating prohibition as a means toward ending racketeering and gang rule.

Petitions for Jacob Legion Tenney as a candidate for the Republican nomination for city clerk are in circulation. The incumbent, Patrick Sheridan Smith, also is a candidate.

Steal Christmas Tree from Hollywood Police Station

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Full of the Yuletide spirit, the Hollywood police bought a Christmas tree and put it in the station lobby, where the eyes of the desk sergeant could gaze fondly upon it. Then some one stole the tree while the desk sergeant sat languidly examining some papers.

MEXICO TO OUST INSURANCE FIRMS OF OTHER LANDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 24.—In a hurried session last night the house of deputies passed a bill which provides that all insurance companies operating in Mexico shall be in effect Mexican. Foreign companies are asked to agree to treat on all matters affecting them directly with Mexican authorities and not through their own representatives, consular or diplomatic.

The most important provision of the bill is that all moneys taken in by the companies shall be spent in Mexico and the officials and employés of each company shall be Mexican, no matter if all capital is foreign.

Hoover and Leaders of Party Near Break.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Now comes Merry Christmas with peace and good will prevailing almost everywhere save in the ranks of the G. O. P.

The Republican organization is beset with open insurgency and subterranean disaffection; confusion of leadership, if, indeed, there be any leadership; dissension, disloyalty, bickering, and backbiting.

The Republican radicals of the senate are up in arms over the undercover effort of Robert H. Lucas, executive director of the Republican national committee, to defeat Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska, Republican insurgent leader, with funds loaned on the security of the committee. They are demanding Lucas' scalp and are threatening to organize a third party in 1932.

Hoover Between Fires.

President Hoover does not conceal his detestation of the conception of political morality revealed by those Republican radicals who seek and obtain nomination as Republicans and then knife their party ticket and stab the Republican administration in the back.

The radicals retort with a challenge to the President to repudiate the political morality of Senators Furnifold M. Simmons [Dem., N. C.], and J. Thomas Heflin [Dem., Ala.] and others elected to office as Democrats, not to mention Frank R. McMinch of North Carolina just appointed to office as a Democrat by the President, all of whom knifed Al Smith in 1928 and supported Mr. Hoover. Also they taunt Mr. Hoover with the recollection that he was no more regular politically than they only a decade ago, when he couldn't say whether he was a Republican or a Democrat.

Hoover and Leaders at Odds.

Only less pronounced is the rift between the President and the regular Republicans of the senate, who found themselves held up to public scorn by Mr. Hoover as public servants who were "playing politics at the expense of human misery" after they had voted unanimously to increase the drought relief fund from $25,000,000 to $60,000,000 in order to provide drought victims with human food as well as animal feed and seeds.

The much vaunted harmony established between the administration and the Democratic leadership in congress begins to look like a new year's resolution several months old, but it is more of a reality than the degree of harmony existing between the White House and the regular Republicans of the senate, few of whom ever had any great regard for Mr. Hoover.

Republicans who ordinarily support the administration with blind devotion have been heard to ejaculate that if anybody has played politics at the expense of human misery it is Mr Hoover, whom they accuse of limiting the relief funds to a totally inadequate amount from a desire to minimize the seriousness of the economic depression.

Radicals Go Farther.

The radical Republicans go farther in seeking to convict the President of playing politics at the expense of human misery. They charge that he presented an inadequate relief program because otherwise it might be necessary to increase the taxes of the millionaires with incomes of $100,000 or more.

The President was severely jolted by the failure of the regular Republican veterans in the senate to spring to his defense in the row over the relief legislation. Not until Mr. Hoover demanded a defense did Senator James E. Watson [Rep., Ind.], majority leader of the senate, take up the cudgels in his behalf and then only half-heartedly in a speech in which he defended the senate's passage of the $60,000,000 drought relief bill to precisely the same degree that he defended Mr. Hoover for recommending a limitation to $25,000,000. Neither Senator Simeon D. Fess [Rep., O.], chairman of the Republican national committee, nor any other of the Republican elders uttered a word in defense of the President, which eventually devolved upon Senator Otis F. Glenn [Rep., Ill.], who, as a newcomer in the senate had hesitated to usurp the traditional function of his seniors in a situation of this character.

Hoover Peeved At Party.

The White House was outraged by such treatment on the part of the Republican old guard and such feelings were promptly reflected by the Hoover publicists, Frank Kent calling Senator Watson "as sincere as a China egg" and asserting that the President's friends were either "ineffectual like Mr. Fess" or "unimportant like Mr. Vandenberg."

Now it appears, according to Republican leaders, that this rift in the relations of senate and White House is only symptomatic of the condition obtaining in the party at large. The only Republicans, they say, who are whole heartedly supporting the President today are mainly the professional drys and his personal followers who were associated with him in the food administration, European relief and the commerce department but who are virtually unknown in politics. For a parallel they go back to the administration of Benjamin Harrison who alienated Republican leaders by his coldness, was renominated by a sullen party and duly defeated for reelection. They broadly hint that history is likely to repeat itself in 1932.

Dissension in Party Leadership.

Republican circles are agog with gossip and discussion of the disaffection and dissension prevailing in the ranks of the Republican national organization.

Since the reconvening of congress a score or more of Republican national committeemen and other party leaders have appeared in Washington from various parts of the country, all bringing discouraging reports of the state of the organization and of party prospects for 1932. Almost without exception, these leaders have reported that Mr. Hoover is discredited as the titular head of the G. O. P. and that he can no longer count upon the enthusiastic support of the party workers.

This condition is attributed partly to popular reaction against the Hoover administration as a result of hard times, but more precisely to a failure of political teamwork between the White House and the Republican leaders who must be depended upon to deliver Republican majorities. From state after state comes the complaint that Mr. Hoover has flouted the patronage recommendations of the regularly accredited Republican leaders and given the jobs instead to nonpolitical Hoover followers who are unable to deliver any votes but their own. As a result, it is asserted, there is a steadily spreading apathy on the part of Republican organization leaders toward the fate of the Hoover administration.

Forecast Hoover's Defeat.

The capital is full of circumstantial stories of the outpouring of such grievances at Republican national headquarters by these visiting Republican leaders. Many of them have spoken their minds to a sensational degree. Not a few of them asserted that while they regard the renomination of Mr. Hoover a certainty they see nothing but disastrous defeat for the Republican party with him as its candidate in 1932. They counseled their political associates to write 1932 off the books as a total loss right now and to prepare to stage a party comeback in 1936.

Some of the younger leaders were unwilling to concede the renomination of the President and predicted that the 1932 convention will break loose and draft Calvin Coolidge as the Republican candidate, or, in default of Mr. Coolidge's acceptance, will name Gen. Charles G. Dawes.

Coolidge Not Anxious.

One of the stories brought to headquarters is that Mr. Coolidge has been sounded within the last month by anti-Hoover leaders, but gave them no encouragement. He is reputed to have remarked that if prosperity is restored next year nothing can prevent the renomination of Mr. Hoover, and that if hard times continue Mr. Hoover would seem to be the logical candidate to succeed himself.

Friends of the President admit that a serious condition of disorganization obtains in the party, but they assert that not Mr. Hoover but the leadership of the national committee is to blame for it. They are looking forward to the replacement at no distant date of Chairman Fess by a virile dynamic personality who will rescue the party from its defensive rôle and put new life into the organization. With returning prosperity, which they are confident will materialize next year, they predict that Mr. Hoover will regain his popularity and that Republican leaders who are now sulking in the trenches will be the first to leap back onto the Hoover bandwagon.

Senate Radicals Only Give Tongue as Leaders of G. O. P. Wave Olive Branch

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Republican indignation at the insurgence of the radical wing of the party ebbed somewhat today, and a tendency to soft pedal the Lucas-Norris affair became evident.

Robert H. Lucas, executive director of the Republican national committee, and Representative Will R. Wood [Rep., Ind.], chairman of the house appropriations committee and of the Republican congressional committee, suddenly shortened sail, announcnig that their remarks were directed solely at the head of George W. Norris, Nebraska's radical Republican senator. They declared that they had no fault to find with the dozen other insurgents in the senate.

It was presumed that the full import of what they were setting out to do had come home to them, and that facing a next congress in which the Republican control has been reduced almost to the vanishing point they found prudence wise.

Radicals Continue to Talk.

Not so the radical supporters of Senator Norris. With the privilege always accruing to radicalism of being able to talk as long and loudly as one wants, they continue to talk. Senator Norris remarked tersely: "Lucas is trying to minimize the issue."

Senator Howell, Norris' Nebraska colleague, declared lengthily that Mr. Lucas was unfit to hold his position because of the secret campaign he waged with derisive cartoons and an allegedly fake letter, to defeat Senator Norris in the recent elections. He could discern little difference, he said, between what Lucas did in financing the printing of the anti-Norris circulars, and what Claudius H. Huston did in order to cover up a brokerage account—a transaction which drove Mr. Huston out of his office as chairman of the Republican national committee.

Tries to Single Out Norris.

In a statement made yesterday before his departure for his home in Louisville, Ky., and given out by Republican national headquarters today, Mr. Lucas said he had no quarrel with and would not reply to criticisms of himself by Senators Cutting, Howell, and Nye. He said they had supported the Republican nominees in 1928.

"Senator Norris, on the other hand," he declared, "is in a class by himself."

Norris bolted Hoover and supported Al Smith, Mr. Lucas recalled. He said he had supported every loyal senator, and had opposed Norris solely on the ground of the Nebraska senator's defection from the party in 1928.

In a second statement, dictated today from Louisville, Ky., Mr. Lucas denied Senator Norris' charges that President Hoover or any one at the White House had known of and supported the anti-Norris campaign.

Representative Wood's statement followed much the same lines. He declared that his designation of Senator Norris as a "consummate demagogue" had been proved by Norris' assertion that President Hoover was back of it all.

Wood denied that Hoover had anything to do with the Lucas affair or with the deluge of statements which followed the exposure of Lucas' transactions by the Nye senatorial committee. He called Norris' attacks on the President's party regularity "campaign calumnies which were proven false a number of years ago."

Wood Concentrates on Norris.

Like Lucas, Wood denied that he meant to criticize other insurgent Republicans. He said Senator Norris was suffering from a complex, that he was always Democratic except when it came time to organize the senate, when he turned Republican long enough to obtain committee privileges.

"Senator Norris insists he is not a Democrat, but a progressive," said Representative Wood. "A crawfish also is progressive, but he always progresses backwards."

APE GROWERS SK RIGHT TO DISTILL BRANDY

rnment Is Expected to Grant Plea.

hicago Tribune Press Service.]

ashington, D. C., Dec. 24.—[Spe-al]—California grape growers and eries of that state, long idle, soon y be turning out brandy with all potent pre-prohibition kick—with eral government approval.

aving established a home market grape concentrate with the consent financial help of the farm board, California grape control board is ing regulations which will put powered brandy on the same with industrial alcohol.

That government approval of the facture of brandy will be forth-ing was apparent today when Dr. J. Doran, commissioner of indus-alcohol, admitted that "the ma-ery has been going for some " to provide the new regulations h, he said, must be signed by Pro-tion Director Amos W. W. Wood-, Attorney General Mitchell and etary of the Treasury Mellon, as l as by himself.

Willebrandt Aid Seen.

There is reason to believe, it was le plain that Mrs. Mabel Wille-dt, former assistant attorney gen-l in charge of prohibition enforce-t and now attorney for the grape rests, is lending her good offices d influences to put through the ndy program.

Quietly but effectively, Mrs. Wille-dt has promoted the welfare of clients in Washington and appar-y has been fully successful. On June 30 there were approximately million gallons of wine stored in ifornia. Under existing conditions would be impossible to get rid of more than 2 or 3 million gallons of this within a year. If the brandy plan goes through the problem would be partially solved.

Withdrawal of brandy in the same manner that alcohol is withdrawn under permits is provided in the 1930 tariff bill which states that "high-proof fruit spirits made in distilleries connected with wineries for use in the fortification of wines, also may be withdrawn and used, under the same laws and regulations applicable to the withdrawal and use of alcohol for non-beverage purposes."

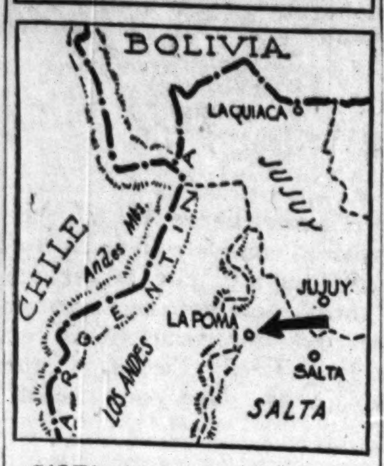
Diversion Termed Likely.

Under the proposed new treasury regulations, brandy could be withdrawn for use, for example, in flavoring extracts, in tonics, and in sauces. Presumably none of it would be used for illegal purposes, it was pointed out, but it would become as susceptible to diversion as alcohol, much of which now finds its way into bootleggers' hands.

The farm board, according to a report of Nov. 30 has advanced $17,330,701 to the grape interests in loans of which only $3,241,029 has been repaid. This leaves $14,089,671 outstanding in loans, more than is outstanding to any other farm commodity except grain, cotton, and wool.

Until today the strictest secrecy shrouded the new brandy move and, as in the case of the grape concentrate campaign, it became known through an unofficial leak. From the start the federal authorities have refused to take any initative in making known the activities of the grape interests and have admitted their connections with them reluctantly.

20 DIE IN QUAKE



SALTA, Argentina, Dec. 24.—(AP)—A violent earthquake laid the village of La Poma, situated in the Andes mountains, in ruins today, costing an estimated total of 20 lives and nearly 100 injured. The bodies of all the dead were reported to have been recovered tonight.

Among the dead were eight women and two small boys. Two hundred families were homeless with their dwellings either destroyed or unsafe. The shock occurred about 3 a. m. lasting about ten minutes, and was felt in many parts of the entire state of Salta. Slight damage but no loss of life was reported at San Antonio de Los Corbes.

Immediately on receipt of news of the tragedy at Salta a relief expedition set out carrying medical supplies and tents for the sufferers. La Poma is about 75 miles from Salta. The national ministry of public works also ordered the highway personnel mobilized for relief. News of the disaster was given Salta, the capital of the state of Salta in northwestern Argentina, through the enterprise of postal employés, who established a telegraph station in an open field after their building was wrecked.

DISMISSES WILL CONTEST BEGUN BY FORMER JUDGE

The contest over the will of Mrs. Gertrude Gonzales, widow of a Spanish tobacco merchant, was dismissed yesterday before Oscar S. Caplan, assistant to Probate Judge Henry Horner. The contest against the will, which disposes of an estate of $600,000, had been filed by Joseph McCarthy, former Municipal court judge and former son-in-law of Mrs. Gonzales.

Under the will a trust fund of $100,000 is created for Serafin Gonzales, the son of the testatrix, three-fourths of the remaining $500,000 is left to Serafin Gonzales' six children, and one-fourth to Mr. McCarthy's two children. Mr. McCarthy contended that his children should get half of the entire estate instead of $125,000.

CURTIS HOST TO SENATE PAGES; INSPIRES MUSE

Knock 'Em Over Gavel Is Also Forthcoming.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Under the benign eye and through the beneficence of Vice President Charles Curtis, the nineteen pages of the United States senate feasted today on turkey and all the trimmings. The dinner was held in fulfillment of an annual Christmas custom inaugurated by Vice President Thomas R. Marshall.

It was an occasion on which the pages might emulate the gentlemen they serve during the session and they did so—to the extent of at least one poem and two set speeches.

Lines to a Turkey.

In lyric lines, Page Laureston Porter recounted the history of the dinner tradition, concluding with these sentiments:

"Now when Dawes with his pipe with its inverted flue,
Appeared on the scene, which to him seemed quite new,
And was told of the dinner which custom decreed.
He promptly assented and ordered a feed.
Yearly repeating, with increasing fun,
The boys felt regret when a dinner was done.
But time alters' scenes and actors as well,
Thus no Vice President may permanently dwell
In the office which tenders a dinner each year
To the pages who hold it in memory dear.
So it came to pass that when Dawes went away,
A friend of the pages, Charles Curtis, held sway.
Now he was a boy who made hard times retreat,
And knows what it means to a youngster to eat,
So that is the reason we're merry and gay,
While eating his turkey on this Christmas day."

Oratory for Dessert.

In excellent forensic manner Page Frank J. Kearney read, "A Charles Curtis Career," a composition not a bit more laudatory than some of the eulogies which senators get leave to print in the Congressional Record.

And Page Phillip J. Bassford, better known as Peewee, presented the Vice President with a gavel of giant dimensions.

In his presentation speech he proved that he could prophecy as agilely as the most pessimistic correspondent in the press gallery.

"The portents for the balance of the session are most ominous," he declared. "Political news writers indicate turmoil and confusion unless the strong arm of the president of the senate is fortified with an instrument which is amply qualified to maintain order."

The gavel was nicknamed "Discipline" and was guaranteed to "mash 'em flat."

Hoover Gives White House Attaches a Poem in a Box

Washington, D. C., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Christmas arrived at the White House this morning twenty-four hours in advance. The Hoovers distributed to all attachés small pine boxes made from the one time roof of the executive mansion.

Poem Inside Boxes.

Inside each box was the following poem entitled "Recollections of Piece of Wood."

"A pine tree on the hills of Maryland, through many summer's heat and winter's snows,

"Felled, carted, quartered, sawn, a metamorphisis within a week.

"And then a century buried deep within the White House walls—

"Unseen, unsung, but one of myriads of myriads holding firm together the storied structure."

"Until—a new age came and replaced steel for wood.

"Then, for months upon the dump, the dump cart actually arrived for one last ride—

"And then a rescue. Now here I rest upon your desk for a short space; until—the waste basket and the fire."

"Then once again I'll go—free smoke before free wind—to touch again the hills of Maryland."

At the White House authorship was shielded in secrecy.

Message from Hoovers.

Accompanying the gift was the presidential card bearing this message:

"The President and Mrs. Hoover take Christmas pleasure in presenting this historic piece of pinewood with their greetings."

Tonight there was a children's party at the White House. Two of the Hoover grandchildren, Peggy Ann and Herbert III., were hosts for Baby Joan is too young to be up nights. And the principal guests were the three sons of Secretary George Akerson, Secretary Walter Newton's son, Capt. Joel T. Boone's young daughter, Suzanne; French Storher's son, French Jr., and the youngsters of Secretary of War Hurley. The parents came along, too, but they were merely among those present.

There was the chummy private Christmas tree in the state dining room, and the grand public tree in the east room; there was a frolicsome promenade through the darkened corridors of the White House, led by President Hoover and Peggy Ann, each carrying a flickering taper. There was a gay dinner adapted to the dietary needs of six year old guests, and there were gifts from Santa Claus, with the President and his son helping.

Goes to Visit Husband.

When the last candle had burned out on the tree and the last gift had had been unwrapped, Mrs. Hoover Jr. said good-by to her children and left for Asheville to bring as merry Christmas as possible to her husband, now convalescent.

Tomorrow afternoon the children of close friends are expected to come over to enjoy the tree. In the evening there is to be a small dinner to a few members of the cabinet.

And it will probably take them the rest of the day to read the more than 3,000 Christmas cards that have come to the White House.

PUPILS IN COUNTY JAIL TO COMPETE FOR LEGION FLAG

The four classes of prisoners in the county jail school will compete for the honor of having in their room an American flag presented yesterday by Leroy McCullough post of the American Legion to Sheriff Meyering and Warden David Moneypenny. It is hoped by the officials that the competition for the flag will stimulate the students.

Warden Moneypenny also announced yesterday the completion in the jail of a general radio system by the General Electric company. The radio can now be turned on at each floor during recreation periods, provided the prisoners live up to the jail regulations. The program is controlled from a main set in the warden's office.

The new system also allows the warden or any other official to talk to all the jail prisoners at one time over a microphone in the jail office. It is planned to give a series of educational talks by this method.

Arrested with $12,000 Check for Stolen Bonds

A man who gave his name as Louis Liss, 42 years old, of the Jackson hotel, Jackson boulevard and Halsted street, was arrested yesterday when he attempted to cash a check for $12,000 at the National Bank of the Republic. Police had been waiting for him since Dec. 11, when he obtained the check from the brokerage firm of Stein, Alstrin & Co., 215 South La Salle street, as a payment on $60,000 worth of Fox Film company bonds which were later found to have been stolen in New York.

PE TO LINK ANK ROBBERS TO 15 CRIMES

Bandit Gang Is Viewed by Many Victims.

Officials of the Illinois Bankers' association were comparing records yesterday to determine how many banks were robbed by the gang under arrest at the detective bureau. Chief of Detectives Norton was confident the prisoners would be identified in at least fifteen robberies but the three men and two women under arrest were confessing only one robbery at a time—as their need of dope urged them to trade admissions for relief for their craving.

Witnesses to the robbery of the State Bank of Clearing, in which $59,000 was taken on Dec. 6, viewed the prisoners. If there were any identifications Chief Norton refused to tell of them. He was showing the prisoners to many other robbery victims and after each "showup" he expressed satisfaction over the results. The prisoners are:

Austin Corray, 32 years old; his brother, Harmon Corray, 27 years old; Glenn Nichols, 32 years old; his sweetheart, Gladys La Rue, and Genevieve Hoy, who said she was married to Harmon Corray.

Seek Evidence in Killings.

They were arrested Tuesday in a raid on an apartment at 4240 Kenmore avenue, where a quantity of dope was found, along with an arsenal of ten revolvers and other guns. Chief Norton also has been trying to establish the guilt of some of the members of the gang for the killing last week of Robert Wallace of Evanston, head of an architectural firm, who drove his car between bandits and a pursuing police squad, and for the killing of E. Russell Thompson in a Glenview roadhouse holdup on Nov. 8.

"They are slow at confessing, but little by little they are telling of their crimes," Chief Norton said. "Soon we will have a complete picture of their deeds."

The La Rue girl told Chief Norton she came from South Dakota and had met Nichols in Peoria, where she operated a beer flat with his help. She admitted being a dope addict and said Nichols had taught her the habit. The Hoy girl denied being an addict and was not downcast when Chief Norton told her Corray had another wife. She insisted she was still the legal wife of the man, who admitted several bank robberies.

Eighty-five Robberies in Year.

There have been 85 bank robberies in Illinois during the year, according to the Illinois Bankers' association, and it was not regarded as probable that the Corray-Nichols gang were responsible for more than a few of them. Chief Norton said he believed he would be able to show they were involved in at least fifteen of the Illinois bank robberies and probably a few in neighboring states.

Lieut. Andy Barry, who arrested the robbers and their women, said he had no information as to the amount of money netted by the gang, but he was of the opinion their loot ran well into the hundreds of thousands of dollars. He made the arrests but he said he is not interested in the amount of rewards that might be paid for their capture.

Seized on Liquor Charge; Gets Two Years Same Day

Lebanon, Mo., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Within three hours after he was captured here by Sheriff J. W. Jones of Laclede county, Andrew Kendall, 30, of Chicago, had been convicted in Circuit court on charges of possession and transportation of liquor and carrying concealed weapons and was sentenced to serve two years in prison.

Sues Philadelphian

MRS. ESTELLE M. WOLON.

Mrs. Estelle M. Wolon, a young widow of 1342 East 52d street, who a week ago filed a breach of promise suit in Philadelphia against Charles Newbold Welsh, a married millionaire, last night replied to Welsh's assertion that the suit was a "preposterous mistake" with reiterations that she will produce "plenty of evidence and photographs at the trial."

TRACE BUYERS OF WEAPONS IN GUNNERS' NEST

The police yesterday continued to trace clews found in the machine gun nest at 1710 Greenleaf avenue, after learning that the Thompson submachine gun and the sawed off shotgun had been sold to the Hudson Sporting Goods company of New York City. They learned that the Thompson gun had been resold to William Scott of Gary. The police there say Scott is Harold A. Denman, former highway policeman and gangland armorer. They were unable to determine what disposition be made of the weapons.

Meanwhile the police were to establish the identity of C. H. Glass, 7236 Saginaw avenue, said by them to have purchased a shotgun from the New York firm last Oct. 18.

The police were still without definite information as to the intended victims of the ambuscade Monday night. The innocent victims wounded by the shots were Mrs. Henrietta Guthrie, 1654 Greenleaf avenue, and E. W. Stone, a realty broker, 4246 Sheridan road.

17 High Jugo-Slav Officers Jailed in Plot Against King

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Seventeen high Jugo-Slav officers were arrested today on suspicion of membership in an alleged secret league directed against King Alexander and the dictatorship. The league calls itself the League for Justice and Freedom. Belgrade newspapers say that the league spread a proclamation directed against the king and the régime.

HOLD "PHANTOM ROBBER" FOR CAFE KILLING

Witness Identifies Him as Slayer.

Lieut. John McGinnis of the East Chicago avenue station last night announced that the murder on Dec. 13 of Paul Tulupan, 40 years old, at the Claridge grill, 1244 Dearborn street, had been solved and that the slayer is in custody. Tulupan was the owner of the café.

The prisoner is Howard P. Bonahan, 28 years old, arrested last Sunday night with two other men and three women in a raid on a beer flat at 18 West Ohio street. At that time Bonahan confessed that as the "phantom robber" he held up 27 tea stores and cigar shops in Chicago in 1927. Witnesses from a dozen of these places have identified him.

Lieut. McGinnis assigned Sergt. Paul Mazieka to investigate Bonahan further. The sergeant immediately decided to determine whether he was involved in the Tulupan killing. He questioned Bonahan, but the prisoner denied any knowledge of the shooting, saying he had just returned from California.

Witness Identifies Prisoner.

Mazieka remembered that Allen Paletz, 30 years old, 3100 Addison street, one of the six patrons in the grill, had told him he would recognize the slayer anywhere. He summoned Paletz to the East Chicago avenue station and had him view Bonahan in his cell. Paletz's identification was made without hesitancy.

"That's the man," he said.

Mazieka then visited Carroll Johnson, Negro, a hat cleaner at 1247 North Clark street. The slayer had dropped his hat in his hurry to escape. Mazieka showed it to him and asked him if he had ever seen it.

"Yes," said Johnson, "I cleaned that hat for Howard Bonahan."

Mazieka also had him view Bonahan in his cell, and he identified the prisoner immediately.

Confronted with these facts, Bonahan was again asked by Mazieka if he had killed Tulupan. He vehemently denied that he had done it. Mazieka will have the other five patrons and three employés who witnessed the killing view the prisoner today. So far no murder charge has been placed against him.

Finger Prints Are Different.

Despite the identification of Bonahan by the witness to the killing, the fingerprints of the prisoner, when taken at the bureau of identification, did not correspond with those taken from the glass and the spoon used by the killer of the restaurant owner. The fingerprints of Bonahan were taken by Sergts. David Lindstrom and Dave Linderman.

Tulupan's killing, which occurred on a Sunday evening, was declared to be one of the most cold blooded on record. He was serving customers when the holdup man entered. The robber sat down at the counter, ate a pork chop dinner and drank three cups of coffee.

After finishing his meal he approached Tulupan with the check extended in his left hand. Then, without a word of warning, he pulled a sawed-off shotgun from under his overcoat and fired a single charge into Tulupan's chest.

The killer seized $30 from the cash register, ran out the door, and escaped on foot north in Dearborn street.

ENDS LIFE BY DRINKING ACID.

Harrisburg, Ill., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Despondent because of illness, John Edwards, 76, committed suicide here today by drinking carbolic acid.

FOSTER, LINGLE CASE SUSPECT, SEIZED AGAIN

Frank Foster, who was released on $20,000 bond on Dec. 2 after spending four months in the county jail on an indictment charging him with the murder of Alfred Lingle, was arrested last night at Clark and Ohio streets, on a disorderly conduct charge.

Sergeant Joseph Hoban, who made the arrest, took Foster to the Town Hall station, where he was arraigned before Judge Leon Edelman and released on bond to appear tomorrow morning for hearing.

Foster said he is 30 years old and lives at the St. Clair hotel, 162 East Ohio street. In addition to the murder indictment, which is scheduled to come up for trial Feb. 16, Foster is under bond on vagrancy charge.

STRANGE STORY OF SCROOGE: BY OUR REPORTER

Relating the Events of Christmas Eve.

strong coil you yourself wear was as full and heavy and as long as this seven Christmas Eves ago. At this time of the rolling year I suffer most. Why did I walk through crowds of fellow beings with my eyes turned down and never raise them to that blessed Star which led the Wise Men to a poor abode. Were there no poor homes to which its light would have conducted me?"

Marley and his clanking fetters vanished into the night. Scrooge hied himself trembling to bed—but not to sleep. As the clock struck 1 another specter materialized beside his pillow. It wore a tunic of purest white and bore a branch of fresh green holly.

"Who and what are you?" cried Scrooge.

Back to Childhood Home.

"I am the ghost of Christmas Past," replied the figure and he led Scrooge along a road winding through an English countryside to a small market town, his childhood home. School was out for the holidays. Boys in country gigs and cars and a-foot, his playmates, were calling to each other, "Merry Christmas."

Lo! The next visitant Scrooge had—the spirit of Christmas Present—led him to the four room dwelling of his clerk, Bob Cratchit, and stopped to bless it. They looked inside. There was Mrs. Cratchit, in her twice turned gown, but "which are cheap and make a goodly show for sixpence;" there were Belinda, also brave with ribbons, and Peter, Martha, Tiny Tim and the pair of little Cratchits. After finishing their meager repast they gathered 'round the hearth. A shovelful of chestnuts was on the fire. The contents of the jug of spiced cider were poured into the family glassware—two cracked tumblers and a custard cup without a handle, and Bob proposed:

"A Merry Christmas to us all! God bless us!"

"God bless us, every one," piped Tiny Tim.

Hears a Toast to Himself.

Whereupon, Scrooge heard Bob propose his own, Scrooge's health! But Mrs. Bob demurred at thus honoring such "an odious, stingy, hard and unfeeling man."

"My dear," was Bob's mild rejoinder, "Christmas day."

The toast was drunk.

Scrooge was aware of a sudden grateful warmth, as when dying embers are rekindled; a benign glow that stole gently over him, suffusing his being. It reached his heart, and seemed to center there. His pulse quickened in a fashion he had not known since boyhood.

Much they saw and far they went and many homes they visited. "The Spirit of Christmas Present," we learn from the documentary evidence, "stood beside sick beds, and they were cheerful; on foreign lands, and they were close at home; by struggling men, and they were patient in their greater hope; by poverty, and it was rich,"—as at the Cratchits'.

The Forgotten Grave.

Finally to Scrooge came the last visitant of all—the spirit of Christmas Yet to Come. It led him to the far corner of a churchyard, to a forgotten and neglected grave, above which was reared a mean cheap headstone. It bore neither friendly eulogy nor loving family inscription. Merely a name: "Ebenezer Scrooge."

"Spirit," cried Scrooge, tight clutching at his robe, "hear me. I am not the man I was. Why show me this if I am past all hope? Your nature intercedes for me and pities me. . . ."

The kind hand of Christmas Yet to Come trembled.

"I will honor Christmas in my heart, and try to keep it all the year," Scrooge heard himself saying. "I will live in the Past, the Present and the Future. O tell me, I may sponge away the writing from the stone?"

The spirit shrunk, collapsed and dwindled down to a bedpost. Yes, and the bedpost was Scrooge's own. He was in his own bedroom. He had been safely there all the time. Best of all, the time before him was his own, to make amends in. He ran to the window.

"What's today?" he cried down at a boy in Sunday clothes.

"Why, Christmas."

"Hurrah!" shouted Scrooge. "I don't know what to do." He laughed and cried in the same breath. "I am as light as a feather. I am as happy as an angel. I am as merry as a schoolboy. I am as giddy as a drunken man. A Merry Christmas to everybody. A Happy New Year to all the world. Hallo, here! Whoop! Hallo!"

And so the Cratchits received their turkey, and the Toppers their visit from Uncle Ebenezer Scrooge. And as your correspondent arrives at the close of the documentary evidence in the case as presented by Charles Dickens in "A Christmas Carol," he finds Tiny Tim, hopping about like a canary on his crutches and piping, "God bless us, every one."

World's Largest Carillon Fills Air with Yule Cheer

BY TOM PETTEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 24.—[Special.]—The gigantic festival that this city keeps each Christmas started at twilight toady when the streets began to echo with carols and the ring of merry bells. The largest carillon in the world sounded for the first time from the tower of Riverside church, bands of strolling singers waded through the snow, candles gleamed in apartment windows, a great cross flashed high in the Chrysler building and Times Square was filled with Yuletide music from deep throated loudspeakers beneath the Municipal Christmas tree.

Ten giant amplifying units in Empire State building balcony, more than 1,000 feet above Fifth avenue, were wired in order that the carolers, a chorus under George Dilworth, might sing tomorrow afternoon to an audience scattered over a seven mile area from the tallest man-made mountain. It will be the first public demonstration of a new sound system and it is expected the songs will be heard in New Jersey and on Long Island.

Built by John D. Jr.

The new Christmas bells in the Riverside church tower, built by John D. Rockefeller Jr. in memory of his mother, Laura Spelman Rockefeller, represent 400,000 pounds of metal with the swinging clapper of the largest bell—U low C—weighing 4,000 pounds. There are seventy-two bells and the great "bourdon" three semi-tones lower than any carillon bell in the world, was the last to be lifted to the tower 400 feet above Riverside drive.

The bells were played this afternoon by Kamiel Lefevre, who recently returned from a year's furlough in Belgium, where he pursued his carillon studies. There will be two recitals tomorrow. All of the bells were cast in England. For the last three weeks work on the carillon has been rushed night as well as day in order that the bells sound this Christmas.

Once the Marvel of Europe.

The "bourdon" bell which sounds the low C has been the marvel of Europe where the art of bell founding is four centuries old. It is not only the largest carillon bell ever cast, but it is the first time such a tonal quality has ever been attained. The "bourdon" is ten feet in diameter and weighs 21 tons.

The bells were lifted up the tower from the inside, a large shaft having been left clear for this purpose. Care in building the tower and allowing for tremendous pressure exerted by swinging of the largest bells has equaled the engineering problems involved in erecting the largest skyscrapers.

Rung by Pneumatic Action.

Nine other bells, beside the "bourdon," compose a scale of ten bells, the heaviest ever rung or chimed with consecutive notes. Their weight alone is four and one-half times that of the set of twelve in St. Paul's in London which formerly were the heaviest in the world. Mr. Lefevre, the carrilonneur, plays the carillon from a console, the bells being rung by electric pneumatic action as the "bourdon" alone would require the strength of five men to swing its clapper.

Fve of the largest bells swing on ball bearings and are operated by electric motors. The other bells are stationary and are rung by the claviler control—a system of levers by which the touch of the clappers can be controlled and tones produced by the manipulation of loud and soft pedals. There also is a "music box" arrangement operated by a clock which permits automatic sounding of the chimes if desired.

CAPTURE INSANE GUNMAN BY USE OF TEAR BOMB

An armed maniac, who barricaded himself in a log cabin at Schaumberg and Roselle roads, southwest of Arlington Heights, and alarmed the countryside with threats of running amuck, was captured without a struggle yesterday afternoon when a tear gas bomb, tossed through a window, overcame him.

He is John Redeker, 33 years old, a farmer. Formerly a heavy drinker, he had been a teetotaler for two years, according to acquaintances. A week ago he again began drinking and acting strangely. His brother, Herman Redeker of Arlington Heights, persuaded him to visit Dr. E. A. Elfeld of that suburb. The doctor pronounced him violently insane. Redeker insisted he was going to be President of the United States.

Fleeing the doctor's office, he ran to his cabin, saying he was going to shoot up the countryside. County highway police, led by Sergt. Lavergne Rowder of the Morton Grove station, surrounded the place late Tuesday. They tried to negotiate with Redeker, but he replied with bullets. Nobody was injured. The tear gas bomb yesterday was tossed after he fell asleep. He had three loaded rifles and a shotgun beside his bed.

Gen. Pershing in City on Way to Christmas Dinner

Gen. John J. Pershing arrived in Chicago yesterday afternoon at the Union station, leaving a few hours later on his way to spend Christmas at the home of his sister in Lincoln, Neb.

$150,000 IS GIVEN TO SEMINARY BY MRS. F. T. A. JUNKIN

A gift of $150,000 from Mrs. Francis T. A. Junkin for completion of the east dormitory of the Western Theological seminary in Evanston was announced yesterday by the Very Rev. Frederick C. Grant, dean of the institution. The dormitory will be known as the Francis T. A. Junkin hall, in memory of the late Col. Junkin, who was a prominent Chicago attorney and vestryman of the old Trinity church on the south side while Dean Grant was rector of the parish. Mrs. Junkin two weeks ago gave a similar amount to the Washington cathedral, of which Bishop James E. Freeman is the head.

IT'S 1854 AGAIN AND DAVE CLARK LEADS THE PARTY

Veteran Banker Tells of the Good Old Days.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

Jingling of sleigh bells down the hard packed, snowy length of State street this Christmas morning carries a yuletide message from happy hearts outside to happier hearts inside the rows of wooden houses beyond the high board walls. Feathery columns of smoke billowing up from every chimney testify to roaring fires on the hearths below, where the ashes smouldered as Saint Nick crept carefully across last night to fill the line of stockings dangling in the rosy glow.

There'll be skating on the river this afternoon. Everybody's going to be there, for who wouldn't brave a near zero temperature to test out eight inches of firm and glassy ice? Especially on a merry Christmas!

Back to 1854 Again.

Heigh-ho and a barrel of fun. It's 1854 again—76 years ago. Chicago is a sprawling municipality of better than 100,000 persons, and these are the reminiscences of her youth of David W. Clark, one time political power, then a boy just turned 14 and a recent newcomer from his birthplace at Boston. He's a hale and husky nonagenarian now, never missing a day from his desk or the routine of his business as vice president of the Madison-Kedzie Trust and Savings bank. Then he was an eager youth, reveling in his new life and friends.

Scattering groups of Indians still lingered about the streets of the growing city.

Down at Springfield a raw boned young lawyer named Abe Lincoln had deserted an indifferent practice for the halls of the legislature and profound replies to the forensic attacks of the gifted Stephen A. Douglas, stung to a return to political activity by the Kansas-Nebraska act, permitting each state to settle the slavery controversy within its own borders.

Hoop Skirts Are the Mode.

Along the frosty board walks of Chicago men talked of Abe's developing powers of debate. Sideburns and hoop skirts were the mode. Franklin Pierce was in the White House, divorce was practically unknown, and the great Chicago fire still nearly seventeen years in the future.

After that disastrous conflagration Dave Clark, already well up in his stride as a rising young politician and useful citizen, was to handle the gavel at the convention that nominated Joseph Medill for mayor of Chicago. He was to go to war in 1861 and return to hold successively positions as alderman, state representative, member of the governor's staff, county commissioner, West parks commissioner, deputy clerk of the Superior court, delegate to Republican national conventions and other posts, and to vote for seventeen Republican Presidents, commencing with Lincoln in 1864. But he didn't guess all that in 1854.

"Sure as there was ice in those days," he chuckles, "we'd all go skating on the river. Or we'd all pile into a sleigh—fifteen or sixteen couples of us, and drive out into the country, just as folks do now when they go to roadhouses for dinner. Do you know you could get a fine prairie chicken dinner, all fixed up fit for a king, for 25 cents? Chickens cost just 10 cents apiece—nobody paid more. And I've gone right up to the Lake street shops and bought a fine round of steak for 8 cents. Those were the days!

Game for Holiday Dinner.

"For our Christmas dinner tables we had all sorts of wild game. You see in those days there wasn't any city to speak of south of Harrison streets, and hardly anything north of the river. We used to get up a regular hunting party shortly before Christmas each year, and go out into the country, north or south, and shoot all the quail, prairie chicken, wild turkey, and such game that we wanted. There was plenty of deer, too, and we usually had venison for the meal. Everybody had all they wanted to eat. There was the beef and the game, the plum pudding and the mince pies, the sweet potatoes—we called them Carolinas then—and lots more.

"Yes, those Christmas dinners back in the old days provided all that anybody would want, and our hunts were lots of fun. Sometimes, too, we went after rabbits, and we'd come back loaded down. Rabbit can be mighty good eating, cooked any of several ways, and sometimes it was on the menu for Christmas.

"There weren't so many Christmas trees then, though some people had them. The general custom was for everybody to hang up his stocking at the fireplace on Christmas eve, and what wouldn't go into them was piled on the floor. We used to get lots of toys and things, and everybody had a good time.

Holiday Calls Popular.

"If the ice on the river wasn't good we young people used to go sleigh riding on Christmas afternoon, and of course the one great thing to do was to go calling. Chicago didn't have so many people in those days, and everybody in the neighborhood knew everybody else. There wasn't any 'mister.' It was Billy, or Johnnie, or Dan. If you met an old man you wished him good morning, and you could go into almost any house and sit down at the table for a meal because there weren't any strangers then.

"State street wasn't paved, of course. There were no street cars and no taxis. If you wanted to go anywhere you walked. What? Yes, of course, if you took a girl anywhere she walked, unless you were lucky enough to have a horse. Now it costs for a hotel dinner, and a taxi, and flowers, and lots of things when you entertain a lady, but it was different then.

"We used to go to the dances, sometimes out in the country to some farmer's house and sometimes to the Palmer house or the Fremont house or the Sherman—they were open then. Our music cost us three dollars, and consisted of one violinist, who would call the dances. We danced the old square ones—not those funny things they do now. We had the quadrille, and the Sicilian circles, and the Money Musk, and, most of all, the old-fashioned waltz.

"It would cost us fifty cents to get into the dances—thirty-five cents for an oyster supper, where you'd get a splendid supper for that money. But prices in those days were awfully different. Take wages—if a man got $1.50 a day he was making big money.

Dollar a Day for Family.

"Why, I remember when our family arrived in Chicago from Boston—we came by rail to Buffalo, by water to Detroit, and by rail to Chicago—we stayed at a boarding house on 5th avenue [Wells street now] until we got a house. There were five of us children, and with our parents, it cost us a dollar a day for room and board for all of us and we thought it was robbery.

"We moved into one of the two story wooden houses on the east side of State street. Ours was right where the State street entrance to Marshall Field's is now. We paid $12 a month rent and carried our drinking water from the lake in barrels. Lake street was the business section and Madison and Monroe, 5th avenue and the streets west the residence streets.

"Winters were considerably more bitter in those times than they are now. Twelve and fourteen below zero was nothing uncommon. Men didn't expect to work then during the winter months—they couldn't. That was when skating and sleighing on the river was so popular—we could drive a horse and sleigh right down the ice from Madison street to Rush, and it was great sport. Yes, yes, those were the days."

GIRL, 19, LEADER OF CHINESE TERRORIST ARMY, IS CAPTURED

CANTON, China, Dec. 24.—(AP)—A 19 year old girl, acknowledged leader of Red bandits waging a widespread campaign of savage cruelty against helpless victims in northern Kwangtung province, has been captured, and probably will be executed, said dispatches today from Shiuchow.

Defiant, saying she welcomed the firing squad, the girl arrived at Shiuchow with 43 other Red prisoners captured by government troops. Proclaiming herself a genuine communist, the young leader declared she had dedicated her life to the destruction of the capitalistic system.

Military authorities telegraphed she was a fearless, cruel leader of a communist band of bloodthirsty desperadoes, who have been ravaging towns and killing the populace. She was captured in a night attack by troops upon her headquarters, but only after she had killed or wounded several soldiers with her rifle.

THOUSANDS HAIL BIRTH OF KING IN BETHLEHEM

Town Rings with Joy Amid Scenes of Pomp.

ness seemed to hold no fears, for it was in the darkness of the night in the same spot that the angel of the Lord said on the first Christmas day: "Fear not, for I bring you good tidings of great joy."

WORLD DROPS CARES

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 24.—France is celebrating Pere Noel tonight with the usual gayety despite the economic depression because of a recent slight reduction in the prices of foodstuffs and Christmas gifts.

At midnight masses were held in the principal Catholic churches—St. Eustache and St. Madeleine particularly. An organ recital at St. Sulpice attracted large numbers, including many Americans from the Latin quarter, but the chic midnight rendezvous was as usual in the Madeleine quarter.

Jewels Glitter in Church.

Theater parties stopped at the famous edifice en route from the plays to supper and participated in the service, the women pulling costly fur coats from décolleté gowns. Bare arms and throats glistened with jewels as they bent forward to pray. Their escorts crushed top hats against gleaming shirt fronts.

The de luxe restaurants, Ciro's, Maxim's Café de Paris, and the host of Montmartre night clubs were packed with festive throngs, although Americans were less conspicuous due to the absence of hundreds usually here for the holidays. The bourgeois restaurants were jammed with middle class French families and the cheaper eating places in the poorer quarters held revels with accordions furnishing the music for dancing.

The revelers carried home tiny Christmas trees to dress for the children before going to bed and the markets selling Christmas decorations in the Madeleine quarter remained open all night.

Lay Aside Royal Pomp.

SANDRINGHAM, England, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Pomp and circumstance are laid aside tomorrow at Sandringham house and King George and Queen Mary become, first of all, parents and grandparents. On Christmas morning the king comes down to breakfast just as a million other fathers will do.

He greets his children with kisses and handshakes, jokes with his guests and, perhaps greatest pleasure of all, feigns surprise and joy when his little grandchildren proudly display their presents, telling him they have come "from Santa Claus."

Then, later in the morning, the king and queen and the other members of the royal family will worship with the Wolferton villagers. They will walk to the little gray church. After luncheon—a simple family meal—there is another distribution of presents, this time to the servants in personal attendance on the king and queen throughout the year.

Keep Gifts a Secret.

Before dinner family presents are exchanged, but what these are is always kept a close secret. Usually the queen receives some valuable antique or eagerly sought-after piece of china for one of her collections, while the prince of Wales has a preference for gifts of a more personal nature. Princess Elizabeth, four and a half, of course, receives her presents earlier in the day.

Every year scores of gifts have to be returned both by the king and queen and by the prince of Wales. It is a strict rule of the court that gifts of any kind are accepted only from their personal friends.

Roast Norfolk turkey and plum pudding and mince pies—the traditional English fare—always appear on the royal Christmas table at dinner. The king himself carves the bird.

England Stays at Home.

LONDON, England, Dec. 24.—(AP)—The kind of Christmas of hearty cheer and homely jollity, which Dickens wrote about, still lives in merry England, and so in thousands of homes all is bustle and savory preparation.

This is the day on which home ties draw together members of scattered families all over the snug little isle and tomorrow will see many a groaning board at which representatives of two, three and even four generations will sit down to enormous meals of meat pies, roast joints, steaming fowls and Christmas puddings.

Christmas here is a day of great homecoming. The movies are closed, no stores are open, and there's nothing to do but stay at home. Everywhere there is holly, mistletoe, Christmas trees and crackling open fires. It's a Christmas eve of laughter, happy tears and lusty good cheer.

Hindenburg Presents Gifts.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 24.—From charwoman to chief secretary of state, officials and servants of the presidential palace were summoned by President Paul von Hindenburg to the Christmas ceremony today.

Under the flickering candles of a Christmas tree, the president joined the staff in singing carols, afterwards distributing gifts. All officials received silver cigaret cases inscribed with the president's signature. Servants received $5 each, besides the regular "Christmas plate" with apples, nuts, and Christmas cake.

Tonight the president and his family were alone. All his grandchildren came to Berlin to celebrate the holidays with him.

Santa Claus Visits Vienna.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, Dec. 24.—Vienna forgot its growing poverty, its ever increasing bankruptcies, and its unemployment, which keeps about a fourth of its male population out of work, and celebrated Christmas with almost a pre-war spirit tonight.

The shops were crowded all day long. Merchants announced the greatest Yuletide business since the days of the Hapsburgs, and Santa Claus appeared in thousands of homes where he had been absent for many years past.

Unlike the Parisians, the Viennese desert the restaurants and cabarets on Christmas eve and spend it at home or go to church. Turkey dinners are absolutely unknown, the meal consisting principally of carp fished out of the Danube. The massive St. Stephen's cathedral tonight is ablaze with thousands of candles. Tomorrow morning the Vienna Opera company presents Beethoven's mass in the Hapsburg chapel, formerly reserved for Emperor Franz Josef.

Ex-Kaiser Host to Poor.

DOORN, Holland, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Yule logs were laid tonight in many a humble cottage of this crossroads village, hewn by the hand that once held one of the most powerful scepters in the world—the hand of the former Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany.

The cheery Christmas blaze on the hearths was not all the villagers owed to the exile in their midst, for much of the very food upon their tables for the holiday feast, and little presents for the children, came from the yellow mansion where the former emperor lives out his years in seeming patriarchal peace.

In Doorn house itself scores of candles were lighted tonight on Christmas trees admirers had sent from Germany. The exchange of presents between the former kaiser and his kaiserin, with her children by her first marriage opening those sent by Wilhelm's children in Germany, took place privately tonight. Christmas morning the poor will come. They will have baskets on their arms in readiness for the gifts they know by experience are in store for them.

Church Bells in Rome Peal.

ROME, Dec. 24.—(AP)—"Natale," or Christmas, was born to the midnight pealing of the bells of Rome's 400 churches. For an hour the chimes continued, while beneath them priests chanted midnight masses.

Italy's celebration of Christmas varied. It ranged from the gorgeous magnificence of the mass in the Basilica of St. Mary Major here, where a portion of the manger in which the infant Jesus was laid is still preserved, to the humble services at Alassion, on the coast, near Genoa.

Italian children today received only light presents, consisting possibly of a few inexpensive toys and candy and fruit. But in two weeks, at Befana, or Epiphany, they receive most lasting gifts. Premier Mussolini, in the rôle of Santa Claus, has distributed among Italy's needy half a million lire, or about $26,315 worth of Christmas cheer. The fund was placed at his disposal by an anonymous industrial leader of Milan.

Oberammergau Is Happy.

OBERAMMERGAU, Germany, Dec. 24.—(AP)—This little village, home of the passion play, will celebrate Christmas with prayer, singing and thanksgiving for a bounteous holiday season. Oberammergau has not always been prosperous, and Christmas sometimes has found the shadow of poverty—even hunger—standing over its inhabitants. But, thanks to the passion play, nobody is needy this year. A net profit of $500,000 provides a comfortable background for the villagers' Christmas celebration.

Food for Poor in Rio.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Dec. 24.—(AP)—With the temperature during the last several days averaging over ninety degrees in the shade, Christmas here promises to be one of the hottest days of the summer. Vast food supplies are being distributed among the poor by the government.

Toys for Argentine Children.

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 24.—(AP)—The holiday season here will be largely a round of summer outings. Tomorrow under the shade of trees in the public parks 53,000 toys will be given to poor children.

—Milton.

FREE CITIES.

Freedom has found lines of least resistance generally in two quite dissimilar places, cities and mountains—in the one because masses could be organized for resistance and for common action; in the other because of the inaccessibility of the refuges and the undesirability of much of the land. There have been city autocrats, but for the most part the urban populations in medieval and modern history have been burgher-governed for the average man. With their walls and their trained bands they could make themselves secure against petty marauders and comparatively secure against all but the most serious military threats. On the other hand, their civilian pursuits inclined them to mercantile rather than military penetration of other regions.

The countryside, on the contrary, needed the autocratic centralization of power because of the spreading out of its individuals, the exposed nature of its holdings and the difficulty of quick response to a common danger or need. These two organizations of society have been antagonistic in principle and, in fact, the rural populations carry their opposition to the city into the present day.

Monarchy has found the city an obstacle to absolutism and in many notable instances its grave. The modern state preserves the monarchical idea. In most of the great American states the capital is removed from the principal city, although every one connected with government, executive, legislative, and judicial, would be more comfortable in the largest city of the state than in the rural capital. That is not true of European capitals because the court in centuries drew the activities of the nation into its presence, but several absolutisms have regretted that crisis caught them surrounded in the liberties of a city.

The freedom of the city was found early in the land laws. There was free conveyance of titles by individuals in the city when the tenants outside the city needed the consent of the lord to alienate a parcel. Land could not be bought and sold by or to possessors in absolute fee simple. It was true of the country but not of the city that God alone can make an heir. The compensation the rural parts of a state have sought to even up the greater liberties of the city has been disfranchisement, so far as possible, of the city people in general affairs.

This theory of compensation has never been to the benefit of the average rural dweller, but it has been imposed on him by the squiralty as an advantage he could obtain over the more favored city dweller. It has been a political advantage to the squire, but none to the yeoman. It is a state of mind derived from the illusion that city unity presents a danger to rural individualism, a thing it does not. The countryside does not incite metropolitan acquisitiveness. The city dweller is where he wants to be, living the life he cares to live, in diversities and liberties ruralism does not offer. Nevertheless, these free regions of a state will be restricted in their franchise whenever rural communities can get a political advantage of them. The procedure has its consequences in the general depreciation of individual liberty under government. It is attacked in its stronghold, the city, by individuals who should know that their own welfare is involved in such losses.

DISPOSING OF DISBANDED ARMIES.

John Powell of THE TRIBUNE foreign service reports that China, resting from civil war, even if it is only for some fresh wind, has a million idle soldiers on its hands and must get them into civil occupations before it can hope for a good night's sleep. Unfortunately its opportunities of absorbing them are not many, and consequently there is the danger of war being continued as their occupation. When war is not only a profession for officers but a trade for the ranks peace is merely a condition of unemployment.

When a country is expanding either by conquest or by development of its own territories land is desirable, and it is the soldier's bounty. As such it not only takes care of the discharged man but when taken up and cultivated it is national increment. The United States after the revolution could use the land grant to satisfy the soldiers it could not reward in sound currency and to push out its frontiers. There was still a great public domain after the civil war to which the soldiers could be invited as homesteaders, although then the industrial life of the nation was full of budding opportunities.

A growing nation can disband a great army and absorb it in civilian pursuits, and the disappearance of the American armies after April, 1865, was a phenomenon which some European statesmen were unprepared to believe. The American army of 1918 went back into industry, with many individual misfortunes, it is true, but in the mass without great disturbance to the men or to the affairs of the country. That war did not produce any love of it in the ranks. A return to civilian life was what the men most wanted.

The French revolution produced armies which Napoleon was to run ragged. When he was through with them the discharged soldier was no problem. What he wanted was food and sleep. Religious, partisan, and political dissensions broke up the Cromwellian armies. While the Protector was alive there was foreign service to take off steam, and when Charles II. was back there were the colonies to invite the diehards. The Russian revolution succeeded because of an exhausting war of which the cannon fodder was desperately sick.

If China had the capital for internal improvements or land which could be brought under cultivation for the sustenance of families its idle soldiers might be used as national assets, but it is a delicate problem when the best they can expect is another war.

MERRY CHRISTMAS WITH THE CULTURED.

The vigor of scholarly, literary and artistic animosities as 1930 nears its end is one of the encouraging cultural signs for the U. S. A. for 1931. There have been, by common testimony, enough material things this year to occupy the attention of a nation preoccupied, according to European report, with the baser tangibles, and it might have been expected when a square meal and a good stock had such a scarcity value in New York that the country at large would have little time for spiritual affairs.

On the contrary, not since Edgar Allan Poe and the New England school or Walt Whitman in the consternations of the haircloth age has there been such a raging of the intellect. Possibly an ascetic diet accounts for it. It is not only revealed in the major operations conducted by the sans culotte against Irving Babbitt, Paul Elmer Moore, and the Humanists, but in marginal conflict all around the circumference.

There is the proletarian attack upon Thornton Wilder because he is not Upton Sinclair. In principle Mr. Sinclair may concede that not to be him is to be ineffective, but pragmatically he may also agree with others that one worker in his field fills it. Mr. Wilder has been saved from the wolves only by his own intrinsic worth. His right to write of the bridge of San Luis Rey instead of the lower level of the Michigan avenue bridge has been preserved, if it has been, in spite of the fury of the comrades.

Sinclair Lewis being presented in Stockholm with the Nobel literary prize proved at once that the peace prize of that foundation might find a worthy in American diplomacy as it did in Mr. Kellogg, but that American letters are full of the combativeness of youth. It has been observed that Mr. Lewis in his remarks was juvenile. That was to be expected. Mr. Lewis is juvenile. He is an infant from a country of dreadful infants of whom, to the gratification of Europe, he is the faithful interpreter. Mr. Lewis to any happy European audience would prove that Mr. Babbitt (not Irving Babbitt, but the Babbitt Babbitt) is authentic, can write and has been awarded the Nobel prize. It is a delightful experience to have it all so satisfactorily proved and nothing remains but the cancellation of the debts.

Dr. Henry Van Dyke of the American academy, whom and which Mr. Lewis endeavored to dust out, has not had a fair chance to reply with becoming heat. He has tried to maintain the grace of maturity, but that will not do the academy any good in this fight. Finesse is out. No falls are barred.

There is also a historical war involving in one phase Prof. Bernadotte Schmitt and Prof. Harry Elmer Barnes which promises to be almost as good as the war it is about. All observed, the promises of culture were never brighter. The United States is about to measure less around the waist and more around the eyebrows.

THE PAST.

The greatest mastery over people is by one of the forces of which they are least conscious. Whenever it presents itself tangibly it seems to be easily put in its place. Seemingly it can be ignored, observed indifferently, or dismissed with light ridicule because, being the past, it has had its day. A living generation relies upon the invincible fact that it is alive and the hopeful illusion that this implies self-determination and assures independence.

It would be a wild flight of whirling atoms if this were more than an illusion. These active desires are in lead strings and grooves, yielding with almost entire docility to orders they do not recognize and seldom can ignore. They obey their dead grandfathers, who in their time obeyed their own. Mechanically they seem to make astonishing breaks with the past, but Archimedes would probably require two weeks to become a modern and it takes a lifetime for a modern to hopscotch back to the ancients.

The events beginning with the birth celebrated today were of no import to the people of the time. The people of power and the people of no consequence hardly noted one of the occurrences, and secular records of the times by the absence of item or comment indicate that the living generation at the moment and in the place had no consciousness that anything had taken place in its own world. It was the world of Constantine, three hundred years later, which knew it.

The greatest celebration of the modern civilized world finds each generation ephemeral only in what it regards as distinctively its own accomplishment. Its originalities are absorbed in the dispassionate element out of which they grew and from which it obtained its substance.

The present is a light and vain creature which obeys its master and thinks it has escaped from the inferiorities of bygone times when it is most obedient and tractable.

SERIO-COMIC.

[St. Louis Times.]

Perhaps the ablest man in prohibition was Wayne Wheeler. He knew his politics, his subject and his material. He may or may not have been sincere, but the impression is that he was an earnest man who meant well. When there arose a question of federal appointments in the judiciary his fine Italian hand was always fingering the machinery. This was the case in the matter of Judge William T. Clark of New Jersey. Wheeler thought that he would make a good judge. He felt that the cause was safe in his hands. He believed in Mr. Clark's rugged honesty. Senator Edge of New Jersey, who was opposed to prohibition, did not look with favor on the Clark appointment. He did not question the gentleman's honor, but he feared that, in a toss up, the coin might fall for the drys. But Mr. Coolidge made the appointment.

Judge Clark, thus selected by Wayne Wheeler and opposed by Senator Edge, is the same gentleman who threw a bombshell in the prohibition camp one day this week. As in the matter of most life's affairs, so, in politics, you never can tell.

How to Keep Well By Dr. W. A. Evans

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries under proper limitations when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

ASK YOURSELF FIFTY.

HERE is a new game, sort of a kinsman to cross word puzzles. Read these fifty questions. Write 1 to 50 for answers to the questions. Write "yes" or "no" after each. If "yes" represents your personality or your reaction to the question, write "yes." Otherwise, write "no" or leave the space blank.

1. Be by yourself a great deal?
2. Think of life in terms of pleasure?
3. Always calm and collected?
4. Have a great deal of confidence in others?
5. Think or dream of what you will do five years from now?
6. Stay at home during social affairs?
7. Work with many people around you?
8. Do the same kind of work all the time?
9. Enjoy social gatherings just to be with people?
10. Think a great deal before deciding anything?
11. Accept suggestions rather than working them out for yourself?
12. Quiet rather than exciting?
13. Dislike having people watching you?
14. Quit a tiresome task?
15. Save money rather than spend it?
16. Seldom analyze your thoughts or motives?
17. Indulge in reverie [day dream] or thought?
18. Have people watch you do things that you do very well?
19. Let yourself go when angry?
20. Work better when people praise you?
21. Love excitement?
22. Often meditate and think about yourself?
23. Be a leader at a social affair?
24. Speak in public?
25. Do the things that you day dream about?
26. Rewrite social letters?
27. Get things done very quickly rather than slow and sure in movement?
28. Think a great deal?
29. Be able to express your keenest feelings [joy, sorrow, anger]?
30. Pay little attention to details?
31. Be exceedingly careful in meeting people?
32. Associate freely with people holding views opposed to your own?
33. Work puzzles?
34. Act on suggestions quickly before stopping to think?
35. Read about rather than do a thing?
36. Enjoy the story more than the way it is written?
37. Keep a personal diary?
38. Keep quiet when out in company?
39. Act on the spur of the moment?
40. Dislike thinking about yourself?
41. Always plan out work before you begin it?
42. Change from one type of work to another frequently?
43. Avoid trouble rather than face it?
44. Believe that rumors are important?
45. Confide in others?
46. Distrust people you have just met until you become better acquainted?
47. Study others rather than yourself?
48. Spend your vacation at some quiet place rather than go to a lively resort?
49. Change your opinions easily, even when formed?
50. Take an active part in all conversations going on around you?

The answers indicate the way you feel about the situations asked about. As to some you have no reaction. These you leave unanswered.

Dr. C. A. Neymann, who devised this test, says that a preponderance of yeses mean one type of personality; of noes, another type. One type is introvert; the other, extrovert. The introverts should be handled one way, the extroverts another if they are to be kept happy and the best work is to be got from them. When the introverts become insane they have dementia precox cases. Under similar circumstances the extroverts develop melancholia or become manic-depressives.

MUST APPLY TO IMMIGRATION BUREAU.

Chicago, Dec. 18.—[Friend of the People.]—A foreign seaman in 1916 was hired by the captain of an American ship through the American consul in a foreign port. After working on this ship for a time said seaman quit this ship in an American port. On account of the world war he could not follow his work on the sea any longer, so got a job on land and made his home in this country. Has this man legally entered this country and is he able to get his citizenship papers, or must he file his registration papers first? G. S.

Unless the seaman was legally admitted into the United States for permanent residence through the immigration service, he is not legally in the United States for naturalization purposes and must be registered by the immigration service before he can proceed toward naturalization.

FRED J. SCHLOTFELDT,
District Director, U. S. Department of Labor.

PAVING COSTS.

Chicago, Dec. 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Our alley was paved last year by a private contractor. Some of the people asked the private contractor to do the work, whereupon he figured the portion of expense each property owner on both sides of the alley should pay. I refused to sign the paper he prepared giving my consent to go ahead with the work and to the amount assessed. I have since received bills for the amount. Called at the contractor's office and told him I would not pay. Should I ignore the bills or am I liable for the paving? W. S. K.

The Supreme court held in Cronin vs. Tage, 281 Ill. 336, that the property adjoining a street or alley is not subject to a mechanic's lien for paving, if the work is not connected with an improvement within the lot boundaries. The owner might be held on an implied promise, depending on all the facts tending to support or rebut the implication of such a promise. If the owner serves written notice before the work is done that he is not undertaking to pay he would ordinarily be in a position to resist any claim that there was an implied agreement to pay. If no such notice is served a court or jury will naturally be tempted to give all possible benefit of the doubt to the paving concern.

We've Been Waiting for This.

Among other thrilling items in yesterday's papers was a hot telegram from West Orange, N. J., about Tom Edison being presented with a questionnaire (than which there is nothing much sillier), turning away and pointing to a quotation which hangs on his wall from Sir Joshua Reynolds: "There is no expedient to which man will not resort to avoid the real labor of thinking." To which even the wisest of us may answer, "Hain't it the truth!" Some of us to get away from thinking reach for a cigarette; some turn on the radio; some read the newspapers through again; some chew gum; some draw pictures with a lead pencil on the tablecloth; some just sit and stare out of the window. And even Tom himself trying to escape at times from the real labor of thinking tells what a fine thing prohibition is. Yessir, we're all like that.

WINGS OF HEALING.

Fly angels with high healing
In your lovely wings!—
The world is rising up with faith
From many futile things:—
Open now thy tight-locked heart
For what the Christ shall bring.

He brings to every man alike
A greater gift than gold;
He lights anew the fires of love
In all the hearts grown cold:—
Ah, what a precious pearl is this
When men are worn and old!

I hear a song for sinners,
And there's a hymn for saints;
The sky is filled with pictures
The greater artist paints;
And there's a cup of courage
For every soul that faints.

So, if you shall give a mercy
And I shall lend a hand,
We soon shall heal the sores upon
Each Lazarus in the land,—
Then all around the weary world
Will run a golden band.

ABORIGINE.

NOW, NOW, NOW! Father, father! It's really a very beautiful necktie and your lady wife was very sweet to get it for you. Now don't say, even to yourself, that you wouldn't wear it to a dog fight. Who said you had the best taste in the world? Look at the funny hat you're wearing right now that looks like something that the cat brought in. You bought that hat after you had tried on two hundred and thought it was a wow. And think of the neckties you've bought yourself that you gave to the janitor because they made you sick the first time you looked at them after you got 'em home. Cheer up, pa, and go into the front hall and practice driving with the new golf club that Aunt Jennie sent you. (And at that it's an awful necktie. Tck, tck, tck!)

AND ALL IS HAPPINESS!

Christmas day—everybody at home sitting around the dear old Christmas tree which has just been practically ruined even by breakfast time. Ah, how the old Yule log burns and snaps in the fireplace. (Rap on the pipes, Mamie, and tell that dam janitor to get some heat into this here radiator.) Little Junior is sitting in the middle of the floor playing with his toy train and getting it fixed so Uncle Charlie will fall over it next time he goes after the hootch and break his leg. The pretty twins, Lootsie and Tootsie, are playing with their dolls and are about to cut their heads off with the butcher knife—no, no, dearies, do not do that; old Santa Claus will find out about it and won't bring you anything next year. Papa is reading the stock market news in the newspaper and wolfing like a hyena with its tail in a trap because Amalgamated Wheat Cakes went down two points. Yes, all is so far away from our ordinary drab lives, so remote from this ruthless, palpitating machine age that we haven't the heart today to say that the Line's own Linebook of 1930 is on sale to one and all, and that it costs but two nickels, a thin dime, if you get it yourself, or twelve pretty pennies if it is brought to you by the happy mail carrier.

It's rather sad to think that He
Was not to have a Christmas tree.
I'm sure that Mary understood
And whispered to Him to be good
And promised Him that they would play
After the wise men went away.

A SCIENTIST and a business man down in Boston have solved the age old problem of bisecting the arc of a circle. Bet the business man did most of the work; he's probably been practicing for a year or more on silver dollars. And half dollars, and quarters, and dimes; they're all round.

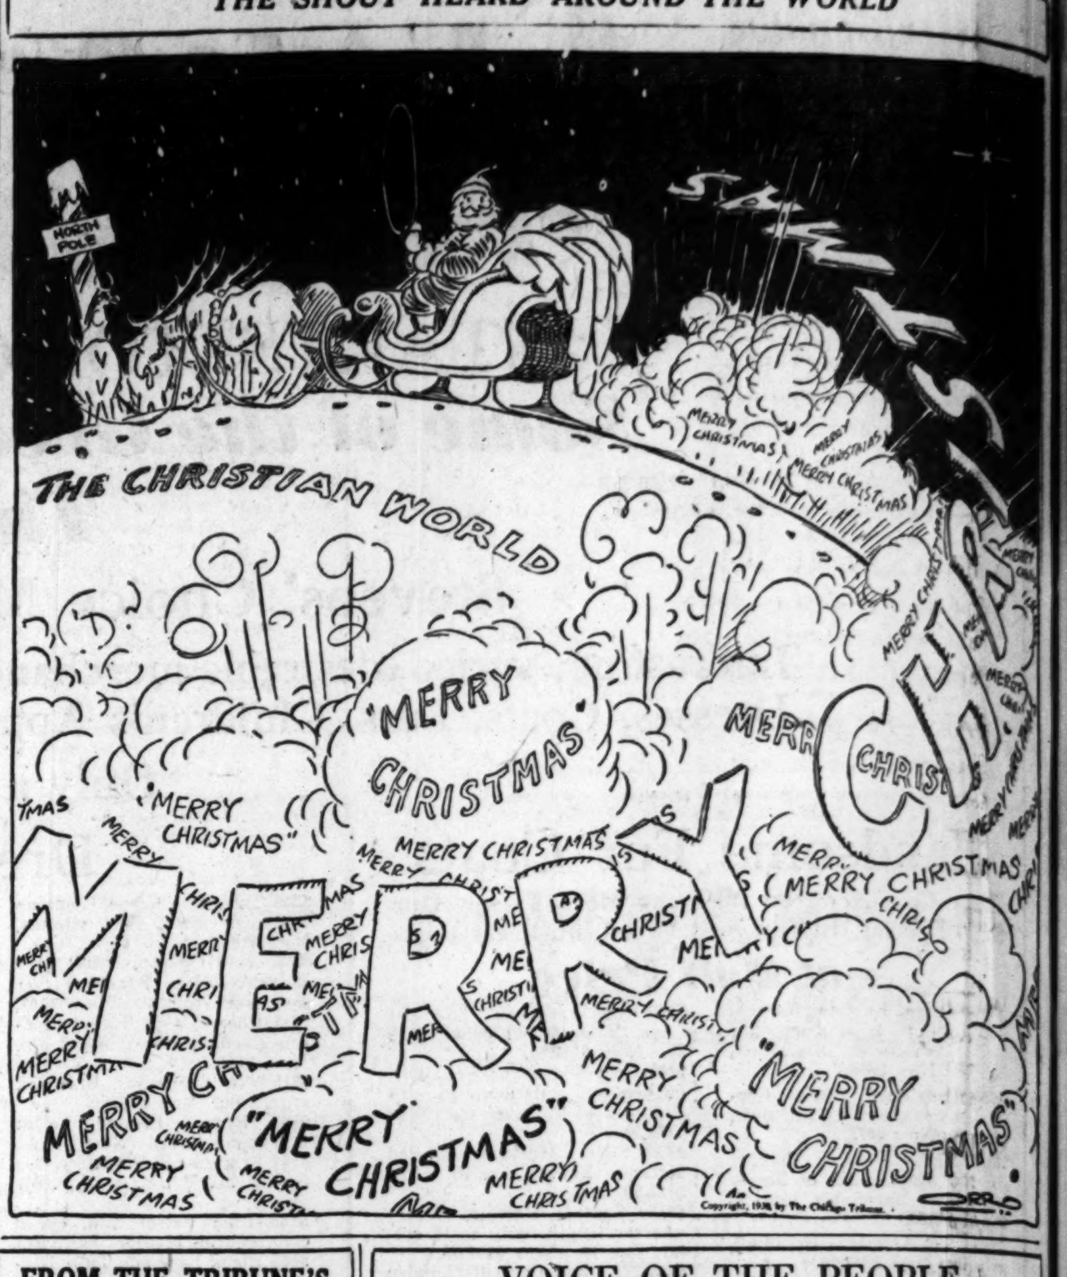
WE WISH YOU from the bottom of our hearts the merriest of merry Christmases, and if Santa Claus didn't bring you oodles and oodles of presents we hope he swallows his whiskers and chokes until he's black in the face all the way back to the North Pole. R. H. L.

THE SHOUT HEARD AROUND THE WORLD



Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Tribune.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 25, 1914.

CHICAGO.—There were 8,022 of THE TRIBUNE Good Fellows abroad yesterday, each equipped with a basket and a smile, and they carried Christmas cheer to 11,432 families.

WAR NEWS.—The Germans crossed the river barriers before Warsaw, but were driven back by the Russians after desperate fighting, and sustained heavy losses. From the sea on the north to Alsace on the south, on the western war front, the Germans have been pushed back steadily. The allies' gains for the most part were along the Lys, in the region of Aisne, in Champagne, near Perthes, and in the Argonne. A German airplane raided Dover, England, and tried to hit the famous castle with a bomb, but failed.

CHICAGO.—Joseph Fish, millionaire fire adjuster, was acquitted by a jury trying him on a charge of arson, on the third ballot.

CHICAGO.—An order presaging a big shakeup in the police department has been issued by Chief Gleason after a conference with First Assistant Superintendent Schuettler. Captains were told they were remiss in their duty in failing to make charges against incompetents.

LOS ANGELES, Cal.—John Muir, naturalist and writer, one of California's most famous men, died of pneumonia after an illness of four days. He was 76 years old.

ROME. — Pope Benedict received members of the sacred college in solemn audience for the exchange of Christmas greetings, the ceremony taking on the pomp of the times of Pope Leo.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 25, 1900.

OMAHA.—Two important developments in the Edward Cudahy kidnaping case were reported. The lantern used by the kidnapers to signal the father when he delivered the ransom gold has been found and the pony answering the description of one ridden by one of the kidnapers was discovered in a barn 22 miles away, where it had been left by a strange man.

CHICAGO.—The interest of the distant heirs in the estate of Charles W. Fullerton has been transferred by them to Miss Martha S. Hill, daughter of Mr. Fullerton's father's second wife. It is intimated that the bequests Mr. Fullerton was known to have in mind would be carried out by Miss Hill.

ROME.—The pope closed the holy door at St. Peter's with impressive ceremonies, more imposing, if possible, than those which attended its opening a year ago.

CHICAGO. — Mrs. Sarah Clybourn Barney, the first white girl born in Chicago, widow of V. N. Barney of Marley, Ill., and eldest daughter of Archibald Clybourn, died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. C. McIntyre, 1249 Maplewood avenue.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 25, 1880.

CHICAGO.—A committee of the Board of Trade, consisting of John R. Bensley, H. W. Rogers Jr., W. J. Pope, Charles E. Culver, and J. B. Lyon, appointed some time ago to seek new quarters for the board, reported in favor of the erection of a new Chamber of Commerce on the north half of the block bounded by Van Buren, Jackson, and Sherman streets, and Pacific avenue.

LONDON.—The friends of Mrs. John Walter Cross [George Eliot] are considering the suggestion that Dean Stanley be asked to permit the interment of the remains of the dead authoress in Westminster abbey.

PARIS.—The Vignaux-Slosson billiard match closed tonight, Slosson being beaten by 55 in the game of 3,000 points.

CHICAGO.—Thomas G. Frost, law partner of Judge Henry G. Miller, is dead.

NEW YORK.—The Star tomorrow will publish a five column article on the Sprague-Conkling scandal, being the facts ascertained by a reporter on a recent visit to Canonchet. From all that could be learned it seems that Gov. Sprague will defend the suit for divorce begun by his wife, Kate Chase Sprague, vigorously.

CHRISTMAS EVERY DAY.

Chicago, Dec. 17.—Last Sunday's TRIBUNE published a letter by "Taxpayer." "Taxpayer" displays such ignorance and so grossly misrepresents actual school conditions that I, a principal of one of the "many schools where lunchrooms are maintained," am impelled by a sense of justice and a desire that truth may prevail to present exact facts concerning lunchroom conditions and free lunches in the one school which I know—the Grant school.

The board of education establishes lunchrooms in the elementary schools of the poorer districts for the purpose of furnishing for the children of the school good, nourishing food at a very small cost. The board supplies and installs the equipment, pays the salaries of the head attendant and her assistants, and employs a supervisor to see that lunchrooms function to standard requirements. The lunchroom itself bears the responsibility for all food bills and must pay them.

The standard lunch consists of one hot dish—soup, beans, spaghetti, macaroni, potatoes, or any similar substantial food—a jelly or peanut butter sandwich, and milk. For this hot dish, sandwich and milk the lunchroom charges five cents.

Grant school has had a lunchroom for two years. We have never been able at any time to accumulate a surplus for teachers' parties or for any other purpose. In fact, we always have had a deficit, and it has been paid during the last two years by the principal. For the year ending June, 1930, the principal paid a deficit of $185.

This deficit arose from two causes: First, the large number of free lunches as well as free breakfasts which we served to our needy children; second, the loss of food through burglary.

At the present time the Grant school lunchroom operates without a deficit, serves a lunch which far exceeds the standard requirement, and gives free meals to more than 100 children every day. Today, for example, we served 595 children, 475 of these children paid 5 cents for their meal; 120 children received free meals. The meal consisted of the following: A meat patty, a large helping of mashed potatoes with tomato gravy, a peanut butter sandwich, a chocolate cookie, and a cup of milk. Many of the children had second helpings.

Any person who can figure food costs realizes that it is impossible to serve the meal desired above to 595 children for the $23.75 paid by the 475 children. We are able to feed our children in this manner and to care for our charity cases through the generosity of our teachers and our friends. Every member of the faculty of Grant school, our engineer and his staff, our school clerk, truant officer, school nurse, bath attendant, and lunchroom attendants contribute to a fund which is used to purchase food for our children. In our lunchroom project we receive regular and generous financial aid from the Benevolent Association of the Millers National Insurance company, 1321 Insurance Exchange building, Chicago. Other friends interested in child welfare contribute to our fund. Without our bountiful, nourishing meals many of our children, including some who pay, would suffer the pangs of hunger.

Broadcasting our charities under ordinary circumstances is a violation of our ethical standards, but we cannot allow the misinformation of "Taxpayer" to go unchallenged. We invite "Taxpayer" to visit us.

MARGUERITE L. O'BRIEN,
Principal, Grant school.

COMPLIMENTS OF THE SEASON.

Chicago, Dec. 22.—Answering a wife's request for a present for a husband who is always giving advice on housework, let me suggest to her the best present she could possibly get for him.

Get an education for yourself on household work, and he will not bother you with his good advice (which you need) any more, but you will not do that, as it will be costly to you.

The cost to you will be time, trouble and headwork. But if you succeed, what a grand present that will be to a husband who is forced to oversee housework because of a woman's lack of essential household knowledge.

A HUSBAND.

RAILROAD REGULATION.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 22.—I wish to commend the letter of John S. Miller on "railroad prospects." There is no business in the world that can prosper when the government fixes the rates it must charge for its service, what it must pay its employés, how many it shall employ, how it shall keep its books, etc., etc., ad nauseam, but does not protect the business against losses. In my opinion there is but one solution. It is radical but justified; namely, the repeal of the interstate commerce act, absolutely no control or regulation of any railroad by either the federal government or by any state. Let the owners of a railroad run it as freely and independently as the owner of a Chinese laundry runs his business. Believe me, the bus, truck, traction, and air lines, as well as the competition between themselves and the waterways, will give the railroads all the regulation necessary. Thirty-odd years ago the interstate commerce commission may have been needed. Now its usefulness has long passed. But never fear, it will stay with us all right. Too many good political jobs are attached to it.

C. A. W.

THE COMEDY EXPLAINED.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 20.—The explanation of the crime situation in Chicago is not to be found in the police, the judges, but in the ordinary man in the street. This is well seen in the picture on the back of yesterday's TRIBUNE showing the [illegible] respectable men [illegible] Guzik case, shaking hands with Guzik, a known thug and "public enemy," the smiles on their faces [illegible] quite as pleased as [illegible] President Hoover. What's the use? It is not the thugs who need reformation, but the allegedly respectable citizen.

CONSTRUCTION JOBS ESTIMATED AT FIVE BILLIONS

Statistician Compiles List of Contracts.

New York, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Five billion dollars worth of construction defies America's unemployment?

Year-end reports compiled from all sections of the country show spring roads and buildings being pushed ahead for winter labor, public works getting underway with increasing volume, new rails and pipe lines creating swelled pay rolls, and ready aid being extended everywhere to persons who cannot be put to work.

Basing his figures on contracts let during the year L. Seth Schnitman, chief statistician for the F. W. Dodge corporation, estimated the cost of construction now under way at more than 4 billion 700 million dollars.

Government Leads.

Besides the 116 millions appropriated for immediate use the federal government plans to spend 724 millions for building in the next twelve months. Another $80,000,000 has just been made available for federal aid roads, which, matched by the states, rolls into a total of 160 millions.

State commissioners and county and city committees, coördinated by the President's emergency commission, are pushing public work and raising public funds.

Many workers are contributing a portion of their pay. Several cities are serving free meals. One state game and fish commission is permitting the wholesale seining of fish.

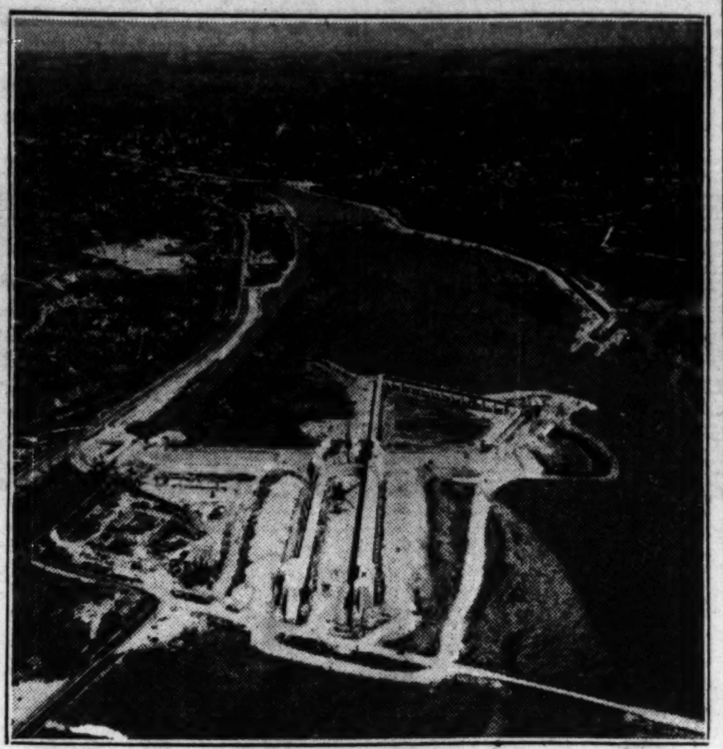
Blue Law Relaxes.

Some blue law states are permitting Sunday movies with the proceeds going to relief. Throughout the land odd jobs are being created by intensive cleanup campaigns in which unsightly vacant lots are receiving care.

A few states find existing charity agencies can care for the idle. Some others are registering unemployed individuals and finding them work or furnishing them relief. Others are using labor on a part time basis in road work.

From at least one state—Oklahoma—comes news that development alone necessitates one of the greatest building programs in its history, and Texas, sending forth pipe lines to the middle west and rails toward the Rockies, is in a similar position.

TO START WORK ON WATERWAY



The locks and dams below Joliet, which have already been built by the state. The federal government's part of the work is to start soon and is expected to aid in solving the unemployment problem.

BANDITS HOLD UP PARTY; GIVES IT SEASON GREETING

Three youthful, well dressed, and courteous bandits, all masked, late last night interrupted a jolly party at the home of Abraham Adolph, 6308 North Claremont avenue, a tailor's trimming jobber, lined the guests up against the wall, and robbed them of jewelry and furs valued at more than $5,000 and $65 in cash. In the party were Adolph and his wife; William Sokolec, 1263 Pratt boulevard, and his wife; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Heckenthal, 2257 Rosemont street; Mr. and Mrs. William Fishman, 4014 Grenshaw street, and Mrs. Adolph's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rutizer, 4930 Drake avenue.

From Mrs. Sokolec the robbers took a wrist watch, a bracelet and a ring, all valued at $4,000, and from Mrs. Heckenthal a fur coat valued at $1,500.

"This is another experience in life for you," the bandits told their victims as they bowed themselves out with a "Merry Christmas."

ANTI-TAX RIOTERS KILL 12, WOUND MANY IN BURMA

RANGOON, Burma, Dec. 24.—(AP)—More than a dozen persons have been killed and many wounded in the Tharawaddy and Insein districts of upper Burma by rioters who attacked several villages in the course of a tax resisting campaign, according to reports received here today.

It is known that four native officials were slain in the villages, in one of which the rioters were reported this morning to be still fighting with police. It is believed that the police inflicted heavy losses upon them.

The outbreak thus far appears to be purely local and is confined to the two districts. Officials here, however, are taking no chances and have sent heavy reinforcements to the affected regions.

ENDS LIFE WITH GAS.

Albert Dempsey, 52 years old, committed suicide yesterday by thrusting his head into the oven of the gas range in his home at 18 East Chicago avenue.

ESTRANGED WIFE OF H. GOULD DIES IN VIRGINIA HOME

Known as Actress and Writer.

Lynchburg, Va., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Mrs. Katherine Clemons Gould, 56, wife of Howard Gould, died today after an illness of several months.

For the last fifteen years she had lived at Blue Gap farm near here to which she came after retiring from the stage. In addition to being known as an actress she was author of a novel and made frequent contributions to periodicals.

Although Mrs. Gould had lived apart from her husband for many years there never had been a legal separation. He is a member of the New York family of that name and at present is abroad. News of her death was sent to him through his attorneys today.

During her residence here Mrs. Gould spent much of her time in philanthropic endeavors. She contributed a recreational center to the Boonesboro community and aided materially in a number of county improvement projects.

Divorces Manufacturer; Wins Alimony of $50,000

Mrs. Lela Mae Kainer, 35 years old, 3629 North Avers avenue, won a divorce and $50,000 alimony yesterday from Frederick Kainer, a manufacturer, of 761 Mather street. The decree was granted by Circuit Judge Daniel P. Trude on grounds of cruelty. Mrs. Kainer was also granted the custody of their daughter, Ardis Ruth, 13 years old. The Kainers were married on Sept. 30, 1916.

Julius Ascherman Found Shot to Death in Club

Julius Ascherman, 50 years old, chief salesman for the New Haven Clock company, 215 West Randolph street, was found dead in his room at the Illinois Athletic club yesterday. A maid found Ascherman dead, a bullet wound in his right temple, and a revolver by his side. Officials of the company said he had complained of ill health. Coroner Herman N. Bundesen said he had been dead for twenty-four hours.

JURY TELLS BAR ASSOCIATION OF BAIL SITUATION

See Hint of Disbarment in Letter.

The attention of the Chicago Bar association was directed to the bail bond situation yesterday in a letter sent by Robert B. Peters, foreman of the December grand jury, who acted at the request of the jury.

The letter is considered significant in view of the fact that the jurors have under consideration turning over to a legislative committee for impeachment proceedings evidence gathered against two Municipal court judges.

See Disbarment Hint.

It was pointed out by lawyers that the association could, if the evidence warrants, start disbarment proceedings against any lawyer or judge who may be involved in improper practices.

Although the letter did not specially call attention to the judges, a copy of the report rendered several days ago, in which it was charged that bond conditions in the Municipal court are "worse than any other court in the country," was enclosed with the letter.

After reviewing the bond situation generally the letter then says: "We respectfully request that you examine this report and take such action as you may deem proper under the circumstances."

Crime Commission Plea.

The Chicago Crime commission was also requested by the jurors to become a watchdog over the bond situation. An excerpt of the letter sent to the commission is as follows:

"Your organization in the past has rendered great service to the people of Cook county in fighting crime, and we hope that you will unite the decent citizens of our county in a determined effort to check the release of dangerous criminals on worthless bonds."

The grand jurors are expected to make a further report when they disband on Dec. 31. It is reported that the jurors at that time may name the judges they consider should be subject to some kind of proceedings.

Evanston Child, 7, Bitten by Neighbor's Pet Rabbit

Joy, 7 year old daughter of E. Raymond Inman, 2408 Payne avenue, Evanston, was nipped on the wrist yesterday when she attempted to pick up a pet rabbit belonging to a neighbor. Her mother, fearing the bite might become infected, called a physician to treat it and also notified police.

POPE CALLS HALT ON CLASS WAR TO END JOBLESS ERA

Christmas Message Asks Social Reforms.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Dec. 24.—Pope Pius, in an address to the college of cardinals assembled to present the customary Christmas greetings to the pontiff, today made an appeal for better relations among the classes as a way to alleviate the world unemployment problem. The pope lamented the disastrous economic conditions prevailing "even in the richest country," which, he said, weigh chiefly on the poorer classes because of the widespread unemployment, which deprives laborers and their families of their daily bread.

"This situation," the pope declared, "makes urgent the necessity for a better social arrangement, inspired by the Christian spirit, which, without subversing order, makes for wider and more efficient coöperation among all classes and prevents unrestrained competition, damaging to all and sooner or later disastrous."

Laments Danger to Peace.

The pontiff saw dark clouds everywhere, but he hoped, with the help of Providence, they will disappear, provided "the disdain of religious sentiments and spreading of immorality will not find support in the deplorable weakness and more deplorable connivance of public powers."

The pope then turned to the relations between nations. He lamented the dangers threatening peace on account of the selfishness of nations, who, he said, instead of coöperating economically in perfect good feeling toward each other, are maddened by an unrestrained sense of nationalism.

He did not, however, believe that "there is any nation so monstrously murderous as to be willing to start a new war while the world is still suffering from the effects of the last one. Should we be convinced that such a nation exists, we would repeat the words of the scripture: 'Destory the people who want war.'"

Peace, however, should be a real peace "and not a confused and indistinct sentiment of pacifism," the pope declared.

After mentioning the series of disasters which had hit Italy and the rest of the world during the year and asking prayers for "the victims of religious persecution in Mexico, Russia, Siberia, and China," the pope attacked the Protestant propaganda in Italy.

"As head of the Catholic church," he said, "I cannot see without profound sorrow that in Rome and in the whole of Italy is carried on even wider and even more shameless Protestant propaganda, sometimes open and reasoned, but often subtle and deceitful in its methods, and this in spite of the law which grants Protestants the right to profess their religion, but not to carry on propaganda against the Catholic church or the Catholic religion, which is recognized as the state religion. This must be due either to ignorance of such a law or ignorance of such propaganda. It is to be hoped that all of this will cease."

Attacks Royal Wedding.

In closing his remarks to the princes of the church, the pope announced that he would issue an encyclical, dated this year. The encyclical, he said, would concern the subjects of Catholics marrying outside of the church. He mentioned, in this connection, the recent marriage of King Boris of Bulgaria to Princess Giovanna of Italy.

"We find it necessary," Pope Pius said, "to set down a doctrine for the Catholic church on Christian marriage. There was no other impediment to the recent royal marriage except the usual ones in the case of mixed marriages, for which the church always asks the fulfillment of the engagements with the church which the couple takes. In this particular case, such engagements were willingly and with full knowledge taken by the royal personages themselves, without political interference, and such assurances had been given which we fully believed would be adhered to."

"We have taken this solemn occasion to express our point of view on this subject, and this the more since discussions and interpretations about that marriage were not only arrived on and expressed by private individuals in private places, but were repeated with authority and, above all, accompanied by ritual celebrations too carefully prepared not to give the impression of renewal of the already celebrated marriage ceremony made wilfully, thus gravely offending the sacred character of the marriage itself and causing perturbation and scandal."

AMERICAN MINING OFFICIAL ESCAPES MEXICAN BANDITS

El Paso, Texas, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Hugh M. Craigie, 30, American mining engineer, kidnaped by bandits yesterday at Santa Barbara, Chihuahua, Mexico, and held for ransom, escaped this afternoon, American Smelting and Refining company officials here were advised tonight. Details regarding the kidnaping and escape still were lacking.

Mounted troops tonight were believed in pursuit of the bandits, who are supposed to have retreated into the wild mountains of the region. Mr. Craigie was foreman of the American Smelting and Refining company mines.

Mr. Craigie has been employed with the American Smelting and Refining company since 1924. He is a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The kidnaping was the first activity by bandits in that district since the revolutionary days of 1916.

RUPTURE

Don't submit to avoidable operations or the use of antiquated trusses, as they all set where the lump is and not where the opening is. The opening is seldom larger than a dime no matter the size of the rupture, and all cases can be retained with the end of a lead pencil. "The Spermatic Shield-Complex in combination with the Retainer-Simplex (Patent No. 747247, No. 1237709 and other patents pending)—a scientific achievement in a highly specialized art. It will not only retain any case of rupture perfectly, but contracts the opening in 10 days on the average case. Infinitely superior to any instrument method or operations and producing results in no other way obtainable. All cases are secure a lifetime as against further trouble or expense. Large or difficult cases or incisional rupture (following operations) specially solicited. This instrument received the only award in England and in Spain, producing results without surgery, injection, medical treatment or prescriptions with distinguished personal patrons of all nations. See Booklet on "The Fallacy of Surgical Procedure."

15 MILLION YEAR OLD TREES FOUND IN NORTH CANADA

Petrified Trunks Link America and Asia.

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 24.—(AP)—The perfectly preserved remains of trees that cast their shade 15 or 20 million years ago have created a geological sensation.

They were freed last summer from sticky tar sands near Fort McMurray in northern Alberta, and, government engineers declared today, present theories of prehistoric vegetation might collapse before the evidence presented by the gnarled trunks and branches, far older than any previously discovered remains.

May Link America and Asia.

One scientist, Dr. I. W. Bailey of Harvard university, has claimed from microscopic examination of the trees testimony to strengthen a scientific hypothesis that North America and Asia once were parts of the same continent. Dr. Bailey said one of the preserved trees is of a type that grows in Japan today.

S. C. Ells, engineer in the federal department of mines and authority on bitumin deposits, disinterred the trees from the airtight embrace of the tar sand, the basic substance of which, he pointed out, is the same as that used by the ancient Egyptians in mummifying their dead.

Growth Rings Visible.

When he uncovered the trees he found the wood could be whittled with a jack knife. The growth rings of the trees were clearly visible, and leaves which once swayed in prehistoric breezes were in a good state of preservation, as were some tiny insects that used to feed on the leaves.

The significance of Ells' find was regarded here as of greater importance than that attached to the famous petrified forests of southwestern United States. The trees are described as the only known deposit of jurassic period vegetation in its original state.

Further excavation on the spot where Ells found the trees is planned for next summer and geologists from universities in Canada and the United States are to be invited to join the Field party.

GIRL TO STAND TRIAL FOR MURDER.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Miss Jean Dayle, 22, was held today for trial in District court on a charge of first degree murder in the death of Sam Frank, 65 year old Memphis jewelry salesman who was robbed and slain in a hotel room here Dec. 6.

TWO KILLED AS TRAIN HITS AUTO; DRIVER IS HELD

Husband and Wife Die on Crossing.

George Thompson, 56 years old, 3650 South Seeley avenue, a shipping clerk, and his wife, Fannie, were killed last night when their automobile was struck by a northbound Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad passenger train in Dolton, just beyond the southern limits of Chicago. Harold, their 23 year old son, escaped with a broken leg. C. A. Berggren, driver of the car, who lived with the Thompsons, is being held by the Dolton police pending the inquest. They say Berggren failed to heed a warning signal.

Mrs. Elizabeth Curtis, 65 years old, of 615 Wenonah avenue, Oak Park, was killed last night when struck by a hit and run driver while crossing Wisconsin avenue at Madison street in Oak Park. The police are hunting the motorist, who abandoned his car a block from the scene.

These deaths and three others raised the Cook county motor toll for the year to 1,097. The victims:

Charles Hess, 55 years old, 2230 Clarence avenue. Fatally injured when struck by a hit and run driver at 22d street and 59th avenue, Cicero.

Mrs. J. W. Boudel, 62 years old, 4416 West Monroe street. Died in the Garfield Park hospital from injuries received when struck by the auto of Irving Wolinsky, 3357 West Huron street, a salesman, at Madison street and Kildare avenue. Wolinsky was held.

Frank Peterson, 49 years old, a laundry worker, 939 Ridge court, Evanston. Killed when struck by a car driven by Dr. Edward J. Farrell, 7532 Rogers avenue, Chicago. Peterson was crossing the street near his home. Dr. Farrell was held for the inquest.

Alexander Hardie, 38 years old, 540 East 119th street, Hammond, was killed last night near his home when he was struck by an automobile driven by Dr. C. W. Doyle, 995 Hyslop street, Hammond. Hardie was walking across the thoroughfare when hit. Dr. Doyle was held in $5,000 bond pending the inquest.

The frozen body of Fred Couch, 25 years old, of Kentland, Ind., was found on state road 41, near Kentland, yesterday. The police said that Couch had been struck by an automobile while walking along the highway. Tracks in the snow indicated that the driver had walked back to where Couch lay, but drove away without reporting the accident. Death was due to exposure.

Lord Melchett, Famous Jewish Leader, Has Relapse

LONDON, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Friends were alarmed today for the condition of Lord Melchett, who suffered a relapse after he had been ill for several weeks with phlebitis, but a slight improvement was noted tonight. Lord Melchett, prominent industrialist and leader in Jewish activities, formerly was Sir Alfred Mond. Phlebitis is the term applied to inflammation of the inner membrane of a vein.

OPEN GAMBLING O.K.'D FOR PARIS AS HARD TIMES CURE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 24.—Paris received a Christmas surprise tonight when the finance committee of the house of deputies recommended the reëstablishment of wide open gambling in Paris and the suburb of Enghien. The proposal is a result of hard times, its purpose being to produce added revenue. It is expected to add $3,500,000 to the 1931-'32 budget.

The big casino at Enghien was closed three years ago on the complaints of wives whose husbands were losing the family cash. Paris has been compelled to content herself with gambling in private clubs for the last several years.

A large share of the tax money from the casinos, if parliament approves the committee's recommendations, is expected to be derived from American tourists playing baccarat, roulette and chemin de fer. The budget approved by the finance body totals $2,020,000,000, or $20,000,000 more than plan.

ICAGO MAKES AIN OF 75,000 EOPLE IN 1930

gain of 75,000 in population was in Chicago in 1930, the Association of Commerce announced yesterday. The city enters with 3,430,000 persons living within corporate limits, which represents a gain of 53,400 over the final made public after the April was taken.

increase was paralleled by that for the whole metropolitan which includes the city and territory. Six counties, within a 35 mile radius from the contain 4,750,000 persons, as with 4,827,100 at the start year.

Population in the Area.

association divides the metro- figures into the following sub-

	4,055,000
	88,000
	126,000
	105,000
	111,000
county, Ind.	265,000

When the federal census was last April we had some 24,000 vacancies in the city, most of which have since been absorbed," said George W. Rossetter, chairman of the association's research committee. "While it is true that many families are doubling up under one roof, there has been an appreciable reduction in vacant flats and apartments. Some 2,000 new firms and branch offices have come to the city this year. This has been discounted to a degree by the fact that several hundred businesses have dropped out of the local commercial picture. In many cases, however, the personnel who operated these firms has remained in the city."

Cite Ratio of Earners.

The association's statement included this paragraph: "In reviewing the city's growth since 1921, when Chicago had a population of 2,755,000, a consistent realtionship is found between population and wage earners employed in industry. This ratio is approximately 6 to 1. In 1921 we had 311,000 industrial workers; in 1930 we had approximately 405,000, an increase of 94,000. Using the ratio factor, we have found a population increase of 564,000 people during the same period, not considering transients or the increased birth rate created by a larger population."

Overrules Objections to Magnolia Avenue Sewer

Judge I. L. Weaver of the County court yesterday overruled the objections of property owners against the construction of the proposed $3,500,000 Magnolia avenue sewer. The case has been before the court for twelve weeks. A hearing on the special assessments will be held on Jan. 6. The property owners contended that the sewer had been ordered despite the fact that the area already had an adequate sewer system. The judge ruled that the ordinance for the construction of the sewer was legal.

Send $12,216; Drive Total Is $2,900,000.

As the doors of the governor's commission on unemployment closed on Christmas eve Chairman Philip R. Clarke of the drive committee seeking $5,000,000 for relief reported that the fund had reached $2,900,000. Despite the fact that most business houses were closed at noon the day's contributions amounted to $26,770.

Nearly half of the day's receipts came from the employés of Lincoln park, whose Christmas spirit toward Chicago's unfortunates was expressed in a check for $12,216. The subscriptions were made to cover the months of December, January, February, and March and represented practically 100 per cent of the workers in the park system.

"This is the first return we have had from public employés in the state," said Mr. Clark. "Satisfactory arrangements are being worked out with employés of the county and all branches of state government, from the governor down, are committed to the pay deduction plan for employés. This plan is being followed by hundreds of business concerns of Chicago and upon it depends very largely the success of the emergency relief campaign."

Among the day's subscriptions were the following: Sargent & Lundy, Inc., $4,400; S. Karpen & Bros. employés, $2,760; American Radiator company, $1,000; National Biscuit company, $1,000; Chicago District Ice association, $2,000; Union Special Machine company, $1,000.

$536,947 State Inheritance Tax from C. P. Taft Estate

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 24.—(AP)—An inheritance tax of $536,947 is to be paid to the state of Ohio through Judge William H. Lueders of Probate court next week by the estate of the late Charles P. Taft, former publisher of the Cincinnati Times Star.

CITY MUST INVEST THREE MILLIONS IN WATER BONDS

See Funds Needed for Larger Pay Roll.

City officials yesterday were considering investing $3,000,000 of the city's surplus funds in water certificates as the result of the withdrawal by Halsey, Stuart & Co. of its option to purchase the entire issue of $10,997,000. The city, according to Victor S. Petterson, deputy city controller, has approximately $6,000,000 in its surplus funds to invest.

In 1929 the state legislature authorized the city to issue $12,000,000 in water certificates during 1930 for construction purposes. The city sold $1,003,000 worth to its pension funds. The remainder of the issue, under the legislative authority must be sold before Jan. 1.

May Ask New Authority.

The plan, according to some officials, is to sell only the $3,000,000 worth to the city funds; then, after the legislature convenes in January, to ask the general assembly to authorize the city to issue $8,000,000 worth of the certificates in 1931 and after that only $3,000,000 worth each year.

T: sale of the certificates was held up by a suit to establish the validity of them. The Supreme court only gave its decision last week.

Add to Water Pay Rolls.

Before the suit the city council adopted an ordinance authorizing the expenditure of the funds. The ordinance authorized Commissioner of Public Works Wolfe to spend approximately $10,000,000 on the new Chicago avenue water tunnel and approximately $2,000,000 on the extension of water supply pipes.

Since the favorable decision of the court aldermen and ward committeemen, with the permission of the city patronage committee, have placed a number of workers on the water system pay rolls. Unless the city invests some of its surplus funds in the certificates or sells them to a banking syndicate before Jan. 1 there is some question whether the city can meet these pay rolls out of its 1930 appropriations.

Two Brothers Found Dead of Gas in South Side Flat

Two brothers, Ignace and Lattie Sivitli, 47 and 42 years old, respectively, were found dead in their flat in the rear of 3221 South Lawndale avenue yesterday, apparently the victims of escaping illuminating gas. Their deaths were believed by Lawndale police to have been accidental. The brothers were found by neighbors who detected the odor of gas seeping from the apartment. Ignace was found in his bed and the body of his brother was slumped over the kitchen.

ENDS LIFE WITH RAZOR; GAS.

Arthur Lavery, 61 years old, 7114 Drexel avenue, ended his life in his home yesterday by first slashing his throat and then inhaling gas. He was formerly a saloon keeper and had been working recently as a watchman for the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company in Indiana Harbor.

Always Dependable Quality, Independently Priced, Correctly Weighed, and a Lower Price Per Ton

PLAIN TALK TO CONSUMERS OF COAL

Are you one of many who are contributing from $1.00 to $3.00 per ton on every ton of coal you buy to help maintain ORGANIZED PRICE CONTROL IN CHICAGO?

If so then you are not doing your part to HELP ALWART TO REDUCE RETAIL COAL PRICES.

ORGANIZED PRICE CONTROL 'is what is keeping the retail coal prices high in Chicago.

Present coal prices at the mines do not justify the HIGH RETAIL PRICES FOR COAL.

Many consumers of coal wonder why we sell for less when the majority of dealers are asking higher prices for coal. Our answer: ALWART'S INDEPENDENCE—low purchase costs at the mines for large quantities of the best quality from the respective coal fields. Efficient handling equipment and your co-operation has made it possible to SERVE 28,000 CONSUMERS OF COAL AND SAVE FOR THEM APPROXIMATELY $250,000 DURING 1929.

Your co-operation will save more during 1930.

BRAZIL RUSHES POLICE BY AIR TO FORD PLANTATION

Report Angry Mob Fights Eviction Order.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Private advices and news agency dispatches report that trouble over an eviction order broke out on the Ford rubber plantation in Para yesterday. The government of that vast northern state has sent police by airplane to investigate. One report said Americans were in danger.

The authorities requisitioned a Pan-American Airways plane, it was said. Yesterday afternoon the machine reached Santarem Junction, on the Amazon, and this morning went on to the plantation, which is on the Tapajos river.

Ordered Out of Homes.

As the trouble is explained, the concession included certain land already occupied when it was granted by the state. The news agency says the Ford authorities recently gave notice that certain holdings, among which is an orphan asylum, must be evacuated before Dec. 31, as the plantation was expanding to take in that area.

The irate settlers marched upon Ford headquarters, armed with guns and other weapons, determined to halt the move to evict them from their homes. The movement is said to be in no way connected with recent attacks by Indians upon certain villages.

Report Heavy Property Damage.

New York, Dec. 24.—(AP)—A message from Para, Brazil, to Pan-American Airways headquarters in New York said a Pan-American plane had been sent to the Ford rubber plantation at the request of the Brazilian government on reports that there had been trouble there with native laborers. At the time the message was sent there were reports at Para that no lives had been lost, but that there had been considerable property damage.

Detroit Office Uninformed.

Detroit, Dec. 24.—(AP)—At the offices of the Ford Motor company here it was stated that no information had been received regarding trouble on the Ford rubber concession in Brazil.

6,000,000 ACRES OF LAND.

The Ford rubber concession in Para is an enormous plantation of 6,000,000 acres, not all of which has been cleared. Under the terms of the grant a thousand acres were to be cleared in each of the first four years, but much more than that was ready for cultivation a year after the grant was made.

The diamond shaped area under Ford administration includes the course of the Tapajos river, which is navigable for seagoing vessels to a point about midway of the plantation. It is in one of the most productive areas of Brazil and nearly all of it is of such nature as to permit cultivation of the soil. In ten years, it has been estimated, rubber trees now planted would yield about six billion pounds of rubber a year.

No Liquor Allowed.

The Ford interests began actual development in the fall of 1928, with announcements that the Detroit manufacturer intended to establish "American standards" among the workmen. One of the rules established for the concession was "no women and no liquor." It was explained that Mr. Ford does not want women brought into the concession until living conditions are more appropriate for family life.

Mr. Ford was represented as interested in developing the workers from a state of practical peonage into a thrifty and industrious people.

Occasionally have come reports of friction, one when it was rumored that Ford intended to import American Negro labor and another when Ford was refused permission to export rubber plants and seed.

ROBBERS GREET VICTIMS WITH "MERRY XMAS"

Three robbers who greeted their victims with "Merry Christmas" when they appeared and again as they departed, last night held up Edward and Abner Zolla, wholesale cigar dealers, in their shop at 444 East 63d street, and escaped with $1,129 and $4,000 in checks.

The brothers were closing for the night when two of the men appeared and ordered them back into the office. One of the men then returned to the front door and admitted the third man, setting off a burglar alarm as he did so. The bandits then compelled the brothers to open the safe from which $1,000 in currency and the checks were obtained. Edward's pockets yielded $40 and a new $50 bill which was to have been a present to his wife, while Abner lost $39 from his pockets.

Woodlawn police arrived a few minutes after the robbers had gone. Abner Zolla told police he was held up on Christmas eve two years ago and lost $100. He lives at 7311 Prairie avenue, while his brother lives at 7029 Merrill avenue.

TOM MIX IS DIVORCED BY HIS SECOND WIFE; SHE CHARGES CRUELTY

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Tom Mix of the films was divorced for the second time today. Extreme mental cruelty, including unexplained absences from home, were charged by Mrs. Victoria Forde Mix, his second wife. Mix, who had filed a general denial, did not appear. His attorneys advised the court the film cowboy is not in California.

Mrs. Olive Stokes Mix, who divorced the actor in 1917, likewise had charged cruelty. He married his second wife a year later. Besides her freedom, she won her 9 year old daughter, Tomasina, and a property settlement. Terms of the settlement were not made public. Under an agreement approved by the court the child will spend half her annual summer vacation with her father.

HE SEEKS TO MAKE INDIANA BONE DRY LAW NOT SO DRY

White Wants It More Like Volstead Act.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Although he was supported by the Indiana Anti-Saloon league, John F. White, an Indianapolis Democratic member of the 1931 Indiana house of representatives, tonight announced he will seek revision of the Wright state bone dry act to make it only as rigid as the Volstead act.

The Wright law, fathered by Frank Wright, Indianapolis representative in the 1925 legislature and at the time also a paid propagandist of the Anti-Saloon league, makes Indiana technically, though not actually, the most arid state in the union.

Forbid Sale for Any Purpose.

The national prohibition act permits prescribing of whisky for medicinal purposes, but the Indiana enforcement act prohibits possession or sale of whisky for any purpose.

The Rev. C. H. Winders, superintendent of the league, said today that his organization will oppose giving physicians the right to prescribe whisky for their patients.

Indiana is one of twenty-two states which prohibits doctors prescribing whisky for medical purposes, E. A. Miles, attorney for the Anti-Saloon league, said. Ten of the twenty-two states do not permit the physician to prescribe either whisky or pure grain alcohol free from medication, he said.

But There's a Catch in It.

Doctors in Indiana are permitted to prescribe one quart of pure grain alcohol to patients under the Wright "bone dry" law, but this is largely a gesture because of federal regulations which prohibit the druggist from filling the prescription.

Miles said that leniency of the Hoosier enforcement act relative to the prescribing of pure grain alcohol is nullified by the regulations of the federal prohibition department, but not by the Volstead act.

The only method whereby an Indiana doctor can obtain legally pure grain alcohol for a patient, Miles said, is by obtaining a permit from the treasury department at Washington to purchase a limited quantity of alcohol. The doctor may then sell the alcohol in small quantities to his patients.

GOOD HEALTH is the GREATEST GIFT

At this season of the year when happiness and good-will abound, good health seems an even greater blessing—for it is a fact that good health and happiness go hand in hand.

If you possess good health, guard it carefully and it will add immeasurably to your store of happiness and to those about you. See your doctor regularly, for in protecting health, one should bear in mind that the serious results of dangerous communicable diseases are readily preventable in their early stages. This applies particularly to that dread spectre, which wise physicians have pronounced the greatest killing disease—Syphilis.

Early discovery and prompt treatment is important in the prevention and cure of any disease—and is especially true of syphilis. Ignorance, carelessness, and delay give the germs time to multiply and spread through the body to every organ and tissue. Unless discovered by a thorough medical examination and properly treated, they may cause irreparable damage. Years after the first symptoms of syphilis, these germs may attack the spinal cord, resulting in paresis (softening of the brain) and locomotor ataxia (paralysis of the muscles). Scientists say that syphilis is the cause of these two diseases.

Breaking down of brain power and general paralysis are not the only destructive results of untreated syphilis—for it is also a frequent cause of heart trouble and other disabling afflictions. Thorough medical examinations and prompt treatment of infected persons will prevent these serious later results. Attempted self treatment is not only ineffectual, but dangerous.

Good medical treatment for either gonorrhea or syphilis, including Wassermann and Kahn blood and other necessary laboratory tests, can be secured within your means from an experienced family physician, or from the Public Health Institute. Treatment also is available through the Institute and many free clinics for those without funds.

The Public Health Institute was organized more than ten years ago to combat "social diseases" (syphilis and gonorrhea) in Chicago. Every facility necessary for competent and reliable medical service is provided. Members of its medical staff are experienced and are registered by the State. All treatment and advice are given by these men and women physicians.

The fees are within the reach of all. The first examination is only $3.00, and includes Wassermann and Kahn blood and other laboratory tests. Six consecutive treatments in the Urological or Gynecological Departments for $4.00. Examination and treatment are available to those without immediate funds. No one is turned away because of inability to pay.

More details of this subject will be found in Leaflets Nos. 1 and 2 sent free in plain envelope on request.

Announcement . . . This advertisement has been submitted to and been approved by the Medical Advisory Board which has been formed at the invitation of the Trustees. It is published by a health agency established for public service to inform the public of the dangers of "social diseases," of the importance of securing good medical care, and the facilities whereby this can be obtained.

MEXICO FIRES TEN PER CENT OF OFFICIAL FAMILY

Funds Low, Nation Also Slashes Salaries.

BY JOHN CORNYN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 24.—With the coming of Christmas, official Mexico has received a jolt which will be felt by the entire official family. Few people have such love for officeholding as Mexicans. All along the line come announcements of cutting down expenses in the numerous departments of the federal government, the federal district and the municipalities.

This morning thousands of public officials read notices that they had been made jobless. The federal congress and senate each dismissed over per cent of their employés. All departments of the government have notified clerks and other officials of dismissal because of the decrease in the federal income and the government's consequent inability to furnish the departments with the appropriations as in past years.

Telegraph Employés Lose Jobs.

Employés of hundreds of telegraph offices of the federal telegraph lines today also received a Christmas gift in the shape of a notice that many telegraph offices would be closed at the end of the year and that the number of employés in others would be reduced.

The national railways have been "adjusting" all along the line and several thousand employés have been left jobless and a notice has been issued that the readjustment demands the ousting of still more employés.

The labor unions, which were so strong under former Mexican governments, are vainly struggling to hold up their heads against the tide of unemployment descending upon them and are now divided into two factions.

Unionism Split in Two.

One stands by the government and the board of readjustment and the other is fighting the railway adjustment plan. As a result unionism is split wide open without a hope of reconciliation.

Thousands of government employés, who are still holding their jobs, are spending sleepless nights, fearful of what the days between now and the end of the year might bring. Never, for years, has there been such unrest, want and misery in labor circles in Mexico, according to economists.

18 VETERANS OF HAYMARKET RIOT TO MEET AGAIN

Eighteen men, ranging in age from [illegible] to 85 years, all former members of the Des Plaines street police force who were called out to quell the Haymarket riot on May 4, 1886, are expected to meet at the historic station house, 120 North Desplaines street, next Sunday afternoon. The meeting was announced yesterday by former Capt. Frank P. Tyrrell.

The details of the riot, in which a bomb was thrown into closely packed ranks of policemen, killing eight of them and wounding 75, will probably be repeated again at the meeting. New officers will be elected, however, before the general discussion, always in order at such reunions, begins. The present officers, most of whom will probably be reëlected, are: Frank P. Tyrrell, president; Thomas Meany, vice president; Jeremiah Kennedy, treasurer; Freeman Steele, financial secretary, and James P. Short, recording secretary.

SECOND WIFE PAYS ALIMONY TO FREE MATE

Daniel S. Beebe, former official of the Vitrolite company, was released from jail yesterday by Superior Judge John J. Sullivan when his present wife paid $200 of his $24,800 alimony debt to a former wife. His freedom may be only temporary as he was ordered to appear before the judge tomorrow.

Beebe was jailed last week when his former wife, Mrs. Etta Marker Beebe of Oak Park, complained to the judge that she had been able to collect only $300 since their divorce. Beebe, who was said to be wealthy a few years ago, pleaded that he was penniless.

One other member of the Alimony club was freed by Circuit Judge Daniel P. Trude. He was Wilfred Deplessis, an electrician, who was jailed on Dec. 1 when he was $180 behind in his alimony payments to his former wife, Mrs. Kathryn Deplessis, 2827 Lunt avenue. His release for the Christmas holidays was obtained on a $1,000 bond.

SEIZE PAIR WHO POSED AS COPS IN THEFT PLOT

Two confidence men who posed as policemen in an attempt to rob James V. Pratt, 9350 South Elizabeth street, a bond salesman, were arrested last night. The prisoners, who gave their names as John Gorman, 26 years old, of New York City, and Jack Harris, 55 years old, of Salt Lake City, Utah, will be charged with kidnaping for ransom, which carries the death penalty.

The two men met Pratt one day last week and told him they held a warrant for his arrest on a confidence charge, but that they would try to "cool" of the charge. They met him again Monday and compelled him to accompany them to a bank for the purpose of drawing out all his money to make bond. When they got to the bank Pratt called a bank policeman and signed a complaint against the men.

ANCIENT SPAIN IS GAY, FOR THIS IS CHRISTMAS DAY

Eat, Drink, Make Noise Is Their Idea.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GRANADA, Spain, Dec. 24.—It's the same Christmas, after all.

At first glance you would never think it. There are palms instead of evergreens, no bewhiskered Santa Claus and no holly wreaths. Instead there are flowers, and splashing fountains and sunny patios brightened by the Andalusian sun, which is roasting the chrome battlements of the Alhambra.

Despite the absence of the Yuletide symbols so familiar to the northern races, they take their Christmas very seriously here in the Washington Irving country. Revolutions, lotteries and all the big events of the year have been pushed aside by the three day fiesta which started tonight.

Streets Are Thronged.

All day the crooked streets of this ancient town sprawled on the slopes of the snowcapped Sierra Nevadas. were filled with bustling, noisy throngs.

At every street corner are piles of earthen flower pots, covered over tightly with stretched parchment and pierced in the center thus admitting a long reed plunger. This contraption is called a zambora, and when the reed is pushed back and forth it makes a curious honk.

Every family in the town has bought at least one for tonight's feast. The object is to get drunk and make as much noise as possible with the zamboras. After dinner the whole family will gather around a charcoal brazier in the living room singing songs and dancing the old Andalusian folk dances to the accompaniment of the zamboras, castanets, and tinkling wooden sticks covered with spangles. When the celebrations are over the local custom requires that all zamboras be broken.

Pickled Farmers Arrive.

While the peasants, most of whom were pickled before arriving in town, danced and sang around the market booths, which have been set up at most of the principal places in Granada, the housewives were buying provisions for their Christmas dinner.

Evidently turkey is the principal dish, for the town is full of vendors. walking from house to house, each carrying slung over his shoulders a pair of live turkeys tied together by the feet.

All sorts of candied fruits, sweetmeats, and nuts will be consumed. Fish also constitutes an important part in the Andalusian Christmas dinner.

Usually the Spaniards drink everything in sight during Christmas season, but champagne and sherry are preferred.

Christmas eve is essentially a home festival, with the family gathering around indulging in dancing and telling stories, but the Latin tradition also requires the making of a big racket in the streets. At midnight everybody goes to service at the historic cathedral.

POLICE OF BERLIN SWING CLUBS ON JOBLESS RIOTERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 24.—Riot cars sped through Berlin streets tonight as groups of jobless communists, shouting "We want food," demonstrated in the business section, while last minute Christmas shoppers were hustling in and out of stores.

The riot squads were aided by mounted police, who charged onto the sidewalks and swung their clubs on the "hunger marchers." Several of the rioters were hurt and a number were arrested.

The disturbances, according to police, were planned so that riots popped simultaneously at the most important downtown corners. Groups of 40 halted in front of stores and raised the cry, "We are hungry!" Similar disturbances were reported from other cities in Germany.

5,883 Jewish Immigrants Enter Holy Land in a Year

LONDON, Dec. 24.—(AP)—A total of 5,883 Jews entered Palestine during the Jewish year 5690 [Oct. 1, 1929, to Sept. 30, 1930]. The executives of the Jewish agency announced the figures.

KIDNAPERS KILL YOUTH; QUICKLY CAUGHT, JAILED

Athlete Is Slain When He Rushes to Aid.

Benton Harbor, Mich., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Two Negroes are in jail here charged with the murder early today of Victor Raymond Moser, 18 year old athlete, of Watervliet, who was slain when he responded to cries for help from a couple the men had kidnaped in an automobile.

The kidnap victims were Miss Margaret Kimball, 20 years old, and Louis Cohn, both of South Bend, Ind. They were sitting in Cohn's parked automobile in South Bend, they said, when two armed Negroes climbed into the car and ordered Cohn to drive north to Michigan.

At Watervliet the gasoline gave out and the Negroes, who later gave their names as Joseph Stevenson, 25, Kalamazoo, Mich., and Joseph Chapman, 21, South Bend, ordered Cohn to stop in front of a restaurant near several parked automobiles.

Youth Shot in Head.

Both the Negroes leaped out, running towards one of the parked cars. Both Cohn and the girl called for help. Young Moser, who had been eating in the restaurant with some other boys after a basketball game, rushed to the girl's aid. He received a bullet in the head and fell dead.

A posse of 200 men was quickly formed. The fugitives were trailed to a swamp where they were cornered. Called upon to surrender, Stevenson threw away his gun and walked up to the officers, warning them that Chapman, armed, was in hiding nearby. Chapman thereupon threw away his gun and surrendered.

Bound Over Without Bond.

Shortly after their capture the two men were bound over to the Berrien county court without bond on charges of murder.

Sheriff F. G. Bryant dispersed an excited crowd from in front of the jail later in the day.

The officer is checking Chapman's statement that Stevenson was implicated in two murders in Iowa.

Young Moser was the son of Frank Moser, garage man. His mother is an invalid. The youth is also survived by two sisters and a brother.

U. S. DISPOSES OF 1,626 CRIMINAL CASES IN 1930 HERE

The federal government's campaign against income tax dodgers and other law violators resulted in the closing of 1,626 criminal cases during 1930, according to the annual report released yesterday by United States Attorney George E. Q. Johnson.

The number of terminations during the year exceeded the number of cases filed, which totaled 1,539. The convictions included Ralph J. Capone, Jack Guzik, County Assessor Gene G. Oliver, Lawrence C. O'Brien, state legislator, and Frank Nitto, alias Nitti, Capone hoodlum, who pleaded guilty. All these defendants were charged with violating the income tax laws.

The detailed figures on criminal cases follow:

	Narcotic.	Dry law.	Miscellaneous.
Cases filed	307	948	284
Cases closed	386	970	270

Penitentiary sentences for the year totaled 444 years 2 months and 12 days, and jail sentences totaled 197 years 3 months and 28 days.

WOMAN HELD UP IN SHOP.

Fifty dollars was obtained yesterday by two robbers from Mrs. Ollie Hinterlong, manager of a women's apparel shop at 2702 Milwaukee avenue.

Borrows 75 Cents to Pay Room Rent; Leaps to Death

An aged man who borrowed 75 cents from a stranger for a room at 7:30 o'clock last night a few minutes later leaped to his death from a third floor window of the Curtin hotel, 4151 South Halsted street, where he had registered as M. H. Bumbolton, Rockford, Ia. The man was taken to the hotel by Frank Johnson, 941 East 47th street, who told police he had met the stranger on a street car and had paid for the room for him "because it was Christmas eve." A pedestrian found the body on the sidewalk. There were no papers in Bumbolton's pockets. He had spent his last cent to pay his fare on the street car.

May your Christmas be festive and merry . . your New Year a round of prosperous good living . . .

AILURE TO JUNK D SHIPS COSTS ALF A BILLION to Depreciation, Navy Statistics Show.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 24.—[Special]—Statistics presented to the house naval affairs committee by the navy department indicate that failure to replace aging warships has depreciated the value of the American navy by at least half a billion dollars since the limitations of the Washington arms treaty in 1922.

Admiral William V. Pratt, chief of naval operations, informed a committee in a communication just sent to congress that the pre-London treaty American navy depreciated at the rate of 128 millions annually. He stated that this amount was needed each year for financing new construction if the fleet was to be kept up to date in modern ships.

A comparison of the 128 million dollar replacement figure with the amounts actually expended by the navy department each year on new construction during the eight fiscal years that have elapsed since the Washington treaty was negotiated discloses that this country expended only about one fourth as much annually for new ships as Admiral Pratt's figures indicated was needed to keep up the naval establishment.

Away Below Needs.

The average annual expenditure on new ships for the eight fiscal years beginning with 1923 and ending in 1930 was just $30,280,000. The total expended for new construction during that period on a navy which cost approximately one billion 400 million dollars to construct was $242,109,092. This compares with 924 millions which should have been expended, according to Admiral Pratt's statement of the navy's warship replacement needs.

The figures presented to the committee by Admiral Pratt are somewhat higher than those worked out by former Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur. The Coolidge cabinet member set the replacement needs of the navy at 100 millions annually, not counting aviation. On the basis of the Wilbur figures the navy should have expended 800 millions since the Washington treaty on new ships, compared with the 242 millions actually expended.

A glance at the actual replacement expenditures shows a decided drop in appropriations for new building following the Washington conference. Probably the lowest ebb was reached just preceding the three power conference at Geneva in 1927. In some instances all the amounts authorized by congress for expenditure was not spent or its expenditure delayed while American statesmen discussed arms limits with other powers.

Statistics by Years.

The expenditures on new construction by years follows:

1923	$38,102,058	1927	$19,091,144
1924	40,384,000	1928	24,737,522
1925	29,127,609	1929	34,250,641
1926	19,800,175	1930	36,615,942

During the three years prior to the Washington conference the United States expended on new warship construction an average of 138 millions annually. The navy department desires to expend $80,000,000 on new construction during the fiscal year 1932. It will expend $44,000,000 during this fiscal year [1931].

The fact that the United States did not expend sufficient funds for new construction in past years is now being used by pacifist leaders to argue that this country should not expend more than about $30,000,000 annually for new construction.

CHINA DISMISSES 100,000 OFFICIALS IN TAX REFORM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Dec. 24.—The Chinese government today announced a drastic taxation reform measure which involves the discharge of 100,000 taxation officials Jan. 1. This action has been made necessary through the abolition of the so called likin tax enforced for practically three-quarters of a century.

The likin is a transit tax and involved the establishment of taxation barriers at all provincial boundaries, even at entrances to cities along rivers, canals and railways. It developed to such an extent that it constituted a serious handicap, even to the stoppage of trade. Imports suffered particularly.

T. V. Soong, minister of finance, today said abolition of the tax would mean an immediate loss to the government of nearly $35,250,000. He added that the government will inaugurate a new system of commodity taxes on the basis of the recommendations of the Kemmerer commission. It is expected that the new imports will gradually make up the losses.

NORTH DAKOTA, FIREMEN ELEVENS IN FINAL DRILLS

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 24.—(AP)—The University of North Dakota Flickertails and the Los Angeles firemen ran through final workouts today for their Christmas football struggle tomorrow at the Coliseum.

Both aggregations were confident during final drills. The game promises to be a thriller, for each team has a good record and during the closing season showed great power.

The North Dakotans, beaten only three times in as many years, lost but one game this season, and that to the powerful Army eleven. The firemen have won nine games and lost one this year.

HAWKEYE DIVER SEEKS NATIONAL COLLEGE CROWN

Iowa City, Ia., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—The national collegiate fancy diving title, which he lost to Thronden of Stanford by a margin of 1.44 points, is now the goal of Wentworth Lobdell of Rockford, Ill., and the University of Iowa.

Lobdell, now a junior, already holds the Big Ten title.

Michael Galitzen of the Pacific coast, runner-up for the 1928 Olympic high board title and several times National A. A. U. high and low board champion, again is expected to be Lobdell's chief opponent for national honors.

The Buffalo Americans tonight at the Chicago Stadium will meet the Chicago Shamrock hockey team for the first time this season.

Inasmuch as Buffalo is alone in representing the eastern end of the American Hockey league, the circuit has been especially zealous in assisting the team in strengthening weak spots which were revealed in the early games of the season. After a weak start the recent record of the Buffalo boys has greatly encouraged persons interested in establishment of a balanced organization in the new league.

Remember St. Louis Win.

The Shamrocks report themselves as being especially pleased with the prospect of good competition for their Christmas skating, being all steamed up over the way their fast offense clicked for a 10 to 1 victory over St. Louis the last time out.

The Green and White players point to the lopsided victory last Sunday night as evidence that they can't be prevailed upon to pull their shots in the interest of close competition but admit that they welcome better rivalry in the form of increased enemy power.

What About "Flash"?

Capt. Corbett Dennenay, who recently returned to the Shamrock lineup after a month's layoff due to a broken hand, wasn't so hot the first night he played on Chicago ice, causing many an old meanie to scoff a bit at his nickname, which is "Flash." But when the senior skater of the Shaughnessy tribe stepped out Sunday night against St. Louis he showed a complete return to form, causing the customers to cheer lustily in his behalf.

THREE EYE HEAD EXPECTS DRAFT TO BE ACCEPTED

Decatur, Ill., Dec. 24.—(AP)—The Three Eye league is virtually certain to accept the draft plan when it meets on or about Jan. 8 for its annual meeting, President L. J. Wylie said today.

"Since we were ready to accept the draft proposal at the Montreal meeting of the minor leagues, there isn't any doubt in my mind as to the outcome when we vote on the proposal," he explained.

Simpson, Rothert, Kiser Sail for Foreign Track Meets

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Three famous American athletes sailed today aboard the Monowai for New Zealand, where they will compete in a long series of track meets. They are George Simpson, Ohio State university sprinter; Harlow Rothert, Stanford weight man, and Rufus Kiser, University of Washington long distance runner.

Young Stars Enter Tribune Ski Tourney

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Some of the best junior ski jumpers in the Chicago district have entered THE TRIBUNE'S first annual meet at Riis park, Jan. 4. The tournament is for all boys under 18 years of age. The boys between 14 and 17, inclusive, will compete in the senior division while boys under 14 form a junior division.

Harold Hansen, Buddy Engedahl and Norman Jacobson, who finished in that order last year in the meet conducted by the Northwest Park district, have promised to compete this year. All are eligible in the junior division. Harvey Nilsen, the red head, whose great jumping last year made him a favorite with the crowd, will be one of the leading contestants in the group of older boys. However, Harvey will have close competition from Orrin Wingas, Bob Fredericks and Howard Jensen.

Inexperience No Disadvantage.

All of these competitors have had experience, but this advantage will not prevent novices from stepping to the front, for the 70 foot slide is not so difficult as to penalize their inexperience.

Skiing, of course, is a comparatively new sport for thousands of Chicago boys. The thrill of a long slide over hard packed snow, and the dizzy leap into space, is far different than any other winter recreation. It is impossible to describe adequately the pleasures of ski jumping, but the fact that hundreds of boys have taken to the sport in the last few years is proof of the thrills.

The patronage at forest preserve slides and the Riis park slide is proof that spectators enjoy ski jumping, for while thousands of Chicagoans never have had on a pair of skis in their lives, the appeal is the same for them as for the contestants.

10,000 at Last Year's Meet.

The longer, more perilous slides at Cary and Ogden park attract thousands of spectators at the annual contests. Ten thousand saw the meet last year at Riis park, and the convenience of the slide promises as many this year at THE TRIBUNE'S tournament.

Clip the entry blank which appears daily in THE TRIBUNE. Print your name, club and age plainly and mail it immediately to the Ski editor. Entries close Dec. 31 for the meet, and all letters received with that postmark will be accepted. Eight boys will win medals and all may have the pleasure of the event.

Former Virginia Track, Cage Coach Dies at 65

University, Va., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Henry Haden (Pop) Lannigan, grand old man of athletics at the University of Virginia, died here today. He was 65 years old and for more than a quarter of a century had coached basketball and track at this institution. He retired in June, 1928.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

GREETINGS.

May all the joy of Christmastide
Be yours upon this day,
May you and those you love abide
In spirit young and gay;
And may the New Year bring its wealth
Of treasures to your door—
Youth and happiness and health
And smiles for evermore.
Don Juan de Barcelona.

Christmas Lights.

Dear Wake: Do you remember way back when you and I were young—I hate to say how long ago—and a bunch would get together and start a hunt for Santa Claus? We found him, too, on almost every corner of the old west side. I remember one who had a sign over his head which read that it was more blessed to give than to receive.

Most of us were given $1 to spend as part of our Christmas celebration, so we took a street car to the loop for which the children's half fare was 3 cents. Then first to have our tintypes taken, and what tintypes they were! Then the beautiful displays in the store windows of Gossage's, with the big lions outside; the See store, Bee Hive, Partridge's, Schlesinger & Mayer, Mandel's, and Field's.

Then we were ready for a visit to the famous old Boston Oyster house at Clark and Madison for a steaming oyster stew, filling our pockets with crackers when the waiter's back was turned. After the stew, a block east to McVicker's theater to see Joe Jefferson in "Rip Van Winkle" from a balcony seat. The one dollar given us had answered all our wants and we took a car home to be ready for the family celebration around the Christmas tree where Santa Claus had placed his gifts for us.

I well remember one present which made me the envy of the entire block. Grandmother knit me white woolen stockings and hood and red mitts with wide cuffs. Our ways and desires were more simple in those days, but often I think they were even more enjoyable than now. Kathrie P. Cornell.

The Shock.

I stood on the stairs at midnight,
My head was in a whirl;
'Twas the hour they said Santa would come
And I was a little girl.

I cocked my ear and listened.
If I caught him, he might be mad,
But I crept along to see him—
There stood Mother and Dad! Sliver.

Femme-Grams.

Many a so-called "he-man" buys his girl a box of candy for Christmas and then proceeds to wind himself around the major portion of the same. Ella Noise.

This Wake, conducted by Harvey T. Woodruff, wishes all Helpers and readers a right Merry Christmas.

Caution.

Harvey: Owing to the current depression, Elder Berry finally decided to do his shopping after Christmas because he figured he was taking quite a chance on return gifts. Undoubtedly the score will be 0 to 0 at the end of the fourth quarter. Willie Badger.

Vision.

O, little town of Bethlehem,
I see you from afar;
The birthplace of a baby
Who became Life's guiding star.
Eleanor.

From the Sunny South.

HTW: Here in Miami Beach, Fla., I passed the postoffice today and saw a line of people in their bathing suits waiting to mail their Christmas packages. Jay Jay of Highland Park.

MARQUETTE NEXT FOE FOR BADGER BASKET SQUAD

Madison, Wis., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—With their first three games in the victory column, the University of Wisconsin basketball squad is enjoying its first real vacation since September. Coach Meanwell excused the players immediately after their game with Missouri Monday night. They will not report to him again until Saturday, when they train two days before meeting Marquette at the Milwaukee auditorium Dec. 30.

Against Carroll Wisconsin won, 17-14, and, although obviously nervous, they presented a tight defense and ability to control possession of the ball which was most gratifying.

In their second test—the field house dedication game, in which they defeated Pennsylvania, 25 to 12—their defense was even better and they began to gain confidence in their offense and to find the hoop. Against Missouri the Badgers' offensive plays completely baffled the Tigers, and so perfect was their defense that Missouri scored but two field goals.

MINERALITE AND GREEN RIVER PIN TEAMS TO CLASH

The Green Rivers will defend first place tomorrow night in the Randolph Bowling league, when they meet the Mineralites, recent victors in the central states tournament at Indianapolis.

The Bowlers' Journal team meets the Quaker Oats in the next most important series of the night.

The complete schedule follows:

Burlington vs. Commodore Barry; Browns vs. Live Stock Press; Green River vs. Mineralites; Quaker Oats vs. Bowler's Journal; Walter Birk Candy vs. A. J. Cermaks; Polacki Recreation vs. Baby Ruths; Wilden's Men Wear vs. Larson Spearmints; Kankakee Steamer vs. Wagners.

The standings follow:

Green River	30	12	1,128	1,008
Bowelers Journal	28	14	1,091	1,014
Kankakee Steamer	27	15	1,116	1,015

Weight Doesn't Worry Genaro or Wolgast

New York, Dec. 24.—[Special.]—The weight question will not disturb Frankie Genaro or Midget Wolgast, who are to battle fifteen rounds Friday night in Madison Square Garden for the world's flyweight title. This was established today when the little west side Italian, who holds the National Boxing association title, and his Philadelphia rival, who is recognized as champion here, concluded hard training for the approaching scrap.

Genaro and Wolgast, natural flyweights, were reported well within the specified 112 pounds, each looking forward eagerly to the traditional Yuletide turkey dinner tomorrow. Wolgast deserted his quarters here to spend Christmas day with his family in Philadelphia. He will return Friday morning to await the summons to weigh at 2 o'clock in the afternoon at the Garden.

On the battle's eve Wolgast remained the public choice to win, although Genaro's backers have increased and their confidence has been strengthened in the last few days. What betting the bout has attracted finds Wolgast favored at 8 to 5.

CENTRAL STATES ELEVEN ARRIVES FOR DIXIE GAME

Dallas, Tex., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Robert C. Zuppke, head football coach at the University of Illinois, arrived here today to direct the Central States All-Stars who will meet southwest team in the third annual Dixie football classic New Year's day.

Zuppke chose the Fair Park stadium as a practice field and said he would hold the first rehearsal tomorrow afternoon. His players are due to arrive tomorrow.

The southwest squad also is due in Dallas tomorrow but probably will not hold its first workout until Friday morning. Morley Jennings of Baylor university and Fred Thomsen of the University of Arkansas will coach the southwest team.

Military Academy Lists Eight Wrestling Meets

West Point, N. Y., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Listing eight meets, Maj. Philip B. Fleming, graduate manager of athletics at the United States Military academy, today released the 1931 Army wrestling schedule. Several newcomers are on the card, including Princeton, Iowa State, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and Western Reserve university. The Cadets will make only one trip away from West Point and that on Feb. 7, when they travel to Princeton. The season will open Jan. 10 with Washington and Lee, which last year defeated the Army.

BADGERS PLAN TO CUT ATHLETIC COSTS $10,000

Propose Shorter Trips; To Use Old Supplies.

Madison, Wis., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Confronted by an unexpected decrease in football receipts last fall, the coaches of spring sports at the University of Wisconsin are cutting their expenditures to meet the situation.

Wisconsin will not follow the example of those universities which have decided to cut off certain minor sports to alleviate the situation. Instead, the Badgers will "carry on" in all lines of athletics, but each department will reduce its expenses.

To Have Shorter Trips.

By substituting short for long trips, purchasing less equipment, making old supplies serve another season, and similar methods of economy, it is expected that they will collectively save $10,000 this spring. A similar policy of retrenchment is expected in the fall, when football and cross country have their seasons.

In baseball, Coach Guy S. Lowman will save more than $1,000 by shortening Wisconsin's southern training trip and by reduced expenditures for supplies. Coach Tom Jones of the track team will omit the Texas relay trip and has arranged a less expensive dual meet schedule, so that track will be able to save another $1,000. Coach Joe Steinauer has arranged a shorter schedule for his swimming team and this will save $1,000.

Cut Hockey Budget.

Hockey, under its new coach, Spike Carlson, will do its bit and though operating on a smaller budget, will get along on $1,200 less than planned. The gymnasium and wrestling teams, both of which have worked on modest allowances, will save $1,000 and $600, respectively. The same policy in crew, tennis, and golf, and further economies in administration and construction will make the total cut about $10,000.

HILLTOP HOCKEY SQUAD OFF ON HOLIDAY JAUNT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 24.—Coach John Hancock and 11 Marquette university hockey players left tonight for three—and possibly four—games against teams in northern Minnesota. Saturday they will clash with the Duluth West Ends in Duluth, and early next week will meet Hibbing in two games. Virginia, Minn., has asked for a game, but Coach Hancock said he would make no decision until after he arrived in the northland.

In the game at Duluth, the same lineup will be used as proved so effective in the win over the Cook County American Legion team in Chicago Monday. It will be: goal, Captain Schultz; defenses, McFayden and Peterson; wings, Wettlaufer and Nicholson; and center, Furlong.

ALBION PREPS CARD 8 GRID GAMES FOR 1931

Albion, Mich., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Eight football games, four at home, including two night games, and four away, constitute the 1931 schedule of Albion High school, just completed. Albion will play the other five schools of the newly formed Twin Valley H. S. A. A., as well as Parma, Battle Creek and Hudson.

Williams to Represent Big 10 at College Meeting

Iowa City, Ia., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Representing the Western conference at the annual meeting of the National Collegiate Athletic association, Dean C. C. Williams will attend the national gathering of the association opening in New York City Monday.

Dean Williams is chairman of the Iowa board in control of athletics and dean of the Iowa college of engineering.

LOOS' 144 TOPS AGUA CALIENTE FIELD 2 STROKES

Californians Second and Third.

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Eddie Loos, veteran professional of Chicago and Pasadena, led the field in the qualifying round of the second annual Agua Caliente $25,000 open golf championship tournament here today, with a 73, two strokes over par, again low mark of the day.

Loos had a total of 144 for the 36 holes, his opening round yesterday being par 71.

Right behind Loos came Dewey Longworth, Oakland, with 146—rounds of 72 and 74. Fred Morrison, unattached professional of Los Angeles, was third with 76—73—149.

Four Tie With 73s.

Four professionals divided the honor of the best round today with 73s. Besides Loos and Morrison were Tom Rakletts, Akron, and Bill Foley, young professional of the Coronado Country club.

Fifty-one professionals and five amateurs out of the field of 95 which teed off in the qualifying round yesterday came within the charmed circle and will be allowed to compete in the Agua Caliente open Jan. 13, 14, 15 and 16.

A score of 165 or better was needed to qualify. Fifty places were open for professionals and this was increased to 51 to take in ties at 165.

Favorites Come Through.

Most of the favorites among professionals came through in the qualifying round. Some who fell by the wayside were Sam Gayer, Chicago; Hayden Newton, Springfield; Al Collins, Kansas City; Frank Fogarty, Kirkwood, Mo.; Jim Costello, Downey, Cal., and George Martin, El Centro, Cal.

The high wind which sent scores skyrocketing yesterday was absent today but the money brigade in the main did not negotiate the course in much lower figures than for the opening round.

The scores:

Eddie Loos, Chicago	71	73	144
Dewey Longworth, Oakland	72	74	146
Fred Morrison, unattached	76	73	149

CROWLEY SIGNS FOR 3 YEARS AT MICHIGAN STATE

East Lansing, Mich., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Other institutions may have troublesome football coaching problems and attending worries, but Michigan State college is resting easy as regards its gridiron situation. Coach James H. Crowley has agreed to remain here as coach for another stretch of three years.

President Robert S. Shaw sprang a surprise when, in the course of his address of welcome to the 600 who attended the recent eleventh annual football banquet here he announced that the athletic department had made arrangements to retain Crowley for another period of years. The contract will go into effect Sept. 1, 1931, although his old contract had a year to run. The first contract was withdrawn and the second substituted, President Shaw explained.

Bud Foster to Play with Florals Against Majestics

Bud Foster, all-conference center at Wisconsin last year, will occupy the pivot post tonight for the Duffy Florals when the south siders tackle the Majestics on the Majestic home floor, 4711 West Madison street. The Florals quintet also includes O'Malley, Hanley, Sweeney, and McGrath. The Majestics will pit their full strength against the Duffys in order to secure revenge for their defeat of last year. Harper, Cunningham, Hooker, Farber, Wickhorst, Melnick, and Kraft will make up the Majestic squad.

DAMOCLES, 62-1, WINS LA DALIA PURSE AT HAVANA

Beats Shuffle Along After Early Lead.

HAVANA, Dec. 24.—(AP)—The longest priced winner of the present meeting at Oriental park showed up today in Damocles, who raced a good field of 2 year olds into submission to win the La Dalia purse at 5½ furlongs. He paid $126 for a $2 ticket.

Damocles made all the early running, with Shuffle Along close behind. Turning into the stretch the son of Royal Canopy drew away and left no doubt as to the outcome. He raced in the silks of Mrs. J. W. Dayton.

Shuffle Along was second and Airs and Graces, belonging to Mrs. S. Willett, was a close third.

Clear skies returned for today's racing but the track was deep in mud and only the stoutest mudders essayed the heavy going.

The management announced today there would be seven races Friday and that a card also would be presented on Monday.

THOMAS IS SUSPENDED

New Orleans, La., Dec. 24.—(AP)—The rough riding and the in and out running of some of the horses which has prevailed here this winter has caused the stewards to suspend Jockey T. Thomas for 90 days. He struck Gold Bet and grabbed that horse's equipment during the running of the fourth race today.

Gold Bet had just taken the lead and appeared a winner when he suddenly stopped, finishing next to last.

C. V. Whitney's Malaita made his first start today and won the Homestretch purse, a six furlong sprint, which featured Jefferson Park's card at New Orleans.

The son of Chicle and Tahiti came from behind to win in 1:13 and pay $7.80 for a $2 ticket in the mutuels Skobo was second and Ben Marshall third. Malaita was fourth as the field turned into the stretch, but Eugene James called on the Whitney colt, which responded gamely to win in a hard drive.

Grange Talks at Manitowoc Grid Banquet

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Manitowoc, Wis., Dec. 24.—Harold [Red] Grange was the principal speaker tonight at the athletic banquent at Manitowoc High school, and awarded letters to 23 members of the football squad which won the Fox River Valley conference championship this fall. Cross country runners, also conference champions, were awarded letters.

Grange was introduced by Prof. C. J. Stangell, principal of the school, who starred years ago at the University of Wisconsin. His talk followed short speeches by Coach Robert Lindwall of the cross country team and Coach Gordon Winder of the football squad.

Talks of Ethics.

The ethics of athletics, the part football played in fitting the country's youth for the struggle to follow school days by promoting good living, and some incidents of his own football career comprised Grange's speech.

The following were awarded football letters by Grange: Capt. Marvin Peterson, Captain Elect Kenneth Carberry, John Bacon, William Coats, Jack Egan, Vern Elsner, Florian Gorychka, Roland Johnson, Paul Kohls, Gordon Langenkamp, Harvey Mason, Dean Mory, Anton Novy, Eugene Revolinsky, Francis and Joseph Rohrer, Stanley Sweikar, Robert Teitgen, Woodrow Walker, Allen and Herman White, Alfred Williamson, and George Willott. The manager's letter went to Russell Herzog.

Eight Harriers Get Letters.

Cross country letters went to Capt. Orville O'Neil, Captain Elect Victor Trastek, Mark Mecha, Chester Clayton, Charles Frum, Ralph Larson, Louis Matte, Richard Wernecke. The manager's letter went to Francis Tuesberg.

FRANK STACK ARRIVES FOR ICE DERBY SUNDAY

A number of Chicago skating fans gathered at the North Western station yesterday to greet Frank Stack, ice champion of Illinois and western Canada, on his arrival from Fort Frances, Ontario. Stack has been practicing in Canada and is considered Chicago's hope to win the national championship, which will be contested at Wausau, Wis., Jan. 31 and Feb. 1.

Stack will meet one of the stoutest tests of his career Sunday in the Franklin Derby at Humboldt park when he will skate against 27 class A opponents in a race which is expected to narrow down to a contest between the Amphion color bearer and Oneill Farrel, another Chicago speedster. These two have never met on the ice.

GROBMIER TO MEET MARSHALL ON MAT CARD

Fred Grobmier of Iowa yesterday was signed to appear in Promoter Doc Krone's wrestling show at the Broadway armory Monday night. Grobmier, an exponent of the scissors hold, will be matched against Floyd Marshall, former California collegian. Grobmier is 6 feet 4 inches tall and weighs 198 pounds.

The feature match of the program Monday brings together Dick Shikat of Philadelphia, former champion, and George Hagen of Brooklyn. Ray Steele and Kola Kwariani will meet in the semi-windup, while another bout matches Milo Steinborn and John Katan. A fifth match, as yet not completed, rounds out the card.

Rockne Rests; Reticent as to Future Plans

Rochester, Minn., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Knute Rockne, Notre Dame football coach, welcomed his family here today for a Christmas observance far from home, and at the same time refused to reveal his plans for the future.

Mrs. Rockne, their three sons and one daughter arrived this forenoon to spend the holiday with the noted football coach, who is here for a checkup of his condition at the Mayo clinic.

Has No Definite Plans.

Asked whether the finding of his physician Tuesday that he must lead a less strenuous life would have any effect on his coaching duties at Notre Dame, he replied, "I am here resting and have no definite plans." He declined to comment further.

Although Rockne refused to reveal whether he would go to Los Angeles for a football game Saturday between Notre Dame stars and a West-South eleven, friends said he had no plans for making such a trip.

He plans to depart for South Bend, Ind., Dec. 30, after he fills a speaking engagement at a Knights of Columbus banquet here the preceding evening.

Condition Not Serious.

Christmas for the Rocknes will include a forenoon together and a dinner. In the afternoon they will go to the home of his physician, Dr. C. J. Barborka.

Dr. Barborka Tuesday said nothing serious had been found in the condition of the coach, but that phlebitis, which has bothered Rockne previously, might recur and a complete breakdown result unless he took life easier.

MYZSKA TO FACE DORAN MONDAY AT WHITE CITY

Bud Doran, Chicago heavyweight, who beat Nisse Ramm at the Stadium in his last start, will face Tony Myzska, Michigan state champion, in the eight round windup of Mike Harrison's boxing show at White City Monday night.

Patsy Pollock, Canadian welterweight champion, clashes with Joe Sharkey of Michigan in another eight round bout. They weigh 152 pounds. Frankie Le Marre, a south side favorite will face Jimmy Keenan of Chicago, in six rounds at 160 pounds.

Parks on South Side Open Their Lagoons to Skaters

Five lagoons in south side parks were yesterday opened to skaters after it was decided that the ice was frozen to a safe thickness. The lagoons opened are those in Washington park, Jackson park, Marquette park, McKinley park and Sherman park. The lagoons in Lincoln park were also open.

Iowa Swimming Tank Too Big for Big Ten Events

Iowa City, Ia., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—One of the two largest indoor tanks in the country, the University of Iowa swimming pool, is too big to be the scene of the Western conference championship meet, Big Ten coaches have decided.

If the Hawkeyes place a turning board in the middle of the tank, however, to convert the 150 foot pool into a 75 foot course, the conference meet will be held here in 1933, according to David A. Armbruster, Iowa coach.

The 1931 meet, which was sought by the Hawkeyes, was awarded to Michigan. The 1932 event will be held in the new Ohio State tank at Columbus. Regulations for the conference championships call for a 75 foot tank.

THEY SHALL NOT PASS!

The Buffalo Americans must get the puck past Goalie Sam Timmins if they wish to beat the Shamrocks at the Chicago Stadium tonight. It will be the first time the Buffalo hockey team has played here this season.

Santa Brings Titles to 13 Chicago Preps

The annual holiday list of City league championships, issued yesterday by A. H. Pritzlaff, secretary of the athletic board of control of the board of education, reveals that thirteen members of the league will divide the year's Chicago prep sport titles among them this morning.

The list also shows that no one school captured more than one championship in major sports. Lane Tech, perennial baseball champion, tucked away another diamond trophy. Lindblom, which entered the league only ten years ago but has become the best football school in the circuit, clinched its third city title by defeating Harrison in the final five weeks ago.

Wendell Phillips Cagers Win.

Wendell Phillips came nearest to scoring a double, the heavyweight basketball team taking the title in its division, while the lightweights lost to Calumet in the championship game. Senn captured the indoor senior track and field championship, and Austin, the junior. The Tilden senior team came away with the outdoor track crown, while Fenger juniors were best in their class outdoors.

Lindblom's consistent cross country team took another championship, while Englewood's swimmers took a pair of titles, the seniors scoring in the 25 yard pool class and the juniors in the 20 yard division. Schurz and Tilden shared swimming honors with Englewood. Hyde Park and Senn produced winners in tennis and golf, the south siders winning the indoor golf title and the tennis championship, while Senn's golfers won outdoors.

Crane Takes Two Titles.

Tilden took another championship when its wrestling team won, and Crane captured two by winning in soccer and fencing. Lake View produced the sharpest shots in the league to win rifle marksmanship honors. Lindblom added two more trophies to its collection by taking both gymnastic events. Tilden seniors and Austin juniors were the champion ice skaters of the league.

NAMED PRINCETON CAPTAIN.

Princeton, Ill., Dec. 27.—[Special.]—John Conant has been elected captain of the 1931 Princeton High school football team. Coach Nance has awarded letters to Newberry, Conant, Finn, Coddington, Bouxsein, Oberg, McDonald, Butts, Kasbeer, Atchison, Erickson, and Lundberg.

Former Baseball Player Pardoned by Ohio Governor

Columbus, O., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Clifford W. [Tacks] Lattimer, big league baseball player, received a Christmas pardon from Ohio penitentiary today from Gov. Cooper. Lattimer was serving life for second degree murder.

The pardon was personally presented to Lattimer by the governor.

Lattimer had been cited a hero in a break of 13 members of notorious Company K Nov. 8, 1926, when he seized a gun and went to the aid of the guards.

In the spectacular break the men rushed through the main gate and prison officials said Lattimer saved the life of Miss Amanda Thomas, daughter of Warden P. E. Thomas, when he shielded her with the gun.

Lattimer, a former member of the New York Giants, Pittsburgh Pirates and Cincinnati Reds baseball teams, was admitted to the penitentiary Jan. 7, 1925, for the slaying Nov. 24, 1924, of Charles E. Mackrodt, a fellow officer on a railroad police force.

A. A. U. BUSINESS TAKES BRUNDAGE TO NEW YORK

New York, Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Avery Brundage, president of the Amateur Athletic union and the American Olympic association, is expected here late this week to prepare for a meeting of the A. A. U. executive committee Monday afternoon when a number of matters bearing Olympic significance are to come up for disposition.

The meeting of the A. A. U. authorities will be followed by a meeting of the executive committee of the American Olympic committee Monday night when ten members of the A. O. C. executive committee are to be elected from the list of candidates submitted for consideration by each sport-governing body boasting this privilege.

The Olympic committee meeting is scheduled for the New York A. C. on Jan. 2. Another meeting of the American Olympic committee executive committee is scheduled for the Winged Foot club.

The identity of the anonymous benefactor who some time ago offered to contribute $2,000,000 to develop the A. A. U. athletic program is expected to be revealed at Monday's A. A. U. meeting. Rapid progress made in arranging details in connection with this proposed contribution has led A. A. U. officials to make possible announcement of the completed plans Monday afternoon.

Nate, Tobias to Battle in Coliseum Ring

The Coliseum club will offer a boxing card of 40 rounds next Tuesday night.

One of the eight round bouts will bring together Georgie Nate, the South Bend bantam who drew with Harry Fierro at the Coliseum a few weeks ago, and Phil Tobias of New York, at 118 pounds.

Tobias has been rated in recent selections by the National Boxing association and by Jack Dempsey as one of the leading flyweights. He holds a decision and a draw with Midget Wolgast, who fights Frankie Genaro for the world's flyweight title in New York tomorrow night. He had Wolgast on the floor three times in one fight.

Jim Mullen has matched Willie Pelligrini and Paul Dazzo in five rounds for the Italian championship of Chicago at 122 pounds. He also has billed Peewee Gale of the Gale brothers of Three Oaks, Mich., with Nick Clementi for five rounds at 118 pounds. Roy Williams will meet Jerry De Barbieux from Belgium. They will fight at 175 pounds. De Barbieux has been in this country only six week.

NEW YORK RING NOTES

New York, Dec. 24.—[Special.]—A bout between Jack Sharkey and Young Stribling is proposed as a way out of the controversial situation which threatens the heavyweight championship situation. It is understood an effort will be made, with Sharkey's consent, to induce Stribling to meet the Boston heavyweight in the Garden in February or March, with the guarantee that the winner will get a June bout against Max Schmeling for the heavyweight title. Such a bout is expected to meet with the approval of the state athletic commission which has dictated Sharkey as Schmeling's opponent without imposing any prohibition on the ex-Jacktar's fighting in the meantime. And, the bout would be calculated to attract renewed interest to Sharkey if he conquered Stribling, thus making him unquestionably the man best qualified to fight Schmeling for the title.

Max Baer, coast heavyweight youngster who bowed to the experience of Ernie Schaef in his local debut last week, will make another attempt to establish himself in the Garden on Jan. 16 if present plans materialize. Tom Heeney, New Zealand heavyweight, is being considered as Baer's opponent.

Trojans Card 10 Grid Games Next Season

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 24.—[Spesial.]—With the announcement of Director of Athletics Willis O. Hunter that the University of Georgia had been signed to play the Trojans at the Los Angeles coliseum on Dec. 12 next season, the University of Southern California now has one of the toughest schedules to be arranged by any team in 1931.

Nine hard games and only one "breather," that one coming between the Stanford game and the trip to South Bend to play Notre Dame, comprise the ten game schedule. Eight of the ten games are to be played at the local coliseum, the Trojan's home field, which in 1931 will have a capacity of more than 100,000.

The Southern California-Georgia game is expected to prove a colorful windup to the Trojans' 1931 season. Coach H. J. Mehre, a product of Notre Dame, has had a flashy eleven at the Athens institution for several seasons.

The complete schedule:

Sept. 26—St. Mary's at Los Angeles Coliseum.
Oct. 3—Oregon State at S. C.
Oct. 10.—Washington State at S. C.
Oct. 17—Oregon U. at S. C.
Oct. 24.—California at Berkeley.
Nov. 7—Stanford at L. A.
Nov. 14.—Montana at L. A.
Nov. 21—Notre Dame at South Bend.
Dec. 5—Washington U. at S. C.
Dec. 12—Georgia U. at S. C.

Pimento Cage Schedule Canceled by Player's Death

Terre Haute, Ind., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Further activities of the Pimento High school basketball squad are canceled indefinitely because of the death of Raymond Hayhurst, 20 years old. He and three other Pimento players were in an auto returning from practice yesterday when it was struck by a C. & E. I. train. One of the three injured boys also may die.

TASMANIA VS. WEST INDIES.

HOBART, Tasmania, Dec. 24.—(AP)—The West Indies cricketers began the second match with Tasmania today, the home team scoring 216 for five wickets at the close of the day's play. Nash made 53 runs and Burrows 44. West Indies won the first match, played at Launceston, by an inning and 50 runs.

CHRISTMAS TREE BRINGS MEMORIES TO WOODSMEN

Fragrance Awakes North Country Trips.

BY BOB BECKER.

Small but fragrant representatives of northern forests come into American homes today with the formal dedication of our Christmas trees. Thus this holiday has a strong sentimental connection with the big outdoors because young spruces and balsams, the two common species of trees used at Christmas time, are important types in many of our northern forests.

Of the two we prefer the balsam because it is so fragrant. You can identify this handsome little tree because its needles are so pungent and also because they grow quite flat on the stems, whereas the spruce has its needles arranged around each branch to produce a bulkier effect. Here is another difference between the two trees: The needles on a spruce are much stiffer and darker in color than those on a balsam.

Bring Back Memories.

These Christmas trees bring many north woods and playtime associations when they come into the home. Although they are typical symbols of the holiday season, the aromatic fragrance of a small balsam takes us back to canoe cruises in the far north, lonely isolated lakes filled with black bass, extraordinary fishing, snug camp sites, and deep, springy beds made from the boughs of young balsams.

Of all trees found in the north country, the balsam is the prime favorite of the camper because its branches can be so laid as to produce a very comfortable bed. When the prince of Wales made the trip down the Nippigon river a few years ago he called balsam boughs "wood feathers" and insisted upon sleeping in a bed built up with about 18 inches of small, fragrant branches.

Don't Forget Winter Birds.

The outdoorsman who has snowshoed through the north woods will look at a small spruce Christmas tree and immediately be carried back to silent spruce swamps in the Canadian wilderness because once you have seen many miles of these beautiful little trees growing thick in a swamp, each tree covered with soft snow that looks like white cake frosting—there is no forgetting the picture and this association, especially if it involved a cold north wind sighing through the forest and snowshoe rabbits vanishing like white ghosts against the snow.

Your handsome Christmas tree deserves a better fate than a toss to the rubbish pile when you have stripped the Christmas ornaments from it. Take it out in the snow, put suet, popcorn, cranberries, bread crumbs, meat bones, and other foods on the branches and turn it over to the birds. If you do this and continue to replenish the food you'll have a lot of grateful winter birds around your home.

Big 12 Preps Resume Cage Race Jan. 9

Decatur, Ill., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—The Big Twelve high school conference closed its pre-holiday schedule with Decatur, Peoria Manual, and Peoria Central leading the percentages with a victory apiece.

Lincoln was the victim of both Peoria teams, while Mattoon lost to Decatur. In last night's nonconference games the feature was Decatur's 17 to 6 victory over Johnston City. Decatur held the 1929 state championship team without a field goal.

With the loss of Urbana to Rantoul and to Spalding of Peoria all Big Twelve teams have now lost one or more games to nonconference opponents. Decatur, Springfield, Pekin, and Urbana compete in the Peoria holiday tournament, and the conference schedule will be resumed Jan. 9.

SYNOPSIS.

Chandos and his wife, Leonie, former grand duchess of Reichtenburg, are at their estate near Littal, in Austria, by George Hanbury, companion of Chandos adventures. Marya Salm, countess of Dresden, an expected guest, wires that she not come.

Paul, ruler of Reichtenburg, had hoped to marry Leonie and was incensed at marriage to Chandos. Fearing for Marya's safety, because of her friendship for Chandos and Hanbury, with their servants, Bell and Rowley, depart for Vigil, city of Reichtenburg, where Marya resides. Because of the enmity of the prince enter the country by stealth. A peasant named Ramon whom they befriend them over the border by a secret path.

They reach the home of Marya unseen and learn from her that she sent no message. the telegram was a ruse to lure them to Vigil, they are preparing to flee with when the prince appears. The men hold the prince and his servants at point of and escape in the royal car. The border is so closely guarded that crossing is possible.

Their friend Ramon agrees to hide Marya and Carol, her trusted servant, in his Chandos and Hanbury join a traveling circus. Marya sends them a message she is waiting for them in Bariche, across the border, where Carol is to take them he has waiting. They recognize the car as Grieg's, the chief of police. Arrived in Bariche they receive another message from Marya stating that she is to be but she must remain in Reichtenburg and not communicate with them.

Knowing that Marya, endeavoring to save them, has made some impossible arrangement Grieg, they return to the border. Hanbury and Rowley pass, but Chandos is captured. He proves to the inspector that Grieg has betrayed his trust. Grieg, who has of the arrest, arrives. He orders two detectives from Vigil back to prepare a cell Chandos and takes his prisoner alone in his car. Hanbury and Rowley, knowing friend's plight, post themselves along the road and hold up and capture the chief's They drive to the estate of Baron Sabre, where they find Marya. Grieg they left to a post along the roadside.

Marya tells them that she cannot leave with them as she was married that morning Grieg—her price for their freedom. Hanbury, who is in love with Marya, is stunned the news. Chandos sets out to find Grieg and kill him to free Marya. Grieg has been from his bonds, and while Chandos is searching for him he lays Rowley out and off to Baron Sabre's. Chandos and Rowley return to the Sabre estate, and while on the grounds they see a car drive up and three policemen alight. Shortly after Paul arrives. He has Grieg arrested and brought out to his car. Chandos, hiding by, hears their conversation. Grieg is forgiven when he tells the prince he has a to catch his prey that evening at the secret border pass, as well as Leonie, who meet them there. The prince departs. Chandos returns to the house. A servant him his friends have departed and expect him to join them that night at the Chandos goes back to find Rowley, who warns him in time to escape Grieg's

INSTALLMENT XXVIII.

DESTINY'S TOOLS.

We might, I suppose, have stayed where we were until dark. Indeed, we must have done so had not a strange thing happened to cut Gordian knot.

I became aware of some sound which was faintly disturbing the silence so hard to endure. It was half a rustle and half a medley of thuds after a little, swelled into the movement of bodies and the patter of feet. The next instant my nose declared the approach of a flock of

Now, goats are fearless and curious and like to inspect anything which find unusual in the hope, I suppose, of its proving fit to be eaten or some food; moreover, a wise goatherd will let them go much as please, for if he allows them some license they will generally do his without any fuss. I therefore hoped very hard that the way they going would take them close to the car, for if once they espied its work, I was sure they would not be content to pass it by. Since they approaching from behind me any such movement would be likely to me from Grieg and so would give me a chance of taking the cover which my need was so sore.

So it fell out.

The smell grew stronger, and the sound of their coming more loud. a goat walked stiffly past me and another stopped to pluck at the edge my cuff. An instant later the flock was thrusting like a wedge between and the car.

In a flash I was up and was darting between the trees.

I swung myself round a chestnut to see Rowley running, bent double, a bramble bush on his right.

As he took up his new position I swung myself onto a branch and so fork which made a natural embrasure command the car.

"My servant will take it," sanid I.

The first thing I saw was the goatherd, who was staring open mouthed a tussock of grass. After a little he addressed it. Then it dawned me that Grieg was behind the tussock and that the clown was asking what he did there. An instant later Grieg lifted a furious head.

Comedy and tragedy sometimes go cheek by jowl.

I have never seen anything more ludicrous than Grieg's rabid rejection the goatherd's ill-timed advances, unless it be the goatherd's indignation his repulse. So far from withdrawing, the latter protested with vigor what no doubt he considered a breach of good taste, wagging his finger as though reproving some urchin. When his victim moved to he actually followed him up to conclude his harangue till at last sprang to his feet, sent his tormentor sprawling, took to his heels was instantly lost to view.

As I slid down from my perch, Rowley leaped up in pursuit, but caught foot in a trailer which brought him down. By this time the goatherd roaring like any bull, so that the sound of Grieg's passage was utterly and since to follow him blindly in such a place would have been worse foolish, I shook my head at Rowley and turned the opposite way.

An instant later we crossed the drive that led to Vigil and entered the beyond.

Now it was in my mind to make for the house. Then I saw that if did not follow we should be as good as beleaguered until night fell. so long we could not wait because, whatever happened, we had to find countess and George. I therefore led the way to the point from which morning we had first surveyed the house, for this made an excellent which we could leave unobserved whenever we pleased.

There Rowley told me his tale and displayed an affecting relief to find me and unhurt. Hearing me fall he had made up his mind that I was and the fact that I made no movement confirmed this belief. He to the view that while I was on the ground I was out of Grieg's "for, sir," said he, "he's not a man to take chances and as for killing wounded, why he'd use them like stepping stones if it saved his feet wet."

"He didn't kill the goatherd," said I.

"Because he wasn't wasting a shot, sir. He's only got three rounds left."

The time was now eleven o'clock, and we were both hungry and thirsty very tired; so I bade Rowley sleep for an hour, whilst I kept watch, "and then," said I, "I'll sleep for another hour. Unless we can lay Grieg's we shall have to let the car go. And that means we must leg it— to the bridle path."

"Very good, sir," said Rowley cheerfully.

Two minutes later he was sleeping like the dead.

. . . .

I seemed to have slept for two minutes when Rowley laid a hand on arm, but when he showed me my watch it was one o'clock.

He had nothing at all to report and, after a little discussion, we crawled of sight of the mansion and started across the park. We bore southeast, this was the line which the peasant girl had taken and so, presumably, of the countess and George; but my hope of finding them was extremely and I was not at all sure that we should not do better to try to make of Grieg. I had, however, no stomach for scouring the wood, and watch as we could keep on the mansion was simple enough to elude. for all we knew, the man was already on his way to the bridle path.

We had gone perhaps half a mile when I thought that I saw some move a little way off. At once we crouched in the bracken to which we had but the movement was not repeated, and I was beginning to think my eyes were too ready to see, when the prince's dog came gamboling of a dip in the ground and an instant later the scarlet coat of his mistress in view.

I bade Rowley rise and we went to meet her at once, for I had no doubt was bearing a telegram and I meant, if I could, to contrive to see what said.

As we came near—

"I was hoping to see you," she said, "because I have found your friends. you please, I will lead you to them when I have taken this telegram to the house."

She plucked a folded paper out of her fair, white shirt.

"May I see it?" said I.

She gave it into my hand.

It was addressed to "Baron Sabre," and when I turned it about I it was carefully sealed.

"Are they all so addressed?" said I.

"Yes," she said. "They are opened by Major Grieg."

"My servant will take it," said I. "And you shall turn back and take to find my friends." I turned to Rowley and gave him the telegram. "That wire is for Major Grieg. I have told her that you will take it up to the house. Make as if you were going to, and as soon as you're out of sight, turn round and follow us. Whatever you do, don't lose us. She's going to take me to where Mr. Hanbury is."

"Very good, sir," said Rowley, and with that he touched his hat and back the way we had come.

Merry Christmas!

How many times I've wished you that! And never more sincerely than today, which, I hope, may prove the happiest Christmas you have ever had.

If you have the time, and feel in the mood for a movie, "Morocco"—down at McVicker's—is worth your while.

This is the film that features the screen debut of Marlene Dietrich, the German actress who has been hailed as the rival, and double, of Greta Garbo.

She does somewhat resemble Miss Garbo, though I think she bears a more striking resemblance to the late Jeanne Eagels; but as far as work goes she is Marlene Dietrich—HERSELF—an actress to be reckoned with and just like nobody else you know. Her work is a study in the sort of repression that says what words and gestures never can say. She is a subtle and exciting personality with a voice that does things to you. There is no sense in comparing her fascination to that of the Garbo. Each has a distinct and different quality of appeal.

Miss Dietrich didn't draw such a remarkable story in "Morocco," which is just another Foreign Legion number adapted from a play called "Amy Jolly," by Benno Vigny, but Lady Luck was with her in the matter of her leading men. She has Adolph Menjou to love her truly and hopelessly in the inimitable and sophisticated Menjou fashion. She has Gary Cooper of the hot eyes and indifferent manner as HER big moment. Mr. Menjou plays a man of the world. Mr. Cooper is a private in the Legion. The trails of the three merge in Morocco, where you meet Miss Dietrich as Amy Jolly, a vaudeville actress who has seen better days and come to this out of the way spot to sing in a cabaret.

This establishment is frequented by Legionnaires. Kennington [Mr. Menjou] is also among the patrons of the place.

What happens is something in the nature of a fantasy, but events as presented are absorbing. There is dearth of dialogue, but what is there proves tremendously effective. Miss Dietrich and Mr. Menjou know the value of hesitation before a pungent line, and young Gary Cooper operates in this piece with new and laudable finesse. Of course a laurel must be laid on the brow of Director Von Sternberg, for this production COULD easily have been cheaply melodramatic, despite its headliners and good supporting cast. Sound, sets, photography, etc., are pleasing.

There is about "Morocco" a casualness, a lack af dramatics which is, paradoxically, the height of drama.

See you tomorrow.

Ground Is Broken for "International House"

Ground was broken yesterday at the University of Chicago for a $2,000,000 project, the International house, which is to be a residence and club for foreign students. It is being financed by John D. Rockefeller Jr., who has financed similiar buildings in New York City and Berkeley, Cal. Vice President Frederic Woodward and other university administrators participated in yesterday's ceremonies. The site of the project is that of the old Del Prado hotel, 59th street and Blackstone avenue, facing the Midway.

Jack and Jill Players.

The Jack and Jill players will present two performances this week-end at the Chicago Woman's Club theater Saturday afternoon, at 2:30, "Indian Chief," and Sunday afternoon at 2:30, three one act plays, "Lil Black Heliothrope," "Wee Willie Winkle," and "The Birthday of the Infanta."

Mary Garden Acts in Two Operas for Christmas Eve

BY EDWARD MOORE.

"Le Jongleur de Notre Dame" and "La Navarraise," one of Jules Massenet's best operas and one of a considerably lower flight, coupled themselves together last night as the Christmas eve offering of the Civic Opera company. To make the reason of the combination plainer, Mary Garden took the leading part in both, appearing for the first time here as Anita in the second work.

It has been quite a number of years since Miss Garden gave the Chicago public of her characterization of Jean in "Le' Jongleur." It has always been one of the loveliest, if by all odds the least sensational, in all her long gallery of rôles. One of the few operas with not the slightest intrusion of sex, it glorifies wistful, boyish piety, and in so doing it becomes quite as beautiful as the medieval legend from which its story is drawn. Massenet wrote music of the folk and of the church with the warmth of inspiration and with the restraint of a true artist.

It was quite as charming last night, even though the tempos were a bit leisurely and though Miss Garden a good part of the time discarded many of the habits of conventional vocalism. She made a character, however, which in this case transcended the rules of bel canto.

Elsewhere in the performance there was good vocalism and good characterization, in at least two instances to be found in the same persons. One of these was the wholly admirable prior as sung and acted by Chase Baromeo. Another was the part of the cook as done by Cesare Formichi, with its greatly appreciative if somewhat gluttonous song about food in the first act and the beautiful and this time spiritual legend of the sagebrush in the second. Both of these were first class performances by Mr. Baromeo.

The quarrel among the four artist-monks, sung by Theodore Ritch, Robert Ringling, Antonio Nicolich, and Desiré Defrere, was amusingly presented. Charles Lauwers conducted.

"La Navarraise" represents an attempt, a rather ill advised one, on the part of Massenet to write in the manner of what used to be called verismo. Here Miss Garden retained Mr. Defrere and Mr. Ritch in the cast, but made a change of the others to Jean Vieulle, Edouard Cotreuil, René Maison, and several boxes of cartridges, with Emil Cooper conducting.

Offhand one would say that one of the chief requirements for the rôle of Anita is a loud voice, which is what Miss Garden does not possess, although she did her best to remedy the deficiency, almost to the point of a touch of hoarseness. But the part also calls upon her to release a marvelous amount of nervous excitement, one of her marked gifts in operatic performances, and this she did with great effect.

THE STAGE

THE Blackstone theater will begin a new régime Jan. 11 after George M. Cohan has completed his current engagement in "The Tavern." Harry J. Powers and his associates of the Erlanger interests will relinquish the lease under which they have managed this distinguished playhouse for the last twenty years. The Blackstone company, its owners, will then assume its direction.

Tracy C. Drake, president of the Blackstone company, announced yesterday that the old policy of the theater will be continued. He has already arranged for the booking of a play whose engagement will begin immediately after Mr. Cohan's departure. He has, moreover, formed an affiliation with an eastern manager for the staging of new plays. The Blackstone company will "produce" for its theater as well as book touring companies of the first class. The change of management thus implies a régime of creativeness at the Blackstone.

Mr. Drake said yesterday:

"The Blackstone will be in a strategic position to enter the producing field and will doubtless exert an influence in fulfilling the old dream of Chicago's becoming a theatrical producing center. For the last twenty-five years or more Chicago theater managers have been content with booking such productions as happened to be available for 'the road.' Under our management the Blackstone will give Chicago playgoers some genuine first nights. When we book plays, however, we will follow the policy that has given the Blackstone its reputation."

The Theater Guild has indicated that the Blackstone may continue to be the scene of its Chicago subscription seasons. That, however, is a matter to be adjusted between the Guild and the Erlanger interests in New York. The present business organization of the Blackstone will continue, with Edwin Wappler as manager.

"Bird in Hand," John Drinkwater's comedy, easily recalled from its engagement of a year ago, will return to Chicago Monday night, Jan. 5, for an engagement at the Princess theater. It will be acted by an English cast including Daphne Warren Wilson, Olga Slade, Walter Edwin, Ronald Dare, Eliot Makeham, John Warburton, Frank Petley, Arthur Ridley, and Gwen Lowry.

"Berkeley Square," with Leslie Howard and Margalo Gillmore as its leading players, will give its first Chicago performance at the Selwyn theater tonight. The engagement is limited to three and a half weeks, or twenty-one night performances. This play was rated by Burns Mantle as among the "ten best" of the past year. The cast includes two actresses of Chicago backgrounds—Louise Prussing and Alice John. C. C.

TRIBUNE READERS ADD TO HOLIDAY BY HELPING OTHERS

Through the efforts of Sally Joy Brown more than fifty women will receive Christmas dinners and Christmas money in exchange for helping some family during at least part of the day. About fifty men and women have received a little money for Christmas day by jobs, obtained through her efforts, for work done on the two days preceding Christmas.

All of these jobs, said Miss Brown, were created by persons who wished to make some one's else Christmas merrier by offering work.

Miss Brown is in charge of THE TRIBUNE'S department which aids unemployed by turning over to the Illinois Free Employment agency, 116 North Dearborn street, jobs provided by TRIBUNE readers.

Mrs. E., who lives in the 4700 block Woodlawn avenue, wrote to Miss Brown yesterday. She said she had read in Saturday's TRIBUNE of a Mr. G., who was having a difficult time in getting a job. He was unmarried and all doors appeared closed to him. A former army man, he had registered with the employment agency. She asked Sally Joy Brown to invite the man to her home for Christmas dinner. He need not feel embarrassed, she said, as there would be three other unemployed persons there. She inclosed $1 for carfare.

Miss Brown received a call yesterday from a girl who several months ago had appealed to her for a job or help. A young deserted mother, with a baby, she was in tears then. Her baby she had put in a boarding house, but, having no money to pay for the baby's keep, the woman who ran the house had threatened to turn the baby over to an orphanage.

Yesterday this girl said: "I am having the first real Christmas I have ever had in my life."

A TRIBUNE employé had hired the girl in his home. His wife found her excellent help, the best they had ever known, he said. From day work there she went to full time work. Today her baby and the two young children of her employer will share a tree, and all will receive presents from the tree she helped trim.

Mrs. G., in the 2500 block on Logan boulevard, will provide a woman with a Merry Christmas today by paying her 50 cents an hour for helping her in the house.

Mrs. Q., in the 1200 block on Elmdale avenue, volunteered the same. Mrs. S., in the 4800 block on North Hermitage avenue, did likewise.

Five dollars for four hours' work was what was offered by Mrs. S., living in the 2500 block on Sheridan road, for the benefit of an unemployed woman. Mrs. H., in the 1400 block on Winnemac avenue, asked for a woman to come in on Christmas day to help, saying she would pay 50 cents and hour, and adding that toys and clothes would be given her for her children.

Mrs. B., in the 3000 block on Leland avenue, will pay $1 an hour to the woman who is sent by the employment agency to help her with Christmas festivities in her home. Mrs. D., in the 5500 block on Quincy street, will pay $4 to a woman sent by the agency to help her cook and serve Christmas dinner.

Many other jobs were offered through Sally Joy Brown yesterday, including one for a chimney sweeper in the 1100 block on West Randolph street; a waitress, wanted for tomorrow in the 1900 block on East Seventy-first street, and one for a man to mount a Christmas tree on a standard and carry it in a home. A Mr. K., in the First National bank building, paid a young boy $1.50 to deliver one package, and a woman in the 5900 block on North Paulina street offered $2 to a woman to wash dishes following today's Christmas dinner.

Daughter of Nebraska's Governor Wed in Lincoln

Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Miss Maude Harriet Weaver, eldest daughter of Gov. and Mrs. Arthur J. Weaver, tonight became the bride of Harlin G. Hutchins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Hutchins of Falls City, Neb. It was the second wedding ceremony to take place in the executive mansion.

The bride is a former student of the University of Nebraska. There she was a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority. She also attended the University of Washington. Mr. Hutchins was graduated by the University of Nebraska and is a member of Phi Gamma Delta.

Free Dinners Add to Cheer for Christmas

Poor Share in Other Features of Day.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Christmas was being celebrated throughout Chicago yesterday and last night. Baskets were being delivered to the poor, Christmas trees were bearing their fruit of gifts, and the effort to provide a hearty Christmas for the unemployed and hard up was much greater than in ordinary years.

The first of 3,000 baskets was given out yesterday morning by the Volunteers of America at the headquarters, 2841 West Washington street, by Maj. Gen. Wilton J. Foreman. Each basket contained food for six or seven persons, including a rolled roast of beef.

Santa Claus appeared early in the Coliseum. There the Salvation Army distributed Christmas baskets and toys to 5,000 needy families. Into them went chicken, potatoes, coffee, apples, oranges, fruit cake, bread, peas, soup, milk, sugar and candy. The Coliseum today will be the scene of a Christmas dinner given to 3,000 homeless men by the Salvation Army.

The Maxwell street police station dispensed Christmas cheer to the hungry poor of the ghetto in the form of 125 baskets of food, the gift of merchants of the South Water market. Each basket contained six chickens. The merchants who gave them insisted six were not too many. A roast, potatoes, bread, milk and vegetables also were included.

Lieut. Morris Wall and his chauffeur, Sergt. Lawrence Mangan, loaded the baskets into the station flivver and delivered the food to families whose names were provided by churches in the neighborhood.

In the neighborhood of 30th and South Halsted streets the Kenwood Social Service club distributed a truckful of baskets and clothing.

Mrs. James Pappas of 2219 Greenleaf avenue, Rogers Park, will give a charity dinner to fifty children of the Mount Olivet institute today at her husband's lunchroom, 616 West North avenue, with toys for each.

Two hundred Christmas baskets were distributed to needy families in the Shakespeare avenue police district, the food being purchased by Capt. James J. Fleming and officers and policemen of the station.

A new radio system was started at the county jail in the afternoon in time to broadcast Christmas carols and other Christmas programs to the prisoners, Warden David Moneypenny announced. A microphone permits the broadcasting of alarms or general orders from the warden's office, in addition. The new set includes thirty-six loud speakers. It was the gift of the General Electric company, he said.

P. A. Nash, Democratic committeeman of the Twenty-eighth ward, announced that he had given $2,500 in checks to the heads of 300 poor families in the ward. The names were provided by precinct captains in the ward.

At the free soup kitchen at 935 South State street, said to be financed by Al Capone, turkey, cranberry sauce and a full Christmas dinner, as well as a tree, were scheduled for today.

Ald. Arthur F. Albert of the Forty-third ward, and Mrs. Albert, distributed more than 200 baskets to needy families in that ward. Each basket, Mrs. Albert explained, was arranged to feed a family of five for one week.

State Representative John M. Bolton distributed 600 baskets to the poor of the near west side.

M. J. Connelly, head of the Eighth Ward National Republicans, a Deneen organization, distributed 200 baskets to the poor of that ward from 7451 Cottage Grove avenue.

More baskets were given away at 2062 Flournoy street by the Judge Bonelli Boosters.

A sandwich day inaugurated two weeks ago by the Glencoe Parent-Teacher's association, in which each child of a member was asked to bring one or more sandwiches, Tuesday netted more than 8,000 sandwiches, which were delivered to the Northwestern Settlement house, Noble and Augusta streets. The association also delivered a truckload of toys. Mrs. Barton Hackett and Mrs. R. W. Clark were co-chairmen of the committee.

Board of education superintendents, supervisors and other employés in the building at 460 South State street, yesterday celebrated with a Christmas party. Supt. William J. Bogan acted as a Santa Claus, delivering gifts.

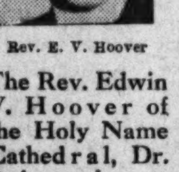
"Christmas Chimes"

At 1 o'Clock

Erna Phillips tells another Christmas story that you will want to hear—a touching tale of a little boy who had little to give but gave that willingly. Its sentiment will enkindle a spirit of gratitude and leave an afterglow of charm.

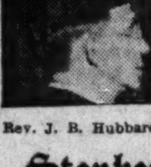
The Meaning of Christmas

This afternoon from 2:30 to 3 o'clock representatives of three religions will address the radio audience.



Rev. E. V. Hoover

Dr. Abraham Hirschberg



Rev. J. B. Hubbard

The Rev. Edwin V. Hoover of the Holy Name Cathedral, Dr. Abraham Hirschberg of the Temple Sholom, and the Rev. John B. Hubbard of St. Luke's Episcopal Church, Evanston, share this half hour.

Stephen Foster's Christmas

Alfred G. Wathall, W-G-N staff composer, has prepared a special program depicting Christmas night in the days of Stephen Foster. Robert Ball plays the role of Foster and the W-G-N Symphony Orchestra, directed by Mr. Wathall, provides the musical background.

Bernie Barbour Ensemble

Ten glorious voices, under the direction of Bernie Barbour, provide a half hour of Christmas Carols this evening at 5:15.

East and Dumke

The "Sisters of the Skillet" meet this afternoon to discuss several things. Members in good standing are invited to this special session during which the officers will announce some new recipes that satisfactorily dispose of the leftover turkey problem. At 1:45.

Katherine Brayak

sings Christmas carols from the old world this afternoon. She offers a half hour program of Croatian melodies.

3 to 3:30

Harold Teen

"Holy smoke, if you're as full of turkey, stuffin', cranberries an' candy as I am you must feel like ya never want to look food in the face again. Gee, but I got some swell presents and ya oughta see the swell melodion the gang gave Pop Jenks."

HUNT SOURCE OF RUMORS WHICH CRIPPLED BANK

Plot Suspected in New York Case.

New York, Dec. 24.—[Special.]—The attorney general, the district attorney and the superintendent of banks moved today to learn the source of the rumors of insolvency which caused the run on the Chelsea Bank and Trust company, resulting in the closing of that bank yesterday.

Charges of an organized conspiracy of rumor have been made by attorneys for the Chelsea bank and the Bank of the United States, which was closed by the banking department on Dec. 11.

Concerning himself with external influences which were the direct cause of the Chelsea closing rather than with the internal affairs of the bank, Assistant Attorney General Watson Washburn has subpoenaed the records and accounts of a dozen brokerage firms dealing in bank stocks.

He is seeking the source of the rumors about the Chelsea bank. They spread with great rapidity and even before the run started the financial world and most newspaper offices had heard reports that there would be a run on the Chelsea bank.

From the brokerage records Mr. Washburn hopes to discover what deals have been made in Chelsea stocks since Dec. 16. He will direct particular attention to the investigation of large deals in that stock. It is possible that he may uncover some general design to depress the price of bank stocks. Active bank stocks fell in price when the Chelsea was closed, as they had earlier declined with the closing of the Bank of the United States.

H. E. Allen, Division Head for Rock Island, Is Dead

Friends in Chicago last night were advised of the death on Tuesday night of H. E. Allen, superintendent of the Dakota division of the Rock Island Lines, while en route from Hot Springs, Ark., to his home at Estherville, Ia. Mr. Allen was 61 years old and his death follows a prolonged illness. He entered the service of the Rock Island in 1904. He is survived by his widow and one son.

LEGGE SUGGESTS AN EMBARGO ON FOREIGN WHEAT

Washington, D. C., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—A possible embargo on wheat importation to protect American price levels has been suggested by Chairman Alexander Legge of the federal farm board in a letter to Senator Arthur Capper [Rep., Kas.], who made public the letter today.

Senator Capper stated that if the differential between domestic and foreign wheat prices becomes much greater, he will be willing to sponsor an embargo resolution, which was suggested as it represents a speedier means of action than raising the duty on wheat which is now 42 cents a bushel.

PARESIS CURE BY MALARIAL FEVER GERM ASSERTED

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Details of how victims of paresis are being cured in a large percentage of cases by malarial fever innoculation were disclosed here tonight by Dr. Max A. Bahr, superintendent of the Central State Hospital for the Insane.

Of the 240 patients treated since Aug. 14, 1925, when use of the malarial germ was first instituted as a treatment for paresis, 29 per cent have been cured and discharged from the institution to return to their former occupations.

Patients still in the hospital, many of them much improved, make up 40 per cent of the total number treated. Death in or following the malarial treatment accounted for the other 31 per cent. In the latter division death was in no case due to the innoculated malaria, Dr. Bahr said.

Complete cure of paresis can be anticipated only when treatment of the patient is initiated in early stages of the disease, Dr. Bahr's experiments have shown. A large percentage of the inmates were received and treated after they had reached the second or third stage of the disease and this accounts for a large part of the number who have not recovered, Dr. Bahr explains. In a majority of these cases, again, a halting of the ravages of the disease has been noted.

In most cases improvement is apparent four to six weeks after treatment is begun and the patient is kept ill of malaria as long as such treatment is regarded necessary. The malaria may be cured at any time by quinine.

EXPLORER DIES OF HARDSHIP ON TRIP TO "SECRET CITY"

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Dec. 24.—A young French explorer, Michel Vieuchange, died at the Atlas mountain post of Tiznit as the result of hardships and fatigues he underwent on an expedition to the mysterious city of Smara in the unexplored and dangerous country of Rio de Oro, according to word received from Casa Blanca.

Vieuchange left with two native guides on the hazardous journey into a district where aviators making forced landings have often been held for ransome by fierce bandit tribesmen. Disguised as a native woman, he set out on Sept. 10 and reached the oasis of Draa without incident. He induced two skillful natives of the inner country to accompany him. They started with two camels and supplies, but were attacked by a band of outlaws and obliged to make wide detours. They finally reached Smara, capital of barbaric bandits.

It is understood Vieuchange was able to visit the city, making a map of its streets and the location, as well as to take numerous photographs. On the return journey Vieuchange suffered great hardships and his guides were forced to abandon him.

NOTABLES HEAR LAST TRIBUTE TO CHAS. K. HARRIS

New York, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Tin Pan alley closed its pianos today and hushed its professional rooms to bury Charles K. Harris, who was one of its pioneers and its immortals.

As a climax to the funeral services the strains of "Somewhere," one of his own songs, floated through the Riverside Memorial chapel.

More than 700 Broadway troubadours and their publishers attended the services, including John Philip Sousa, Gus Edwards and Irving Berlin.

The assemblage heard Rabbi Nathan Krass declare that Harris' music would live on. Many of those who heard those words were scarcely able to whistle when Charles Harris achieved fame with one song, "After the Ball."

He was an obscure banjo teacher in Milwaukee when he wrote that song in 1893, at 28 years.

More than 3,000,000 copies of "After the Ball" were sold in the first three years.

Food Talk.

The roast goose has been downed with many "Ohs" and "Ahs" of delight. As darkness falls the memory of a Christmas dinner is all that is left or should be left of the bountiful feast. If the family didn't eat too much dinner thoughts of a "little" supper are bound to creep in. The Christmas night supper should be quite light. After a big dinner it is unwise to further tax the stomach with a hearty supper. The leftover goose will keep for tomorrow and the next day if you wish it to.

Practically all we need serve for a Christmas night supper is some sandwiches or cake and a beverage. Sandwiches may be of any type from cold sliced goose on rye bread to cream cheese on brown bread. Do not have them too fussy, but plain and wholesome. The Christmas fruit cake should be eaten at this time rather than with the dinner. A small piece of cake is sufficient with a sandwich. The beverage, of course, may be anything from milk to wassail. However, I think that a delicious cup of Russian chocolate is the fitting climax to a light meal. It is simply prepared and the good rich flavor of the beverage places it in the foremost ranks.

To prepare Russian chocolate you will need 5 tablespoonfuls cocoa, 5 tablespoonfuls sugar, ⅛ teaspoon salt, ½ cup hot water, 2½ cups hot milk, and 1½ cups good strong hot coffee. Blend the cocoa, sugar and salt together thoroughly. Add the hot water and cook until smooth. Add the hot milk and hot coffee. Mix well. This drink, to retain the fullest amount of aroma and flavor, should be served immediately. It is at the same time invigorating because of the coffee, and nutritious and wholesome because of the milk. Four cups of hot chocolate are made with this recipe. Whipped cream or a marshmallow may be used for a garnish. They add a pleasing note of contrast and do not in any way detract from the flavor.

CODFISH CROQUETTES.

2 cups raw sliced potatoes.
1 egg.
1 teaspoon butter.
Pepper to taste.

Wash the fish thoroughly in cold water and pick it to pieces. Cook with potatoes in boiling water. Drain, mash and add butter and pepper. Beat the egg and stir it into the other ingredients. Roll into balls and put on ice to become firm. Put in a frying basket and fry in deep fat about one minute, or until a light brown. Drain on waxed paper and serve with bacon.

Yield: 6 servings.

Christmas Trees, Reunions, Songs Make Day Gay

BY THALIA

CHRISTMAS apparently is making up in spirit this year for what it lacks in the way of substance.

[illegible] hear on all sides that there is [illegible] of the lavish giving of gifts that [illegible] has been in recent years . . . [illegible] society's Christmas stocking con[illegible] comparatively modest remembrances for the grownups and toys for the children, of course—but no expensive motors, no fur wraps, and [illegible] no jewels at all. Everybody [illegible] been doing as much as possible [illegible] way of charity, and most people are having a real, old fashioned [illegible] of a family Christmas day.

Most of the fashionable households have been aroused early this morning by the children's excited pilgrimage to the fireplace or the Christmas tree to see what Santa Claus left. I have a pretty good idea that [illegible] Winterbotham, whose stocking was hung up with proper ceremony last night, found the microscope he has been craving so he can get a good look at some fine germs. [illegible] grandmother, Mrs. John R. Winterbotham, and Mrs. Winterbotham, and Mrs. Winterbotham Bu[illegible] and her children will be at [illegible] house for Christmas dinner.

[illegible] Get German Toys [illegible] Their Grandmother.

The William S. Covington and the [illegible] Sibolt children discovered that grandmother Morse sent her order to Santa Claus for some toys for them when she was in Germany last fall, and the Graham Aldis' twins, and [illegible] Cornelia and Graham, are blissful with a wide assortment of dolls and games, etc. The Aldises and the [illegible] oldest children are having Christmas dinner with Mrs. Aldis' father, [illegible] Keeley, at his apartment at the Ambassador East.

Cici and Joan Hill are, I can imagine, in the seventh heaven of bliss, and are sorry for all the little girls whose fathers aren't architects and whose mothers aren't in the interior decorating business. Sometime after they went to bed last night Santa managed to smuggle into the Boyd [illegible] apartment the most magnificent doll house—big enough to stand in—that any little girl ever dreamed of. It's made to Mr. Hill's specifications, and the ruffled Celanese curtains and the flowered wallpaper look suspiciously as though mother had had a hand in their making. It's painted, on the outside, to look as though it were a real English stone cottage with shutters, and even a rain barrel and a flower bed in the front. Grandmother Sanborn telephoned to the [illegible] workshop and arranged about the furnishings, and Aunt Ruth and Uncle Allen Hill sent small blankets and comforters. And besides, Cici's and Joan's nurse, Mary, gave them a lovely hobby horse.

Some Christmas Trials, but Mostly About Festivities.

The John F. Jelke Jr. family has to make a pretty valiant effort to be merry, because three of their young ones are just getting over colds, and Johnny is in the hospital with scarlet fever. Mrs. Jelke's father and stepmother, the Charles E. Clarkes of Rye, N. Y., are here to spend Christmas with them, but they won't have any one else for dinner, because the house is under quarantine until Saturday.

The trials of scarlet fever may be slightly alleviated for Johnny because among other things, he received the Boy Scout knife which was his fondest wish.

Relatives of the Harry Streets' debutante daughters always give them presents just alike, and so they have a pretty collection of girlish things in duplicate. The Streets have an apartment in town for the winter, but they'll go out to Winnetka for today.

There are a lot of remembrances for Senator Lewis waiting for him when he gets back to the Ambassador East because he's traveling about in the southwest, and Mrs. Lewis thought it would be impossible to forward anything but letters and telegrams to him.

Mexican Opera Star to Sing After Dinner.

Mrs. Lewis is having a middle of the day dinner at Mrs. Jacob Baur's and this evening she will be one of 26 guests at the dinner Col. and Mrs. R. R. McCormick are giving. After the McCormick dinner, there will be a musical with a marvelous Mexican singer from the Mexican grand opera as the soloist, and Mrs. McCormick has invited about 150 more friends in to hear the music. Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick is going to the party.

The Harold A. Howards and the Edward A. Cudahys are each going to have two Christmas dinners. The Cudahys will go out to the country for the day with the Caughan Spalding family, and will dine this evening with the Frank Wilhelms. Mr. and Mrs. Howard are to have a mid-day dinner with the I. Newton Perrys, Mr. Howard's nephew and niece, and another Yule feast this evening at the D. Mark Cummingses.

The Perrys are having only the Howards besides their immediate family, for dinner today. Last night, they went to the Walter S. Brewster's annual family Christmas eve gathering. Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine had a family dinner party last night at her apartment, and will drive out to Lake Forest early this morning to be with the Philip D. Armours and their children.

Decorations for Dance Done by Mrs. J. A. Carpenter.

Mrs. John Alden Carpenter was responsible for the lovely Christmas decorations in the Blackstone ballroom last night for the ball Miss Gwetholyn Jones gave for her godchild, Miss Constance Hasler. The balcony rail was festooned with tinsel and huge rosettes of red satin. Christmas tapers glowed in tall candelabra placed in back of the railing and the tall ballroom windows were shrowded in red satin. Miniature red and silver Christmas trees ornamented the tables in the adjoining room, where supper was served.

Miss Hasler received with her mother, Mrs. Edward L. Hasler. The debutante wore a silver cloth dress with a tunic bordered in white fur and held a spray of mistletoe instead of the usual bouquet. Her mother wore turquoise blue lace. Her cousin, Miss Eleanor Coonley, who came on from New York for the ball, wore an aquamarine satin gown.

This evening, after countless turkeys and much cranberry sauce and mince pie has been consumed many fashionables will go to the opera, and the theater, and later in the evening to the Solomon A. Smith debut ball for Miss Caroline at the Blackstone. For the young folk there is a junior ball at the Opera club, too, for which lots of reservations have been made, and also the dinner-dance at the Palmer house that Mrs. Moissant Griffiths is giving for her daughter, Gloria.

Debutantes Among Features of the G. F. Swifts' Party.

The Gustavus F. Swift family dinner will be a gay one with many young people of varying ages and several debutantes, and the George J. Cookes will have a good big group of children and grandchildren with them.

At George W. Dixon's party which will be a combined Christmas dinner and christening party for his grandson, Stanley Dixon Zaring, there will be 35, not counting the numerous children.

The Ernest R. Grahams, who make a lot of the Christmas festivities, have entirely foregone the exchanging of gifts in their family this year, and instead made up a generous purse amongst them to provide Christmas turkey and cheer for a family of 11 needy children. The Grahams, their son, and Mrs. Graham's sisters, Mrs. Garrett Spitzer of Toledo, and Miss Anna Fitziu, are having their Christmas celebration across the lake at their country place at New Buffalo, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy R. Marquardt of Wilmette announce the engagement of their daughter, Edith Harriet Marquardt, to Robert Walshaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Walshaw of 7637 Bosworth avenue. Miss Marquardt attended Frances Shimer school, and Mr. Walshaw, Allan Glen's school and Glasgow university.

"Girls Out of Ark" Attract Dancing Boys

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"Mae" reports that when she and her sister and her girl friend go to a dance they sit out almost the entire evening. It isn't because they're not good looking enough. Without conceit, Mae affirms they measure up well. But when they see some of the girls that look "as if they came out of the ark" cop the men, they get mighty disgusted.

And right here we must intercept to suggest that the girls just out of the ark would bear study. They must have a system, regardless of their style.

"We're just as sociable as we can be," Mae insists for herself and company. "But it seems you do not get anywhere by being a good listener, or smiling, etc."

Well, not on the dance floor, Mae. You've got to be more than a good listener and smiler there. You need nimble feet and a light, gracefully swaying figure. I don't know if you need to have the dental requisites for a good smile, for as I look on dancing floor scenes I am mightily impressed with the serious faces of the dancers. Dancing seems to be the business of the moment, with no distracting conversatioon, humorous or straight. I may be wrong about that. It just looks that way to an outsider looking on.

Mae falls back upon the old bromidic defense about the wild ones gathering the dance floor plums. In fact, she and her relative and pal are seriously thinking of going wild. Which wouldn't do them a particle of good, even if the charge that the wild ones are the favorites were true. It's something else they lack beside wildness. Something they've got to find out for themselves. There's some charm, some grace lacking that even the wild ones possess, beside their wildness.

The joy of life expressed in face and dress and nimble feet is what male youth asks for dance floor companionship. No sour tongued comments on how other girls look are wanted. No "being disgusted" about anything or anybody. That's the trick that the girls on the dance floor sidelines must learn before they're permitted the freedom of the floor with charming partners.

At the Goodman

KAREN N. STEVENSON.

The Goodman theater, having acquired Karen Nielsen Stevenson to play the rôle of Madame Arkadina in Tchekov's "The Sea Gull," sends a bit about her career. She played in Denmark some years ago, and came to this country to study American theater work during the summer. She found there was no market for her particular kind of work, and so she quickly learned English and was given a part opposite Douglas Fairbanks in "A Gentleman from Mississippi."

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Mrs. Patrick J. Hurley, wife of the secretary of war, gave a luncheon today in honor of Mrs. Harry Burgess, wife of the governor of the Canal Zone. She, with the governor, is visiting in Washington.

Mrs. Edward E. Ayer of Chicago is spending this week at the Mayflower. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Piez of Chicago arrived here yesterday to spend Christmas in Washington.

America Says "Merry Christmas" to Her Children

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

To all the readers of this column—
Whether they have children—
Or love children—
Or like to read about them—
A Very Merry Christmas.

There's something vastly thrilling when a nation declares itself for children. As the White House Conference for Child Health and Protection opened in Washington on Nov. 19, and I sat in that great hall and saw that selected audience of men and women who spend their lives working for children, turn its face toward President Hoover when he rose to address them, it seemed as if the hearts and minds of all America were saying: "We are for children—their present happiness and health and their future well being."

What could be of more interest today, then, than to hear again those parts of President Hoover's speech which came closest to the American home—those parts which show the father's background. He said:

"We approach all problems of childhood with affection. Theirs is the province of joy and good humor. They are the most wholesome part of the race, the sweetest, for they are the freshest from the hands of God.

"Whimsical, ingenious, mischievous, we live a life of apprehension as to what their opinion may be of us; a life of defense against their terrifying energy; we put them to bed with a sense of relief and a lingering of devotion.

"We envy the freshness of adventure and discovery of life; we mourn over the disappointments they will meet."

Could any statement be more human? And then, "After we have determined every scientific fact, after we have erected every public safeguard, after we have constructed every edifice for education or training or hospitalization or play, yet all these things are but a tithe of the physical, moral and spiritual gifts which motherhood gives and home confers."

And last: "The passion of the American fathers and mothers is to lift children to higher opportunities than they have themselves enjoyed."

Fatigue Results in Susceptibility to Frequent Colds

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

I approach the subject of colds with trepidation, because I have received a few good bawlings out for treading on medical premises by introducing that subject in a beauty column. But I ask you, what can do more to disrupt beauty in one fell swoop than a cold?

Each one of us has known a time when we'd willingly pass up a "date" occasion rather than appear the way we looked because of the beauty inroads of a cold. You go to bed one night looking your pleasant self and awake to confront a creature who sets you to wondering how she ever got into the family. So devastatingly quick are the cold's destructive habits. And the face in the mirror doesn't hedp one's spirits any.

Certainly, when one feels the aches rising in the bones and the nose going sniffly, the good old medical advice about taking to bed for a couple of days cannot be beaten. But the reason the topic is introduced here again today is due to a note that has just come out of Barnard college calling attention to the fact that overfatigue results in a susceptibility to frequent colds, and the fact that Barnard health authorities advocate frequent rest periods to avoid the condition of fatigue.

The Barnard theory is that, being a New York college, the students face the matter of overfatigue from the incessant rush and strain of city life and indoor living. Now, the rush and strain of city life and indoor living is in nowise confined to a student body. It is a universal complaint among young women, workers particularly.

Winter is the big party season and the girl with a taste for dancing is likely to be on the go night after night with little respite from her work and dancing activities. Dancing is fine and I only wish that more girls could be privileged to enjoy more dancing dates—but there is that little thing of overfatigue to be considered by the popular ones. It's pretty hard on a constitution, both health and beauty, to work indoors all day, to dance indoors every evening or every other evening. Presently such a girl is living largely on her nerves, keyed up abnormally and sometimes, regrettably, taking to stimulants to help her through an evening.

I am just trying to give a little friendly tip to have your fun, for you need it in your life as much as you need food and a job—but do try to avoid the overfatigue that will put you on the runny-nose, bleary-eyed list.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Curtiss James will give a dinner dance at their home on Saturday evening for Miss Mary Schumacher, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Schumacher.

Mrs. Reginald De Koven will give a dinner followed by a soirée on Christmas night at her residence.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gilbert Miller and Mr. and Mrs. H. Williamson Pell gave a tea dance today at the Apawamis club, Rye, for their respective daughters, Miss Ethyl Saltonstall Miller and Miss Angeline Pell.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Templeton Parson of 1071 Fifth avenue are entertaining their relatives, Mrs. C. W. Gasque and Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Robinson, who arrived on the Olympic.

Dr. and Mrs. Stanley P. Woodard and Stanley D. Woodard have left for Pinehurst to remain through the holiday season.

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U S Patent Office.]

WOMAN'S OR MISS' DRESS.

This one piece dress with the abruptly flaring hem has the skirt slit and circular godets are inserted at the front and back, which give a beautiful flare to the hem. The bodice is given a molded line through the pin inverted tucks, while the cowl neckline is new and becoming. Canton faille crêpe, velvet, wool crêpe, and crêpe marocain are appropriate materials.

The pattern, 2669, comes in sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3¾ yards of 39 inch material with ½ yard of 27 inch contrasting.

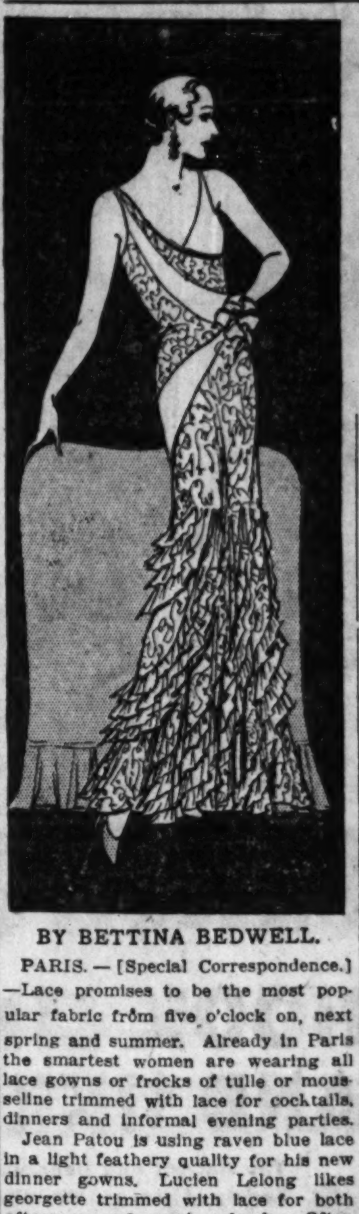
Paris Prefers Lace After Five o'Clock



BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Lace promises to be the most popular fabric from five o'clock on, next spring and summer. Already in Paris the smartest women are wearing all lace gowns or frocks of tulle or mousseline trimmed with lace for cocktails, dinners and informal evening parties.

Jean Patou is using raven blue lace in a light feathery quality for his new dinner gowns. Lucien Lelong likes georgette trimmed with lace for both afternoon and evening frocks. Often he makes them with elbow sleeved jackets to match, so that they can do double duty. He shows more formal frocks all in white lace and the most charming debutante's evening gown of the season is his Nile green tulle that is entirely covered by rows of infinitely narrow Valenciennes edging picked out with tiny gold beads.

These lace and tulle frocks are just as practical as they are light and becoming, for in them one always feels sufficiently dressed up but never overdressed.

The evening gown, sketched above, is from Lucile, Ltd. M. Rossi makes it of red allover lace and red tulle. The princess top, molding the figure to eight inches above the knees, is of the red lace. The red tulle makes one shoulder and is also incrusted in the body of the dress in devious, slenderizing lines. The lower skirt of the lace is cut circular and is hugely wide. It is trimmed with groups of narrow ruffles of the red tulle mounted in diagonal curves, and the whole effect is extraordinarily light and pretty. A huge red velvet rose is worn debonnairely on the left hip and the slippers are also in red velvet.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

K. P.: DRY SHAMPOOS MAY BE had twice a week if the hair is quite oily. Corn meal or orris root [powdered] may be used. Allow it to remain on the hair a half hour, then brush it out thoroughly. Shampooing instructions may be had for a stamped addressed envelope.

F. T.: EGG SHAMPOOS MAY BE given to every kind of hair occasionally. Properly given they make the hair soft and glossy.

CHICAGO STOCK MARKET PRICES MOVE SLOWLY

Swift International Near Year's High.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Flashes of strength by one or two stocks relieved an otherwise drab market on the Chicago exchange yesterday. Trading moved slowly throughout the session.

Swif International broke out of its early fractional price range to close at 37, within two points of its year's high. The issue has been attracting a good deal of attention in the market since the recent action of directors in raising the annual dividend rate to $3. The company, which was formed several years ago to take over the South American and Australian properties of Swift & Co., is understood to be in excellent condition.

Earnings Outlook.

The report on the company's operations for the current fiscal year which corresponds to the calendar year will be issued early in February. Earnings are expected to compare favorably with 1929 when the company earned $3.70 a share.

Trading in the motor and accessory shares was dull and prices were irregular. Borg Warner showed an early flash of strength but sloughed off in the late dealings to finish with a fractional net gain.

Zenith Radio shares were quiet following the issuance of a statement by President Eugene F. McDonald Jr. on the company's financial position. The company corrects its previous statement published here giving $265,949 as the net deficit for the fiscal year ended Oct. 31. The deficit was for the final quarter of the year and not the entire twelve months period as was inadvertently stated in the company's earlier statement. Annual profit and loss statement has not been made public.

Move Up a Fraction.

Electric Household shares edged up a fraction yesterday. It is understood that the company will show net earnings around $3 a share on the present outstanding stock. Last year the company reported net profit equivalent to $4.46 a share on the shares outstanding. The firm recently declared its regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share.

Williams Oil-O-Matic Heating corporation reports net loss for the year ended Oct. 31 of $321,179 as compared with net profit of $4,658 in the preceding fiscal year. The Oct. 31 balance sheet shows current assets of $1,879,988 against $2,066,694 at the close of the previous year. The reduction was chiefly due to a decline in inventories.

American Type Founders.

Kindly give me the benefit of your investigation of American Type Founders company stock, both the preferred and common. What is the present return on each?—H. C. S.

American Type Founders company manufactures, casts, buys and sells type and printers' material and printing machinery of all kinds. It was incorporated in 1892 as a consolidation of several of the leading type foundries. Barnhart Bros. & Spindler, formerly controlled by stock ownership, was merged in 1928. National Paper and Type company is a subsidiary for the export sales business in the West Indies, Mexico and Central and South America.

Partly because of its diversification of products this company's earnings have been comparatively stable, although profits for the fiscal year ended Aug. 31, 1930, were lower than those for any year since 1924. This was due to the fact that the printing trade which it serves had not escaped the effect of the business setback. Sales were about a seventh below those of the preceding year. Selling and administrative expenses were not reduced in the same proportion, it was explained, because the company is maintaining a sufficient organization to be able to participate in the revival that it expects will follow the present business depression.

For the year ended Aug. 31, 1930, net sales were $16,683,388, against $19,682,205 the year before. Net profit was $1,142,197, which was 4.08 times dividend requirements on the 40,000 shares of 7 per cent preferred [par $100] and was equal to $9.58 per share on 90,000 common shares [par $100]. In the preceding year net profit was $1,764,946, equal to $16.11 per common share. These figures include results of National Paper and Type company.

As of Aug. 31, 1930, financial position appeared to be quite satisfactory. Current assets were $21,947,362, consisting mostly of notes receivable and inventories. Current liabilities were $3,489,482. This left a net working capital of $18,457,8[illegible]0, which compares with $18,870,906 a year before. Surplus was $5,631,115. The company's funded debt was reduced $444,100 during the year.

Preferred dividends have been regularly paid since this class of stock was first issued in 1902. From 1898 to 1923 the annual rate on the common was $4 per share. The present $8 annual rate has been in effect since 1926.

The preferred is considered rather high grade. The common deserves a fairly good rating.

Standard Brands, Inc.

What date of record covers the quarterly dividend of Standard Brands, Inc., due Jan. 2?—L. E. W.

The quarterly dividend of 30 cents per share on Standard Brands, Inc., common is payable Jan. 2, 1931, to stock of record of Dec. 3, 1930.

BUYING OF FLOUR

Buying of flour is of small volume, as inventory time keeps buyers out of the market, despite the fact that prices are extremely low. The Northwestern Miller says new bookings are 25 to 30 per cent of capacity in all the principal milling areas of the country. Orders average less than 1,000 barrel lots and represent immediate requirements. Prices of wheat are about unchanged for the week. The better grades of flour are 5 to 10c a barrel higher, due to a sharp decline in mill feed values with a drop of 5 to 15c a barrel in clears.

RADE SPIRIT IS EAL TEST OF AN'S PROGRESS

ood Will Dominant n This Christmas.

All leading commodity and financial markets of the world will be closed today in observance of Christmas.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Christmas eve is no time for a review of the routine news of business and industry. Today the world will be concerned with other things—the spirit of hearth and friends and of peace on earth, good will toward men. So let us consider the spirit of business, rather than the fact. And I can think of no better message than one broadcast by the American Appraisal company, running thus:

"More business never was of first importance, anyway. Business, after all, is only a means to an end—only one of the many factors contributing to human happiness and cultural development, the real objectives of any civilization. More important than business, the mechanism which merely controls production, distribution and material compensation, more important than this is the attitude of mind, the spiritual attributes motivating the acts of a people in time of stress.

Credit Side Looms Large.

"Do they give an affirmative answer to the question: 'Am I my brother's keeper?' That is the real test of human progress—all other things are incidental. At this Christmas season, when man's good will toward man is dominant, at this time of yearly balance—casting between good and evil, between loss and gain—the credit side of the ledger looms large in these three things:

"First, the willingness of those who have to share with those who have not. We offer the community chests of practically all cities, filled to overflowing this year as they never were before. And this in spite of the reduced income excuse behind which practically all contributors could have hidden.

"And we cite the innumerable other similar projects carried out on a hitherto undreamed scale. Temporarily baffled by the absence of a means whereby our economic machinery could be repaired immediately, en masse a generous people turn to the only means at their disposal to help their fellow beings in distress—charity. This they do with full realization of its unsatisfactory, inadequate and ephemeral character as a permanent solution of any problem.

"Second, there is the absence of ruthlessness and the presence of universal effort to devise ways and means for keeping the wolf from the business door with the least distress to the fewest number of people.

Desire to Correct Ills.

"Third, there is the desire and will to correct our economic ills. From the highest to the lowest, there is, as never before, a universal concentrated thought and effort to that end. And the actuating motive of it all is not individual financial gain, not self aggrandizement, not the betterment of any single class above another, but a deeper and more significant thing—the recognition of man's responsibility to his fellow man.

"Contrast this current state of mind and wholesome effort with that of other similar but even more serious times. Do this, and we have the real measure of our progress in a thing more lastingly worth while than any material gain. There is no red in the account of spiritual profit and loss. The balance sheet is heavy on the asset side."

N. Y. Cocoa Exchange Reinstates Members

New York, Dec. 23.—(AP)—The board of managers of the New York Cocoa Exchange today reinstated J. H. Redding, R. G. Morris, H. W. King, and United Africa company to full membership. Sept. 18 last these members were suspended for one year for violation of a rule which requires members to report stocks in warehouses. United Africa company is the American subsidiary of United Africa, Ltd., of London, one of the world's largest cocoa companies.

Old Crop Deliveries in Wheat Mart Show Gains

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Buying of old May wheat for the last two days by houses with northwestern connections, said to have been removing hedges against cash grain, combined with short covering by foreign and Winnipeg shorts, advanced the old crop months yesterday as much as 1⅜c over the finish of the previous day.

Prices were the highest since Nov. 3, old May selling at 82⅜c. Closing of spreads between the May and July, the latter being bought, caused a reaction from the best figures, but the old crop months were ¼@1c higher at the last, with December 77⅛c; March, 81@81⅛c, and May, 82@82⅛c.

July wheat held within a range of 1c, with spreading operations between that delivery and corn and between Chicago and Winnipeg, the latter being bought, furnishing a good part of the trade, and the close was ½c higher at 65¾@65⅞c.

No Pressure on Wheat.

According to people in a position to know there was no buying of wheat futures during the day by the Stabilization corporation, which has not raised its bids from the 81@81½c which have been in the pit for a number of days, nor did it sell any futures during the day. In some quarters it was felt that foreigners who have been long Liverpool and short Chicago May have been undoing spreads made some time ago. The proposition that the quota system for British purchases of wheat be put into effect has been brought up again in England, but whether there was any connection between this and the buying of Winnipeg July against sales at Chicago is not known, although Canada would be the chief beneficiary if it should be done.

There were reports of a fairly good foreign demand for Manitoba wheats during the day, but quantities were not given. Winnipeg closed ¼c higher for the day, while Liverpool finished ⅝@¾d lower, with the March around 62¼c. December was not quoted. The Liverpool market will be closed until Monday. Buenos Aires gained ¼c for the day.

Cables from abroad reported a letup in the pressure to sell Argentine wheat, and exports for the week were estimated at only 809,000 bu, due in part to the Christmas holidays. Weather, however, in Argentina was generally reported as clear and favorable for harvesting operations. New 63½ lb Rosafe wheat was quoted at 60⅜c, c. i. f. the United Kingdom, for January-February shipment.

Short Covering in Corn.

Trade in corn was not large, but sufficient short covering appeared to lift prices ⅞@1¼c over the finish of the previous day, the buying being mainly by locals who were evening up for the holiday, and the close was at net gains of ⅛@⅝c, with old December 64⅛c; March, 67¼@67⅜c; May, 69¼@69⅜c, and July, 71c.

Local bulls were inclined to take the buying side of corn at times, but are securing little assistance from the outside despite the belief that the movement will fall off sharply due to the prevailing large discount under wheat. There was an absence of the severe liquidation of the previous day which was a factor in carrying prices off to a new low for the season. Shipping demand for cash grain was reported as only fair, while the spot basis showed little change.

New Low on Argentine Oats.

A decline of ⅛c in the price of Argentine oats for February delivery at Buenos Aires, with the finish at 16⅝c, established a new low for that market, but as the United States is on a domestic basis as far as oats is concerned the weakness there had little effect. Holiday dullness prevailed in the Chicago market with some short covering in evening up for Christmas and the finish was ⅜@½c higher, with December 31½c, and May 33¼c.

Longs in December rye were somewhat disturbed by the delivery of 200,000 bu on future contracts, and with less aggressive buying than of late the nearby delivery closed 1⅛c lower at 41¾c, going to a discount of 1¾c under May. Deferred futures closed ⅜@⅝c higher for the day.

LOOKING AHEAD WITH BUSINESS

Despite the extended business slump in 1930, investors will not fare badly when interest and dividend payments are disbursed in the first month of the new year. A survey discloses that total interest and dividend disbursements to be made during January, 1931, will aggregate only slightly less than the record sum paid in the same month last year. The comparative totals follow: January, 1931, $1,121,433,811; January, 1930, $1,127,013,507.

The New York Stock exchange has approved the listing of 40,000 additional voting trust certificates of the Columbian Carbon company to provide for acquisition of the capital stock of the Frederick H. Levey company of New York, manufacturers of printing inks.

The entrance of General Electric into the washing machine and electric ironer field is announced by the merchandise department of that company.

Directors of the Illinois Bell Telephone company have approved expenditures of $1,795,772 for new plant and equipment in Chicago and $786,555 for Illinois outside of Chicago, making a total of $2,582,327 approved today. Expenditures approved in 1930 amounted to $23,550,899, against $37,730,750 in 1929.

Pronounced activity in apartments and hotels, public work and unclassified engineering projects raised the last week's value of heavy construction proposals announced throughout the country to $61,660,000 for all types of work except highways, Construction Daily reports. This compares with $38,885,000 in the preceding week and $119,275,000 in the corresponding week last year.

Production of electricity by the electric light and power industry of the United States continued its seasonal increase for the week ended Dec. 20, the National Electric Light association reports. The output, 1,756,588,000 kilowatt hours, was 5.4 per cent below the figure for the corresponding week last year, but was 3.2 per cent above the like period of 1928.

Electric power and light companies in the United States will spend approximately $700,000,000 for new construction, extension and betterment of facilities in 1931, according to an estimate by Paul S. Clapp, managing director of the National Electric Light association.

Pet Milk company has renewed its annual contract with the Granite City Steel company, amounting to approximately $1,000,000, for the coming year's supply of tin plate used in the manufacture of cans.

Clifford F. Messinger, vice president, has been elected president of the Chain Belt company, to succeed his brother, C. R. Messinger, who resigned to become president of the Oliver Farm Equipment company. C. R. Messinger was elected chairman of the board of Chain Belt.

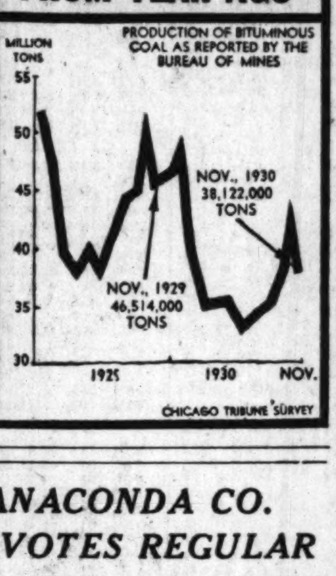
SOFT COAL OUTPUT IN NOVEMBER WAS OFF 17 PER CENT FROM YEAR AGO



ANACONDA CO. VOTES REGULAR 62½C DIVIDEND

Anaconda Answers Recent Rumors.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 24.—Contrary to reports in Wall street that directors of the Anaconda Copper Mining company would reduce the annual dividend, the board ordered the regular quarterly disbursement today or 62½ cents a share. Andes Copper, a subsidiary, voted its regular quarterly dividend.

A statement issued by directors indicated that Anaconda owns the lowest cost unit in the industry. Actual operating costs of producing electrolytic copper in October, the latest month for which detailed figures are available, was 7.18 cents a pound and after all charges, taxes and interest was 8.63 cents a pound.

Cites Position.

In answer to certain rumors concerning the operations of the company and prevailing pessimism, the board said:

"We believe it is not only proper but the duty of those charged with the responsibility of managing the investments of many thousands of shareholders to call your attention to the fact that all of the mining properties of your company developed, equipped and constituting as a unit the largest and most valuable copper properties and copper or reserves in the world, together with the many millions of dollars that were expended in their development and preparation for operation, are, at current quotations for the stock of your company, selling at less than nothing."

Briggs Manufacturing company resumed dividends on its stock after a lapse of three years. A quarterly of 37½ cents a share was declared, placing the stock on a $1.50 regular yearly basis. An extra dividend of 12½ cents a share was also announced. A dividend of 15 cents a share was voted on the stock of the Bank of Sicily Trust company, compared with 30 cents a share three months ago. Directors of Bancsicilia corporation also announced a cut in the dividend rate of the class A and B stock from 15 cents to 7½ cents.

Lackawanna Payment.

Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad declared only the regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 a share. No action was taken on the usual extra of $1 which has been paid yearly since 1924.

Elgin National Watch company took no action on its dividend, pending more complete report for the year. A year ago an extra dividend of $1 was declared, and three months ago a quarterly dividend of 50 cents was paid.

Finds Underestimation of Holiday Purchasing

BY SCRUTATOR.

It is pleasant to consider, in these days when an overplus of optimism has been replaced by an overcharge of pessimism, an industry that thrives on good will and the simple joys of seeing happiness increase and still makes a good showing for itself in spite of depression in apparently less volatile lines.

The toy business is doing, or has been doing until today, just that. It employed in the year 1929 an average of nearly 24,000 American workers in factories and turned out goods valued at more than a hundred million dollars if large and small manufacturers are added together. It is too early this year to state definitely how sales have held up, but indications are that the toy trade has suffered little. As the department of commerce states:

"Americans seem prone to insure the health and happiness of their youngsters, and even where definite sacrifices on the part of parents are involved the strained family budget will include expenditures for toys."

Fill Rush Orders.

There is some indication in the department's summary of the playthings industry that retailers have underestimated demand, and it is stated that early in December some factories were running at full capacity to fill supplementary rush orders for the Christmas trade. Stocks, kept low through conservative wholesale demand, are regarded as likely to be small at the first of the year.

Another learned deduction, made also by the department of commerce, is that outlets for sales are more numerous this year than ever before. Besides toy and department stores, drug and tobacco shops, gift stores, and roadside stands, there has been accession to the ranks in chain stores, hardware and stationery emporiums, newsdealers and sidewalk and pushcart vendors.

As the hundred million dollars mentioned above is a factory price, it may well be that the final payment for these goods, which include in general only those things that appeal directly to rather small children, will reach twice that amount. That is not a particularly important proportion in national income, but it probably represents $3 in every $1,000 of gross potential spending power.

Consumers Not Backward.

There is something appealing in the mere recitation of the fact that enough dolls are turned out annually to furnish every little girl in the country between the ages of 3 and 10, with $4 worth.

Christmas is the big stimulus for the toy industry, although its trade goes on all through the year. Other economic effects of the holiday season are worth mentioning. The spending in preparation for it has given employment a temporary upturn. In stores which played a conservative game the extra helpers hired may not have been as many as in former seasons, but in the postal service they have been more numerous. From 200,000 to 240,000 workers have been added to the mail delivery forces for an average of five days, and something like seven million dollars, it has been estimated, will go to pay them.

Here are certain evidences that spending habits are not so changeful as many suspect. The toy business apparently prospers, the mails on one day at least in Chicago have broken a volume record; the total volume of holiday mail, if it falls off at all, certinly has not slumped as much as the volume of business mail in the last six months. Consumers in a good many respects have not been so backward as those who supply them.

SMALL PRODUCERS OF OIL HEARTENED BY RELIEF PROSPECTS

Tulsa, Okla., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Independent oil producers of southeastern Kansas and northeastern Oklahoma, faced with loss of their market outlet when the Prairie Oil and Gas company's withdrawal as a purchaser is effective Jan. 1, were heartened today by moves of the petroleum industry and the federal government to their aid.

A conference of crude oil purchasers and representatives of pipe line carriers to arrange an outlet for the affected wells was called by E. B. Reeser, president of the American Petroleum institute, for Friday morning in Tulsa. Reeser took this action after conferring by telegraph with Secretary Wilbur of the interior department, who is chairman of the federal oil conservation board.

Several major oil companies notified Secretary Wilbur they would consider buying the production formerly taken by the Prairie company. Names of the companies were not made public.

Secretary Wilbur said the oil conservation board viewed the situation hopefully and was confident new markets would be found for the affected producers. The Prairie company, he said, had offered the use of its pipe line facilities for moving the oil.

Would Remove Proration.

Enid, Okla., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Removal of production proration was advanced today by H. H. Champlin, president of the Champlin Refining company, in a telegram to Secretary Wilbur as a remedy for the plight of the small independent oil producer. "This serious situation is the direct result of the price fixing program known as proration," Champlin said in his communication.

RESERVE BANK OF NEW YORK CUTS ACCEPTANCE RATE

New York, Dec. 24.—(AP)—The federal Reserve Bank of New York, which yesterday reduced its rediscount rate to 2 per cent, today cut its buying rates on bankers' acceptances. The new rate for maturities up to 120 days is 1¾ per cent compared with 1⅞ to 2⅛ previously. Long maturities were cut to 2 per cent, a drop of ¼ of 1 per cent.

Numerous dealers in bankers' bills also revised their rates downward by an eighth of 1 per cent. The American acceptance council, however, announced no change in its official rates and some dealers who had cut returned to the old levels.

LONDON, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Reduction of the discount rate by the federal reserve bank of the United States, which came as a surprise to financial London, caused renewed strength in giltedge securities on the stock exchange today, where general advances were recorded.

It was thought in some quarters that the Bank of England might lower its rate, but in view of the recent outward gold movement the directors decided to leave the rate unchanged.

ADVANCE RUMELY HOLDERS VOTE FOR NEW STOCK

La Porte, Ind., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Stockholders of the Advance Rumely company, meeting here today, voted in favor of a recapitalization plan whereby 277,500 shares of no par value common stock would be issued to replace the outstanding common and preferred stock. The vote was not announced.

Dissenters said they would carry their objections to a directors' meeting called for Jan. 24 to ratify today's action.

The new stock would be issued to present stockholders on the basis of two shares for each $100 par value share of preferred stock and one-fifth of a share for each share of the present common.

Plan Dawn to Dusk Air Service, Cuba to Panama

New York, Dec. 24.—(AP)—The opening on Dec. 30 of a dawn to dusk air passenger service from Cuba to Panama over the Caribbean sea, the longest over water project in the world, was announced today by J. T. Trippe, president of Pan-American Airways, Inc. The route has been approved by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, Mr. Trippe said, and will be used as a laboratory experiment aiming at the establishment of a trans-Atlantic air service. The line requires seven hours of overseas flying between Kingston, Jamaica, and Cristobal, Panama, a distance of 662 miles.

Will Organize New Bank to Replace Laramie State

Plans for organization of a new bank to replace the Laramie State bank were announced yesterday. At a meeting of stockholders and depositors of the bank, a committee was appointed to draw up plans for a new institution to assume the deposit liabilities of the old bank. The plan is sponsored by Joseph Lindquist, vice president of the Central Trust Company of Illinois.

CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE STOCKS

There was an upward swing in prices of stocks on the Board of Trade yesterday and although advances were moderate, they held to the end, with Electric Bond & Share and Standard of Indiana each showing a net gain of ⅝. Sundstrand announced the passing of the dividend which would have been payable Jan. 15.

WILL PURCHASE ASSETS OF SIX ILL. UTILITIES

The Illinois Public Utility company, formerly the Rockford Gas, Light and Coke company, was authorized by the Illinois commerce commission yesterday to purchase the properties and assets of six utilities operating in forty Illinois municipalities. The Rockford firm is subsidiary of Central Public Service Company of Chicago.

The consideration involved is the assumption and payment of $2,219,000 principal amount of the Rockford Electric company 5 per cent bonds due in 1939; $495,000 principal amount of the Freeport Gas company 5 per cent bonds due in 1932 and delivery to the following companies, which it is purchasing, of its first and refunding mortgage gold bonds and certificates representing its common capital stock without par value in the following amounts: to Rockford Electric company, $10,741,000 in bonds and 15,300 shares of stock; to Illinois Cities Gas and Electric company, $3,184,000 in bonds and 4,530 shares of stock; to Emden Water, Light and Power company, $22,000 in bonds and 35 shares of stock; to St. Joseph-Oakwood Electric company, $61,000 in bonds and 82 shares of stock; to the Rural Gas Supply company, $3,000 in bonds and 5 shares of stock; to United Fuel Transportation company, $31,000 in bonds and 44 shares of stock.

Among cities served by the companies are Rockford, Freeport, Lincoln, Atlanta, Delavan, Mount Pulaski, Emden, St. Joseph and Oakwood.

Propose Export Curb for Tin Producing Nations

Proposal for a two year projected tin export restriction affecting the principal producing countries of the world was announced yesterday by Sir William Peak, chairman of the executive committee of the Tin Producers association. The plan includes a new quota scheme now being considered by the governments of the Federated Malay States, Dutch East Indies, Bolivia and Nigeria, subject to assent of all governments concerned.

Grand Union Sales for 50 Weeks Are $34,828,958

Total store sales of the Grand Union company for the 50 weeks ended Dec. 13 were $34,828,958, an increase of 8.9 per cent over $31,979,951 for the like period last year. On Dec. 13 the company had $1,096,789 in cash in banks, against $621,310 on the same date last year.

Alton to Discontinue Two Trains to St. Louis

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Authority to discontinue operation of trains Nos. 3 and 12, between Springfield and St. Louis, was granted the Chicago and Alton railroad today by the Illinois commerce commission.

News and Gossip of Stock Marts

Complete Covering.

Several prominent floor professionals are reported to have completed covering operations in a line of leading utilities.

Remain Depressed.

It is the first time in a number of years that certain of the merchandising stocks and specialties which would normally benefit from the holiday trade have remained depressed.

Scattered Liquidation.

Current selling in Consolidated Gas of Baltimore is said to represent scattered liquidation by investment holders. The stock has been well absorbed on scale down, however, and the decline has been orderly in every respect.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 24.—Old Santa Claus remembered Wall street's needy along with other deserving millions of the land today.

Stock price boosts of from 1 to 3 points or more put happiness in a lot of well nigh empty boxes and sent the speculative community home in a merry mood to enjoy such feasts as larders buffeted by the market storms of the last year might be able to provide.

It was not the boisterous bull party that the exchange has seen on other Christmas eve trading days of pleasant memory, but as the old copy books had it, a half loaf is better than no loaf at all, and Wall street is thankful for any little helpful thing that comes its way these days.

Bank Rate Cut Helps.

The cut in the federal reserve bank rate here to 2 per cent was as big a factor as any in the cheerful sentiment prevailing. Declaration of the regular dividends due at this time by the Anaconda Copper Mining company and the Andes Copper company helped and then, too, there was some excellent buying, of course, by big financial interests determined to see the boys happy on what ought to be the happiest of all holidays.

Trading was on a more moderate scale as befitting the occasion, many of the brokers and their employés leaving the scene of battle early to complete their Christmas shopping. Volume was recorded at 1,582,338 shares.

Pivotal shares were in good demand throughout and most of them, including United States Steel, American Can, Westinghouse, General Electric, American Telephone and Telegraph, Bethlehem and Du Pont were up 1 to 2 points at the close. Western Union had one of its best days in weeks, shooting ahead for more than 3 points on a comparatively light turnover.

Auburn Up at Close.

Auburn Auto wiped out more than 3 points of its late loss, while such issues as Worthington Pump, R. H. Macy, Allied Chemical, Case Threshing Machine, Ingersoll-Rand, International Business Machine, Liggett and Myers preferred and Union Pacific were up anywhere from 2 to 4 points. Industrial Rayon out-did them all with a spurt of 9 points.

Here and there contrary issues moved against the trend. Detroit Edison appeared after an absence of a day or so and took a flop of more than 4 points on a single transaction. Gillette Safety Razor sold off to a new low of 21 off 2 points.

Buying of Anaconda followed declaration of the regular quarterly dividend, proof of the relief which many traders felt. Other copper shares firmed up with Anaconda. Bears on the coppers have been prone to overlook the real worth of the mines in their endeavor to discount poor earnings.

Rails Improve.

Some of the rails again came through with flying colors, considering. Besides Union Pacific there were Rock Island up more than 2 points and Delaware and Lackawanna and New Haven up a point or more each.

Some profit taking developed in the late trading and closing prices as a rule were not the best of the day. Evidence of hasty short covering by some traders was seen in the action of a few stocks in the late trading. Call money held unchanged at 2 per cent.

Chicago Curb Exchange Stocks

Mild pre-holiday selling was well absorbed on the Chicago curb yesterday. Oil and gas stocks were firm, with Standard of Kentucky taking the lead in an advance of more than a point. Corporate Trust shares, selling ex dividend, were fractionally lower, while International Rustless Iron was a minor fraction higher. Hammond Clock dipped a point.

BUYING DEMAND IMPARTS CHEERY TONE TO BONDS

New York, Dec. 24.—(AP)—A moderate buying demand exerted its influence to impart a cheery tone to the bond market today.

The price level was raised somewhat by inquiry for investment issues in the domestic list, where the advance more closely resembled the normal movement in times of easy money than the recent sharp rebound.

Investors, however, were not very active on the buying side and the turnover took a sharp drop such as traders usually expect on the eve of a holiday.

Another factor which exerted a stabilizing influence was the Christmas buying spirit in the share market which helped second grade rails and stock privilege issues that move in sympathy with stocks. Rails and other convertibles gained large fractions or more. There was a strong demand for Alleghany corporation bonds and the 5 per cent issues advanced 2 and 3 points each.

After some hesitancy in recent sessions railroad obligations resumed their advance, but at a much slower pace. Chesapeake and Ohio 4½s B, Chicago and North Western 3½s, Rock Island 4½s A, St. Paul 5s of 1975, Erie issues, International Great Northern 6s, Missouri Pacific 5s F, Frisco 4½s, Wabash 5½s were in the vanguard. Closing prices of this group represented an average gain of about a point, while other investment rails advanced fractionally.

Dwyer of Thomson & McKinnon, and William J. Zender have been admitted to membership on the board of trade.

SMALL GAINS IN COTTON

Trading in cotton was comparatively light yesterday. Prices opened higher and Chicago closed at noon with net gains of 7 to 9 points. Other markets continued on the regular time and finished well toward the top with gains of 9 to 15 points. Spots were up 5 points in New Orleans to 9.50c; New York, 9.85c; Galveston, 9.60c; Houston, 9.55c. Liverpool closed 5 to 6 points higher, with spot sales 2,000 bales.

Sales in 10 spot markets the last week aggregate 91,000 bales, said to be the smallest in years and compare with 102,000 bales the previous week and 144,000 bales last year. Prices follow:

FOSTER WHEELER STILL DICKERING FOR I. C. E. CORP.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 24.—Negotiations for acquisition of International Combustion Engineering corporation, now in receivership, by the Foster Wheeler corporation are continuing, but persons in close touch with both companies denied today that negotiations had reached a stage where a definite proposal for purchase of International Combustion had been submitted by Foster Wheeler.

Reorganization committees have been at work for weeks on details without reaching any concrete plan likely to be agreeable to both sides, it was said. And before any plan can become effective, it was pointed out, stockholders must approve. It is considered most probable in Wall street that Foster Wheeler will absorb International Combustion because it would find the business and plants of the latter a valuable adjunct in the manufacture of steam machinery.

Vote to Dissolve Stout D. & C. Air Lines Company

Stockholders of the Stout D. and C. Airlines company have voted to dissolve the company to liquidate the assets. A payment of about $3 in cash a share will be made shortly, and the remainder of the assets will be distributed to stockholders as soon as it is possible to conclude the company's affairs.

Report Big Slump in Value of Russian Ruble

SHANGHAI, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Chinese press dispatches from Harbin today stated the Russian ruble slumped to 3 cents gold from 9 cents as the result of the recent closing by soviet authorities of the Vladivostok branch of the Bank of Japan. The slump was said to have caused increased economic stringency in that area.

PROPOSE LOWER COMMISSIONS ON INACTIVE STOCKS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 24.—A proposal for lower commission rates on inactive stocks selling in the market at less than $10 a share was submitted to members of the New York stock exchange by the governing committee today.

The move was not construed as an attempt to sound out sentiment for lower commission rates all around, but as a special effort to adjust commission rates in inactive shares to the scale-down method used for rates on active shares, where the commission is fixed according to market value.

New rates on stocks selling between $5 and $10, which will become effective Jan. 7 if not disapproved by members, will be not less than 10 cents a share. For stocks between $1 and $5 the rates will be not less than 5 cents a share. Heretofore the rate on all inactive stocks below $100 has been 20 cents a share. Member to member rates will be reduced proportionately.

The inactive list has grown considerably. Furthermore, a deflation of stock prices in the last year or so has recruited the low priced ranks of the exchange list to about the largest number on record.

Receipts at Chicago for Friday are estimated at 6,000 cattle, 28,000 hogs and 11,000 sheep.

There was a wild scramble for hogs at uneven advances of 15@40c yesterday, lightest weights leading the way to the highest level in nearly three weeks. The extreme top scored a 35c jump at $8.50, while the general average came up 20c at $8.05, these prices comparing with a top of $8.00 and an average of $7.65 at the low time of the year less than two weeks ago.

Outsiders absorbed more than 50 per cent of the available supply after directs had been deducted from the receipts. Supplies were short at all points, which is seasonal directly before the holidays. Local packers held back at the start and obtained very small droves. Only 1,000 were left at the close.

January Hogs Bring $8.50.

Gains of 15@25c were scored in the hog futures market yesterday, with January light strongest at $8.50. Mediums for that month sold at $8.20. March contracts carried bids of $9.00 for the last half of that month and $8.40 for the first half. February hogs were bid $7.50@7.60.

Despite the meager Wednesday supply of 5,000 cattle on the market, prices continued to show a two way trend. Highly finished steers and yearlings were in good demand at strong prices, while weakness was uncovered in most sales of common and medium grades of steers.

Prime 1,026@1,030 lb yearlings equaled the season's top of $14.75, showing an advance of $1.00, compared with early in the month, and $4.00 advance, compared with the low point of the year last August. Cows and heifers yesterday were firm. Calves were higher. Stockers and feeders showed little change.

Lambs Hold Firm.

Fat lambs held firm on small receipts yesterday, choice shipping kinds going at $8.50, while packers took the bulk of good grades at $8.00@8.25. Extreme weights were comparatively slow. Aged sheep were firm and yearlings stronger.

Feeding lambs met good demand at strong prices. Only 8,000 sheep and lambs were unloaded at Chicago yesterday. This total compares with 30,000 the previous Wednesday. Arrivals the first three days this week show a decrease of nearly 25 per cent compared with the first three days of last week.

Today being a holiday, all live stock arriving at the yards will be counted in with Friday's receipts, which are estimated at 6,000 cattle, 28,000 hogs, and 11,000 sheep, against 3,216 cattle, 24,694 hogs, and 12,608 sheep the previous Friday, and 2,152 cattle, 24,072 hogs, and 15,348 sheep a year ago.

DECEMBER LARD HIGHER

Holders of December lard, who were credited with being large sellers on Tuesday when prices declined sharply, took hold of the market yesterday and bid it up from $9.02½ to $9.25, where it closed, a net gain of 20c. Other futures were unchanged to 5c lower. Leading longs are said to have paid for 4,000,000 lbs of cash lard so far this month and have not secured all the stock. There is said to be an accumulation of about 8,000,000 lbs since Oct. 1, which is considered small. Liverpool spot lard was 2s 3d lower and futures 3d to 6d lower. Hogs were up 25 to 35 cents, with western receipts small. Prices follow:

GRAIN CROPS IN ILLINOIS

Fall planted winter wheat acreage in Illinois is reduced 46,000 acres, or 2 per cent below that planted in the fall of 1929, according to a report issued jointly by the Illinois and federal departments of agriculture. The acreage sown is 2,249,000, compared with 2,295,000 acres sown in the fall of 1929 and a five year average of 2,557,000 acres. Condition of winter wheat on Dec. 1 is reported as 86, or the same as a year ago and a 10 year average of 85. Low wheat prices and option of wider diversification of field crops largely account for the substantial decrease in fall wheat in most of the central and northern areas.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—(AP)—COTTONSEED OIL was quiet during today's brief session, but developed a firmer tone toward the close because of the generally encouraging action of other markets. Old December advanced 30 points on a little local covering. Commission houses who sold the December bought July partly to complete undoing of a switch between lard and oil. Closing prices were net unchanged to 15 points higher. Sales were 1,800 brls, including 600 in old contracts and 1,200 brls in the new. There were three old December tenders issued. Prime crude, 6.00c; prime summer yellow, old, spot, 7.40c; December, 7.38c; new December, 7.00c; January, 7.20c; March, 7.31c; May, 7.45c, and July, 7.60c.

CASH·GRAIN NEWS

A fairly good export demand for Manitoba wheat was reported at the seaboard, despite the holiday feeling which generally prevailed in the trade both here and abroad. Quantities were not given, however.

Local handlers sold 3,000 bu wheat; 36,000 bu corn, and 20,000 bu oats to the domestic trade, with 25,000 bu corn and 125,000 bu oats sold to go to store. Deliveries on December contracts were 99,000 bu wheat; 95,000 bu corn; 89,000 bu oats, and 200,000 bu rye.

No change was made in the local cash wheat basis with No. 2 red 4@5c over; No. 1 hard, 1¼@2¼c over, and No. 1 northern, 1½@1¾c over the December.

Basis on choice cash corn in the sample market was slightly firmer, while other kinds were steady as compared with the December. New No. 3 yellow was December price to 1c under; No. 3 white, 2½@3c over, and No. 4 white, December price to 1½c over. Discounts on other grades as compared with December follow: No. 3 mixed, 1¼@2c; No. 4 mixed, 2@4c; yellow, 1½@2c; No. 5 mixed, 5@6c; yellow, 4@4½c; white, 3@5c.

Cash oats basis was steady with No. 2 white, ¾c over and No. 3 white ½c under December. No. 2 rye was December price to 9c over.

Official receipts of grain at Chicago Wednesday: Wheat, 15 cars; corn, 84 cars; oats, 30 cars; barley, 10 cars.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Dry goods markets were very quiet in the primary division today, with more firmness noted in cotton goods. Raw silk was dull. Burlaps showed little change for the day. Overcoatings for the fall season are now attracting more attention and predictions are made that prices will be down from 10 to 20 per cent compared with a year ago. Rayon production is being restricted further in some plants.

BAIN SYNDICATE BUYS BUILDING AT 63D-ALBANY

Property Purchased from William MacAskill.

BY AL CHASE.

For the first time in some weeks 63d street figures in the day's real estate market. Yesterday John McCrimmon purchased the southwest corner of West 63d street and Albany avenue, lot 41x125, from William MacAskill of the MacAskill company, builders, for an undisclosed consideration, subject to $46,900.

The two story building, erected several years ago, contains three stores, five apartments and three offices. Mr. McCrimmon represents a syndicate identified with the Bain interests. The new owners do not contemplate any changes in the property at present, it is understood. Later on they may add a story to the building.

Sells 24 Flat Building.

Mortimer J. Cussen has sold the twenty-four flat building at 5742-48 Drexel avenue, lot 96x130, to Clay Judson for an undisclosed price, subject to $81,000.

Anders J. Anderson purchased the residence at 174 Euclid avenue, lot 50x174, from Miss Grace M. Beaumont and others. The property adjoins the buyer's house on the south.

S. I. Frank has leased the store at 739 West 63d street to Freeman's, men's furnishings, of 1571 Milwaukee avenue. The term is seven years and the lease calls for $500 monthly. L. L. Sachs & Co. were the only brokers.

Buena Park Terrace Deal.

Jacob H. Frank purchased the six flat building at 937-39 Buena Park terrace, lot 50x100, from the estate of Andrew Thelander for an indicated $25,000, subject to $12,000.

The board of directors of the Chicago Public library yesterday transferred title to a parcel of property, 65x69, on the north side of 112th street, 118 feet west of Edbrooke avenue, to James H. Gately of the Peoples store of Pullman. This property was originally part of a site for a branch library, which later was erected at Indiana avenue and 110th street. It is now used as part of a free parking space provided for customers of the Peoples store.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was easier today, but the demand was not very aggressive and only a few small sales were reported, although there were further offerings at the quoted prices which were 3.22c for spots, with indications that less might have been accepted.

The more liberal offerings in the spot market and evening up in the present December delivery had a depressing effect in the futures market with final prices showing net losses of from 5 to 6 points. Sales were 50,800 tons. Closing prices follow:

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.	Prev. close.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

All grain, stock and cotton exchanges will be closed until Friday. Traders have evened up their commitments and are disposed to go slow on both sides of the market. Wheat traders are buying July in Winnipeg and selling Chicago, the spread being around 10c. There is also buying of Winnipeg May and selling Chicago. A few traders are buying July wheat and selling corn. Others are buying May rye and selling corn. These spreading operations furnish a liberal percentage of the total business. Traders say that for the present there is little disposition to operate except through spreads.

One of the oldest corn traders predicts that in the nex few weeks receipts will not be large enough to supply the demand. This makes him friendly to the long side, but the rank and file of the trade are going slow on the buying side and taking advantage of bulges to do their selling and are satisfied with small profits.

Broomhall reports winter crops in Europe generally favorable. French farmers are offering more freely but grades are inferior. Imports by this country are estimated at 58,000,000 bu, of which over 20,000,000 bu have already been imported against only 9,000,000 bu this time last year.

"Purchases of July wheat in Winnipeg and sales in Chicago are a feature of the wheat trading," said one of the largest operators. "Winnipeg should be bought as it looks as though prices in the two markets will come together. Our July must go to a world parity. Otherwise, there is little in the trade. There is taking off of hedges in old May by northwestern elevator interests, which has given it strength. Corn prices are low but aside from this there is nothing on which to buy it. Stocks have had their break but that does not mean there is to be a big advance right away."

BLAMES PRICE BASIS.

Failure of the boxboard industry to market its product on a price basis bearing some relation to cost of manufacture is blamed by E. Victor Donaldson, vice president of the Robert Gair company, for conditions which have prevailed in the industry for the last year or more. Recent figures of the American Paper and Pulp association show that boxboard for packages and containers accounts for almost half of the total paper production of the country.

ADDITIONAL BONUSES SWELL THE TOTAL OF CORPORATION GIFTS

Additional bonuses were announced yesterday to swell the already large total corporations have voted to place in the Christmas stockings of their employés.

Presents amounting to thousands of dollars were distributed personally by President C. W. Nash to all employés of the Nash Motors company in the Milwaukee, Racine, and Kenosha factories.

The Edwards & Deutsch Lithographing company, 2320 South Wabash avenue, has distributed the total sum of $15,000 as a Christmas bonus to its 300 employés in the Chicago and Milwaukee plants.

The J. C. Penney company distributed its annual Christmas bonus fund of $536,778 to 6,671 employés. It will be shared by all those in the employ of the company on Jan. 1 last.

Standard Statistics company is giving a Christmas bonus of one week's pay to all employés of one year's service or more, and lesser amounts to newer employés. The company has about 1,300 employés. The Celanese corporation of America, in accordance with its policy of past years has distributed a Christmas bonus to employés. Its plant is located at Cumberland, Md. The Beekman Paper and Card company is paying a bonus to all who have been in its service a year or more. Irving Trust company, New York, announced a cash distribution to its clerical staff of up to two weeks' salary, based on length of service.

The Foster Wheeler corporation announced the distribution of a bonus to employés at the same rate as in 1929. The total payment made was about $120,000. Texas Gulf Sulphur company announced the payment of a bonus of 1 per cent. Directors of the Peninsula National bank of Cedarhurst, N. Y., voted the usual 5 per cent annual bonus to all officers and employés.

The New York Curb exchange has distributed a Christmas bonus to employés amounting to 4 per cent of their yearly salaries.

INSTRUCTION.

Now All Tedious Study Has Been Taken Out of Language Mastery

Now you can learn any modern language without tedious study—with practically no effort. An utterly different Method has made a language course fascinating and thrilling. You learn naturally and easily just as you gradually acquired a knowledge of English when a child. For a half century this method has been known as the Berlitz Conversational Method—and taught only in Berlitz schools. It has become renowned as the method that has taken hard work out of mastery. You learn by interesting round table discussions—mere attendance in the classes and active participation in the conversation assure you mastery of any language.

Let us prove to you that the Berlitz Method is the simple, quick and enjoyable way to learn French, Spanish, German, Italian or English. Call, write or phone Harrison 0392 for free demonstration lesson.
